posthumanist theory ecostudies and cultural studies      The Routledge Handbook of Shakespeare and Animals Karen Raber, Holly Dugan, 2020-08-10 Shakespeare's plays have a long and varied performance history. The relevance of his plays in literary studies cannot be understated but only recently have scholars been looking into the presence and significance of animals within the canon. Readers will quickly find without having to do extensive research that the plays are teeming with animals. In this Handbook Karen Raber and Holly Dugan delve deep into Shakespeare's World to illuminate and understand the use of animals in his span of work. This volume supplies a valuable resource offering a broad and thorough grounding in the many ways animal references and the appearance of actual animals in the plays can be interpreted. It provides a thorough overview, demonstrates rigorous original research, and charts new frontiers in the field through a broad variety of contributions from an international group of well-known and respected scholars.      Birds and Other Creatures in

Renaissance Literature Rebecca Ann Bach, 2017-08-07 This book explores how humans in the Renaissance lived with, attended to, and considered the minds, feelings, and sociality of other creatures. It examines how Renaissance literature and natural history display an unequal creaturely world: all creatures were categorized hierarchically. However, post-Cartesian readings of Shakespeare and other Renaissance literature have misunderstood Renaissance hierarchical creaturely relations, including human relations. Using critical animal studies work and new materialist theory, Bach argues that attending closely to creatures and objects in texts by Shakespeare and other writers exposes this unequal world and the use and abuse of creatures, including people. The book also adds significantly to animal studies by showing how central bird sociality and voices were to Renaissance human culture, with many believing that birds were superior to some humans in song, caregiving, and companionship. Bach shows how Descartes, a central figure in the transition to modern ideas about creatures, lived isolated from humans and other creatures and denied ancient knowledge about other creatures' minds, especially bird minds. As significantly, Bach shows how and why Descartes' ideas appealed to human grandiosity. Asking how Renaissance categorizations of creatures differ so much from modern classifications and why those modern classifications have shaped so much animal studies work, this book offers significant new readings of Shakespeare's and other Renaissance texts. It will contribute to a range of fields, including Renaissance literature history, animal studies, new materialism, and the environmental humanities.      Shakespeare's Auditory Worlds Walter W. Cannon, Laury Magnus, 2020-10-27 Inspired by the verbal exuberance and richness of all that can be heard by audiences both on and off Shakespeare's stages, Shakespeare's Auditory Worlds examines such special listening situations as overhearing, eavesdropping, and asides. It breaks new ground by exploring the complex relationships between sound and sight, dialogue and blocking, dialects and other languages, re-voicings, and finally nonverbal or metaverbal relationships inherent in noise, sounds, and music, staging interstices that have been largely overlooked in the critical literature on aurality in Shakespeare. Its contributors include David Bevington, Ralph Alan Cohen, Steve Urkowitz, and Leslie Dunn, and in a concluding Virtual Roundtable section, six seasoned repertory actors of the American Shakespeare Center as well who discuss their nuanced hearing experiences on stage Their hearing invites us to understand the multiple dimensions of Shakespeare s auditory world from the vantage point of actors who are listening in the round to what they hear from their onstage interlocutors from offstage and backstage cues from the musicians galleries and often most interestingly from their audiences
