Seasons on the Pacific Coast Susan J. Tweit, 1999-01-01 This book is an intimate family album of the diverse animal and plant life inhabiting the 2 000 miles of coastline stretching from Vancouver British Columbia to Tijuana Mexico Combining personal observation and scientific insight celebrated nature writer Susan Tweit brings dozens of nature s most intriguing species to life Bat rays and banana slugs pickleweed and giant Pacific octopuses monarch butterflies and moon jellyfish are all captured in Tweit s thought provoking essays each vividly illustrated by artist James Noel Smith With recommendations on the best places and times for your own coastal explorations plus a list of further readings this book is both a distinctive field guide and lively companion for the armchair nature lover 100 full color illus Seasons on the Pacific Coast Susan J. Tweit, 1999 Presents essays in which the author profiles some of the many plants and animals that live along the Pacific Coast grouped by season Legacy, 2000 American Book Publishing Record, 1999 The Publishers Weekly, 1999 This Incomparable Land Thomas Jefferson Lyon, 2001 Nature writing is essential to awakening an ecological way of seeing The author covers the full spectrum of the genre including field guides travel and adventure stories and essays on solitary and back country living This new edition contains an updated bibliography of primary and secondary sources in nature writing through the end of the 20th century Naturalist Histories Jamon Alex Halvaksz, Joshua A. Bell, 2024-03-31 From early explorers to contemporary scientists naturalists have examined island flora and fauna of Oceania discovering new species carefully documenting the lives of animals and creating work central to the image of Oceania These discoveries and exploratory moves have had profound local and global impacts Often however local knowledge and communities are silent in the ethologies and histories that naturalists produce This volume analyzes the ways that Indigenous and non Indigenous naturalists have made island natures visible to a wider audience their relationship with the communities where they work as well as the unique natures that they explore and help make In staking out an area of naturalist histories each contributor addresses the relationship between naturalists and Oceanic communities how these histories shaped past and present place and practices the influence on conservations and development projects and the relationship between scientific and indigenous knowledge The essays span across colonial and postcolonial frames tracing shifts in biological practice from the eighteenth and nineteenth century focus on taxonomy and discovery to the twentieth century disciplinary restructurings and new collecting strategies and contemporary concerns with biodiversity loss conservation and knowledge formation The production of scientific knowledge is typically seen in ethnographic accounts as oppositional contrasting Indigenous and western local and global objective and subjective Such dichotomous views reinforce differences and further exaggerate inequities in the production of knowledge More dangerously value distinctions become embedded in discussions of Indigenous identity rights and sovereignty Contributors acknowledge that these dichotomous narratives have dominated the approach of the scientific community while informing how social scientists have understood the contributions of Pacific communities The essays offer a nuanced gradient as historical narratives of scientific investigation in dialogue with local histories and reveal greater levels of participation in the creation of knowledge The volume highlights how power infuses the scientific endeavor and offers a distinct and diverse view of knowledge production in Oceania Combining senior and emerging international scholars the collection will be of interest to researchers in the social sciences history as well as biology and allied fields      Books In Print 2004-2005 Ed Bowker Staff,Staff Bowker, Ed,2004

Copyright Office,1972      Annual Literary Index ,1911      Our Box Was Full Richard Daly,2007-10-01 For the Gitksan and Witsuwit'en peoples of northwest British Columbia the land is invested with meaning that goes beyond simple notions of property or sustenance. Considered both a food box and a storage box of history and wealth, the land plays a central role in their culture, survival, history, and identity. In Our Box Was Full, Richard Daly explores the centrality of this notion in the determination of Aboriginal rights, with particular reference to the landmark Delgamuukw case that occupied the British Columbia courts from 1987 to 1997. Called as an expert witness for the Aboriginal plaintiffs, Daly, an anthropologist, was charged with helping the Gitksan and Witsuwit'en to prove they existed and to make the case for Aboriginal self-governance. In order to do this, Daly spent several years documenting their institutions, system of production and exchange, dispute settlement, and proprietorship before Pax Britannica and colonization. His conclusions, which were originally rejected by Justice MacEachern, were that the plaintiffs continue to live out their rich and complex heritage today, albeit under very different conditions from those of either the pre-contact or fur trade eras. Our Box Was Full provides fascinating insight into the Delgamuukw case and sheds much needed light on the role of anthropology in Aboriginal rights litigation. A rich, compassionate, and original ethnographic study, the book situates the plaintiff peoples within the field of forager studies and emphasizes the kinship and gift exchange features that pervade these societies even today. It will find an eager audience among scholars and students of anthropology, Native studies, law, and history.
