archaeological specimens allow a detailed reconstruction of the whole production cycle from procurement to discard The systematic association of unworked freshly worked and very worn shells suggests that the ornaments mostly served for the production or rejuvenation of embroidered garments Despite the richness of the assemblages and varied local resources the range of ornament types is surprisingly narrow and fundamentally stable through time The ornaments from Franchthi Cave therefore paint a different portrait of the European Upper Palaeolithic and Mesolithic one based on regional cultural continuity

Excavations at Sissi III Jan Driessen, 2012 Vol 2 Since 2007 the Belgian School at Athens has undertaken excavations on the Kefali or Buffo hill east of the village of Sissi on the north coast of Crete where a Minoan site was occupied approximately between 2500 and 1200 BC This volume is the follow up of an earlier one on the 2007 2008 excavations published as Aegis 1 and presents a preliminary report on the excavations carried out in 2009 and 2010 It concentrates on the different zones examined within the cemetery and settlement There are also reports on the Late Minoan pottery site conservation and environmental analysis as well as a paper on the use of GIS at Sissi
