Sharing Wisdom Mary Benet McKinney, 1998 Practices of Dialogue in the Roman Catholic Church Bradford E. Hinze, 2006-01-01 Talking Treason in Church Joseph P. Marren M.A., 2009-12 Draws from the practices of the first three centuries of the Catholic Church to provide a plan to restore the sacraments and governance of the Church to lay people s hands Marren contends that the present hierarchy of the Catholic Church have disqualified themselves as leaders of the Church by their total lack of communication with the laity their outrages against children their failure to admit guilt or do penance for those crimes and their arrogance in electing themselves to the posts they hold without consulting the laity Their writ has expired Instead of elections which tend to divide people into warring camps this book recommends consensus decision making which draws on ancient Christian tradition to discern the Church s leaders What s in this book Church history and theology from a lay viewpoint the first practical handbook for lay reform of the Church a return to early Church custom before priesthood began mass and the sacraments restored to lay celebrations lay people returned to full membership in the Church the groundwork laid for the popular election of bishops the mass made widely available in the Third World women brought to the table now as mass presiders celibacy eliminated as a requirement for mass presiders Vatican II s promises fulfilled for the people of God for lay people a long sought control over hierarchy and an indispensable toolkit for committed Catholics

I Have Called You Friends Kevin L. Thew Forrester, 2003-08-01 I do not call you servants any longer because the servant does not know what the master is doing but I have called you friends because I have made known to you everything that I have heard from my father John 15 15 These words of Jesus to his disciples teach that the mutuality of friendship is at the heart of a Christian community When baptized into that community we accept this mutuality and desire to serve others Kevin Thew Forrester says We can go so far as to say that to be a member of the community entails being a minister Baptism and ministry are two sides of the same coin This ministry is the responsibility of all baptized members of the church not merely the ordained Drawing on experiences of the people in the Episcopal Diocese of Northern Michigan the author challenges the whole church to seek this mutual ministry as the key to its future health and mission

Behavioral Law and Economics

Eyal Zamir, Doron Teichman, 2018 In the past few decades economic analysis of law has been challenged by a growing body of experimental and empirical studies that attest to prevalent and systematic deviations from the assumptions of economic rationality While the findings on bounded rationality and heuristics and biases were initially perceived as antithetical to standard economic and legal economic analysis over time they have been largely integrated into mainstream economic analysis including economic analysis of law Moreover the impact of behavioral insights has long since transcended purely economic analysis of law in recent years the behavioral movement has become one of the most influential developments in legal scholarship in general Behavioral Law and Economics offers a state of the art overview of the field Eyal Zamir and Doron Teichman survey the entire body of psychological research that lies at the basis of behavioral analysis of law and critically evaluate the core methodological questions of this area of research Following this the book discusses the fundamental normative questions stemming from the psychological findings on bounded rationality and explores their implications for setting the law's goals and designing the means to attain them The book then provides a systematic and critical examination of the contributions of behavioral studies to all major fields of law including property contracts consumer protection torts corporate securities regulation antitrust administrative constitutional international criminal and evidence law as well as to the behavior of key players in the legal arena litigants and judicial decision makers

Socio-Cognitive Dynamics in Strategic

Processes Maren S. D. Breuer, 2010 Process related considerations in strategy research and approaches to managerial cognition constitute two highly valuable yet still only limitedly integrated fields of interest in strategic management To fill this void the work starts from a cognitive perspective with the overall aim of examining the emergence of organisational strategies in strategic processes The central research object strategy is thereby conceptualized as shared strategic orientations among an organisation s key actors The existing gap between strategy process research and cognitive strategy research is closed on a conceptual level first by developing and specifying a socio cognitive perspective on strategic processes In recognition of the central importance of social interactions in this context the focus is then set on a specific core forum for strategic activities i e strategic decision making groups In this the nature and the role of social interactions for the developing strategy related knowledge structures is examined first conceptually leading to the development of a socio cognitive model on strategic decision making in groups followed by a qualitative empirical study in this kind of activity forum With its truly interdisciplinary nature the dissertation is of interest for strategy scholars as it enlarges the pool of knowledge in strategic management both content wise and also method olog ically with the innovative empirical research approach adopted For practitioners contributions are made by detailing the different dimensions of strategic processes and hence sensitizing to important factors for careful overall process designs At the micro level concrete suggestions are derived for composing and instructing strategy teams in such a way as to allow for efficient interchanges during the discussions themselves as well as to enable the effectiveness of these efforts beyond the specific group context and for the performance of the wider organisation

Nurmi, Sławomir Zadrozny, 2011-06-29 The word consensus has been frequently used for centuries perhaps millenia People have always deemed it important that decisions having a long lasting impact on groups countries or even civilizations be arrived at in a consensual manner Undoubtedly the complexity of modern world in all its social technological economic and cultural dimensions has created new environments where consensus is regarded desirable Consensus typically denotes a state of agreement prevailing in a group of agents human or software In the strict sense of the term consensus means that the agreement be unanimous Since such a state is often unreachable or even unnecessary other less demanding consensus related notions have been introduced These typically involve some graded partial or imprecise concepts The contributions to this volume define and utilize such less demanding and thus at the same time more general notions of consensus However consensus can also refer to a process whereby the state of agreement is reached Again this state can be something less stringent than a complete unanimity of all agents regarding all options The process may involve modifications resolutions and or mitigations of the views or inputs of individuals or software agents in order to achieve the state of consensus understood in the more general sense The consensus reaching processes call for some soft computational approaches methods and techniques notably fuzzy and possibilistic ones These are needed to accommodate the imprecision in the very meaning of some basic concepts utilized in the definition of consensus as a state of agreement and as a process whereby this state is to be reached The overall aim of this volume is to provide a comprehensive overview and analysis of the issues related to consensus states and consensual processes
