recognize background and incidental lesions while examining slides taken from laboratory animals in acute and chronic toxicity studies or while examining exotic species in a diagnostic laboratory. It gives clear descriptions and illustrations of the majority of background lesions likely to be encountered. Many of the lesions covered are unusual and can be mistaken for treatment related findings in preclinical toxicity studies. The Atlas has been prepared with contributions from experienced toxicological pathologists who are specialists in each of the laboratory animal species covered and who have published extensively in these areas. Over 600 high definition top quality color photographs of background lesions found in rats, mice, dogs, minipigs, non human primates, hamsters, guinea pigs and rabbits. A separate chapter on lesions in the reproductive systems of all laboratory animals written by Dr Dianne Creasy, a world expert on testicular lesions in laboratory animals. A chapter on common artifacts that may be observed in histological glass slides. Extensive references to each lesion described. Aging lesions encountered in all laboratory animal species, particularly in rats and mice which are used for carcinogenicity studies.

The Pathology of Laboratory Animals William Eugene Ribelin, John Roger McCoy, 1965      Pathology for Toxicologists Elizabeth McInnes, 2017-05-01

Non pathologists such as toxicologists and study personnel can find it difficult to understand the data they receive from pathologists. Toxicological pathologists write long detailed and highly technical reports. Study personnel are under daily pressure to decide whether lesions described in pathology reports are treatment related and thus important to the pharmaceutical company or whether the lesions are background changes and thus of little significance. Written by experienced toxicological pathologists, Pathology for Toxicologists: Principles and Practices of Laboratory Animal Pathology for Study Personnel serves to bridge the gap in the understanding of pathology data, enabling non pathologists to more easily comprehend pathology reports, better integrate pathology data into final study reports, and ask pathologists relevant questions about the test compound. This succinct, fully referenced, full colour book is suitable for toxicologists at all stages of their training or career who want to know more about the pathology encountered in laboratory animals used in safety studies. Key features include important chapters on spontaneous and target organ lesions in rats, mice, non human primates, mini pigs, rabbits and beagle dogs, as well as information on general pathology, macroscopic target organ lesions, ancillary pathology techniques, haematology, biochemistry and adversity. Pathology for Toxicologists: Principles and Practices of Laboratory Animal Pathology for Study Personnel includes colour diagrams explaining how lesions are caused by either external compounds or spontaneously. The anatomic variations and background lesions of laboratory animals. Advice on sampling tissues, necropsy, ancillary pathology techniques and recording data. A chapter on the haematology and biochemistry of laboratory animals. Full colour photographs of common macroscopic lesions encountered in laboratory animals. A comprehensive glossary.
