Private Women, Public Lives Bárbara O. Reyes, 2010-01-01 Through the lives and works of three women in colonial California Bárbara O. Reyes examines frontier mission social spaces and their relationship to the creation of gendered colonial relations in the Californias She explores the function of missions and missionaries in establishing hierarchies of power and in defining gendered spaces and roles and looks at the ways that women challenged and attempted to modify the construction of those hierarchies roles and spaces Reyes studies the criminal inquiry and depositions of Barbara Gandiaga an Indian woman charged with conspiracy to murder two priests at her mission the divorce petition of Eulalia Callis the first lady of colonial California who petitioned for divorce from her adulterous governor husband and the testimonio of Eulalia Pérez the head housekeeper at Mission San Gabriel who acquired a position of significant authority and responsibility but whose work has not been properly recognized These three women's voices seem to reach across time and place calling for additional more complex analysis and questions Could women have agency in the colonial Californias Did the social structures or colonial processes in place in the frontier setting of New Spain confine or limit them in particular gendered ways And were gender dynamics in colonial California explicitly rigid as a result of the imperatives of the goals of colonization

Sharing the Stage Jane Slaughter, Melissa Katherine Bokovoy, 2002-08-23 This chronologically arranged reader designed as a supplement for the introductory western civilization course centers on gender issues and women's history by including biographies of one man and one woman per chapter Each chapter also includes background on the political and social climate of the period The reader addresses three major teaching problems often found in the Western Civilization course how to integrate women's history into traditional political and social narratives how to explain to students that gender operates historically and that gender norms and constructs apply to both men and women and how to capture and maintain student interest in distant events that seem to have little relevance to their lives
