Bronze and Stone Yunchiahn C. Sena, 2019-04-01 Despite China's long tradition of venerating the past as the ultimate source of cultural authority the discourse of antiquity prior to the Song period 960-1279 demonstrated little concern for ancient objects With a focus on physical artifacts of the past Song intellectuals began a new discipline the study of bronze and stone jinshixue that generated collections of items such as bronze vessels and bells stone steles and ink rubbings of inscriptions carved or cast on objects This first comprehensive study in English of the Song antiquarian movement and how it refashioned the distant past uses textual and material evidence to examine this development which has had long lasting influence on Chinese intellectual history and on the preservation of material objects In addition to collecting and comparing artifacts Song antiquaries compiled extensive catalogs that included drawings measurements and meticulous descriptions Their studies have contributed to the way history has been documented since the eleventh century and serve as a basis for archaeology of the modern period Bronze and Stone contextualizes the Song antiquarian movement among previous Chinese engagements with antiquity subsequent popular interest in ancient objects and world antiquarianism Metropolitan Museum Studies in Art, Science, and Technology; V1 ,2010 Eastern Zhou Ritual Bronzes from the Arthur M.
