All the King's Men Harold Woodell,1993 This first book length study of All the King s Men argues that rather than being primarily about an American political demagogue the novel is fundamentally about a culture at war with itself the conservative Old South struggling against the progressive New South and that Burden not Stark is the central figure Employing a chapter by chapter approach Harold Woodell the study s author elucidates Stark s transformation from Cousin Willie to The Boss representing the values of the New South and traces Burden s personal growth as inheritor of Old South traditions and reconciler of the Old and the New Readers are given a thorough grounding in the myriad social changes affecting southern culture and politics during the early part of the twentieth century along with a helpful chronological listing of the narrative s events and an incisive afterword contrasting Stark with Burden Feminist Periodicals ,1993

Abney,2001-03-30 The works of Louisiana authors differ from the works of other Southern writers in significant ways Strong French Spanish Native American and African American traditions shaped Louisiana culture and Louisiana writers reflect that cultural diversity in their works So too historical and religious influences caused Louisiana to develop in a distinct way and these influences have similarly affected Louisiana writers The narrative styles employed by these writers generally differ from the styles of other Southern authors While contemporary Louisiana writers have contributed a substantial body of work to Southern literature their writings have not received adequate scholarly attention This book provides a critical introduction to Louisiana literature and gives special attention to how Louisiana literature and culture depart from the rest of the South The volume is the first collection of scholarly studies focusing on Louisiana writers from the 1930s to the present Drawing together discussions of 15 of Louisiana s current premier fiction writers the collection is organized into three broad sections The first examines Louisiana narratives and folk traditions the second influences of religious traditions on Louisiana writers including Protestantism Catholicism and Paganism and the third the construction of gender and race in Louisiana culture Included are discussions of such writers as Ernest J Gaines Anne Rice James Lee Burke Moira Crone John Dufresne Michael Lee West Rebecca Wells and Robert Olin Butler Tennessee Historical Quarterly ,1992 The Journal of East Tennessee History ,1991 Resounding Voices Gloria Boutte,2002 This book discusses education through the voices of individuals from various ethnic groups who are not usually heard or who have been silenced The uniqueness of this book lies in the diversity of authors from different ethnic groups family backgrounds disciplines and geographic locations The stories included in this book are based on interviews with people from the following groups African Americans Asian Americans biracial Americans European Americans Latino Americans and Native Americans A particular strength of the book is that the interviews were conducted by people from the same ethnic group as the interviewees Hence the authors of each chapter possess insights about the cultural groups that may not be readily apparent to others Each chapter explicitly provides educational implications and resources For educators or anyone interested in multicultural education Feminist Studies ,1991 Program Organization of American Historians,1989 George Washington's Beautiful Nelly Nelly Custis Lewis,1991 A life in letter penned by a well connected daughter of the early republic Documentary Editing ,1990 Women of Color and Southern Women: A Bibliography of Social Science Research, 1975-1988 Stella A.
