New Black Politics:

From Protest to Politics Katherine Tate, 1994 The struggle for civil rights among black Americans has moved into the voting booth How such a shift came about and what it means is revealed in this timely reflection on black presidential politics in recent years Since 1984 largely as a result of Jesse Jackson's presidential bid blacks have been galvanized politically Drawing on a substantial national survey of black voters Katherine Tate shows how this process manifested itself at the polls in 1984 1988 and 1992 In an analysis of the black presidential vote by region income age and gender she is able to identify unique aspects of the black experience as they shape political behavior and to answer longstanding questions about that behavior Unique in its focus on the black electorate this study illuminates a little understood and tremendously significant aspect of American politics It will benefit those who wish to understand better the subtle interplay of race and politics at the voting booth and beyond

Black Politics Today Theodore J. Davis Jr., 2013-06-17 The late 1980s ushered in a new era of black politics the socioeconomic transition era Coming on the heels of the protest era and politics era the current stage is characterized by the emergence of a new black middle class that came of age after the Civil Rights struggle Although class still isn't a strong factor in the external politics of the black community it is increasingly a wedge issue in the community's internal politics Black politics today is increasingly less about the interest of the larger group and more about the interest of smaller subgroups within the community Theodore J. Davis Jr. argues that the greatest threat to the social and political cohesiveness of the so-called black community may be the rise of a socially and economically privileged group among the ranks of black America This rift has affected blacks' ability to organize effectively and influence politics Davis traces the changes in economic status public opinion political power and participation and leadership over three generations of black politics The result is an insightful analysis of black politics today

The New Black Politician Andra Gillespie, 2013-09

Looks at the 2002 Newark mayoral race between Cory Booker and the more established black incumbent Sharpe James which articulated how moderate black politicians are challenging civil rights veterans for power

Whose Black Politics? Andra Gillespie, 2010-01-29

The past decade has witnessed the emergence of a new vanguard in African American political leaders They came of age after Jim Crow segregation and the Civil Rights Movement they were raised in integrated neighborhoods and educated in majority white institutions and they are more likely to embrace deracialized campaign and governance strategies Members of this new cohort such as Cory Booker Artur Davis and Barack Obama have often publicly clashed with their elders either in campaigns or over points of policy And because this generation did not experience codified racism critics question whether these leaders will even serve the interests of African Americans once in office With these pressing concerns in mind this volume uses multiple case studies to probe the implications of the emergence of these new leaders for the future of African American politics Editor Andra Gillespie establishes a new theoretical framework based on the interaction of three factors black leaders crossover appeal their political ambition and connections to the black establishment She sheds new light on the changing dynamics not only of Black politics but of the current American political scene

The Expanding Boundaries of Black Politics Georgia A. Persons, 2017-09-04 This volume joins the preceding volumes in this distinguished series in presenting contemporary research by leading political scientists addressing topics of interest to those concerned with African American affairs It captures the expanding boundaries of black politics and the persistent interests of the black community at large The anchoring symposium The Expanding Boundaries of Black Politics presents the scholarship of a cadre of young black political scientists actively engaged in the critical tasks of moving forward the study of black politics Their concerns include expanding the boundaries of black politics along the lines of epistemology and methodology especially in regard to core issues and areas within this field In an introductory essay by Todd Shaw the work of these scholars is situated within the context of temporal shifts in scholarly emphases Overlapping issues and concerns across time as well as black political scholarship as defined in the field since its beginning are addressed The second part of this volume entitled Maximizing the Black Vote Recognizing the Limits of Electoral Politics concentrates on serious lingering social concerns These include the policy significance of black mayors affecting the concomitant impact of the black vote the boundaries being pushed concerning the conjunction of black theology and sexual identity a gendered analysis of familial policies and the deepening social and economic plight of young black males including felon disfranchisement The Expanding Boundaries of Black Politics carries forth the search for an understanding of the relationship between religion the black church and black political behavior cross racial group coalitions as concerns matters of immigration growing multiculturalism and the impact on black politics maximizing the impact of the black vote focusing on voting rights enforcement the black vote in presidential elections and the voice of the Congressional Black Caucus

Contours of African American Politics Georgia Persons, 2017-07-05 Contours of African American Politics chronicles the systematic study of African American politics and its subsequent recognition as an established field of scholarly inquiry African American politics emanates from the demands of the prolonged struggle for black liberation and empowerment Hence the study of African American politics has sought to track codify and analyze the struggle that has been mounted and to understand the historic and changing political status of African Americans within American society This two volume set presents a selection of scholarship on African American politics as it appeared in The National Political Science Review from its initial launch in 1989 to the spring of 2009 Represented are contributions from some of the leading scholars of African American politics who have helped to establish and sustain the field The volumes are organized around themes that derive from the unfolding real life drama of African American politics and its subsequent scholarly treatment The result is a window into the political efforts that meld the historically disparate strands of black political expressions into a reconstructed and strategically nimble electoral based mass mobilization necessary for optimizing the impact of the African American vote Sections in the volumes also chronicle the evolution of the National Conference of Black Political Scientists as a professional organization The two volumes illuminate a pivotal epoch in black political empowerment and provide a context for the future of black politics

Perspectives in Black Politics and Black Leadership John Davis, 2007 Perspectives in Black Politics and Black Leadership is an in depth examination of the central components of Black leadership in regards to three key issues the problems associated with Black leadership at the elite level high profile activists the debate concerning the significance of Black mayors and the changing role of the Congressional Black caucus CBC The examination also explores why these issues are in the view of some no longer relevant and require radical attention In addition this work analyzes Black voting behavior in the 2000 presidential election the continuing significance of Affirmative Action and attempts to dissolve it and offers critiques of current Black leaders The study concludes with an exploration of the declining influence of the CBC in the Black community and examines the CBC attempts to influence U S foreign policy in a conservative political culture

Black Politics After the Civil Rights Movement David Covin, 2009-04-22 This important study posits a new way of understanding how ordinary Black people used the 30 years following the civil rights movement to forge a new political reality for themselves and their country While following national trends closely it focuses particularly on the political environment of Sacramento California from 1970 to 2000 Having a racial profile that is remarkably similar to the nation s demographics as a whole Sacramento serves as a useful national proxy on the racial question Unlike most studies of Black politics over the era this text pays close attention to minor actors in the political process yet places them within the context of the larger political world We see for example the local effects of the War on Poverty the Harold Washington mayoral campaigns the Rainbow Coalition the Million Man March and the great increases in locally appointed and elected Black officials within the context of similar campaigns and movements nationwide

Contours of African American Politics, Volume III Georgia A. Persons, 2013-03-01 An anthology of articles drawn from prior issues of the National Political Science Review

Charting the Range of Black Politics Michael Mitchell, 2017-07-05 The election of 2008 brought onto the national stage complexities arising when the member of a minority group assumes power over national political institutions It also underlined the limits placed on that power by the double accountability such a figure faces The question posed in this volume of the NPSR is Might the ascendancy of President Obama lead to a deracialization of American politics or its opposite The contributions to this volume examine this question in a variety of ways David Wilson and Khalilah Brown Dean analyze black attitudes towards the candidates for the Democratic Party nomination in the presidential race of 2008 Lorenzo Morris asks how perceptions of race have defined expectations of the African American ambassadors to the United Nations Horace Bartilow and Kihong Eom use a game theoretic approach to examine US drug strategies in the Caribbean A works in progress section follows with personal reflections by Michael C Dawson and Andra Gillespe They relate how personal concerns and curiosities guide their research A book review section provides a discussion about works of interest to scholars studying black politics
