Pathways for Peace United Nations, World Bank, 2018-04-13 Violent conflicts today are complex and increasingly protracted involving more nonstate groups and regional and international actors It is estimated that by 2030 the horizon set by the international community for achieving the Sustainable Development Goals more than half of the world's poor will be living in countries affected by high levels of violence Information and communication technology population movements and climate change are also creating shared risks that must be managed at both national and international levels Pathways for Peace is a joint United Nations World Bank Group study that originates from the conviction that the international community's attention must urgently be refocused on prevention A scaled up system for preventive action would save between US 5 billion and US 70 billion per year which could be reinvested in reducing poverty and improving the well being of populations The study aims to improve the way in which domestic development processes interact with security diplomacy mediation and other efforts to prevent conflicts from becoming violent It stresses the importance of grievances related to exclusion from access to power natural resources security and justice for example that are at the root of many violent conflicts today Based on a review of cases in which prevention has been successful the study makes recommendations for countries facing emerging risks of violent conflict as well as for the international community Development policies and programs must be a core part of preventive efforts when risks are high or building up inclusive solutions through dialogue adapted macroeconomic policies institutional reform and redistributive policies are required Inclusion is key and preventive action needs to adopt a more people centered approach that includes mainstreaming citizen engagement Enhancing the participation of women and youth in decision making is fundamental to sustaining peace as well as long term policies to address the aspirations of women and young people Building Pathways to Peace Nadine Ansorg, Sabine Kurtenbach, 2023-11-29 SSR is a key element of the transitions out of war aiming at the establishment of accountable and legitimate institutions able to prevent and sanction the use of violence While recognizing the need to include local actors donor policies still focus mostly on the state as a provider of security Second generation SSR has emphasized the need to include local communities and recognize the existence of non state actors in the provision of security and justice However recognition is not enough This Element promotes a radical re think of SSR in the context of conflict and war Guiding question for the considerations is how can security sector reform be set up and implemented to contribute to constructive and inclusive state society relations and build the path to long lasting peace This Element argues that a focus on functional equivalents minorities gender and human rights is key for the design implementation and success of SSR interventions make a positive contribution to peace an objective shared across the United Nations system and increasingly a requirement of our partners and donors The focus of this how to guide is to elaborate the pathways through which the Organization can optimize deliberate contributions to peace and inform the design adaptation and impact measurement of its interventions In recent years FAO has developed corporate tools guidance and training on conflict sensitivity and context analysis Operationalizing pathways to sustaining peace in the context of Agenda 2030 A how to guide is another crucial document in that series developed through collaboration between the FAO Conflict and Peace Unit and Interpeace in the context of a wider partnership between the two Organizations Following broad consultation across the Organization this document provides operational guidance and inspiration to FAO project and technical staff on how our work can enhance FAO s contributions to peace and how to measure those contributions It is part of an ongoing process which complements FAO s efforts through its Strategic Framework to support the transformation to more efficient inclusive resilient and sustainable agrifood systems for better production better nutrition better environment and better life leaving no one behind

Kashmir Sumantra Bose,2009-07-01 In 2002 nuclear armed adversaries India and Pakistan mobilized for war over the long disputed territory of Kashmir sparking panic around the world Drawing on extensive firsthand experience in the contested region Sumantra Bose reveals how the conflict became a grave threat to South Asia and the world and suggests feasible steps toward peace Though the roots of conflict lie in the end of empire and the partition of the subcontinent in 1947 the contemporary problem owes more to subsequent developments particularly the severe authoritarianism of Indian rule Deadly dimensions have been added since 1990 with the rise of a Kashmiri independence movement and guerrilla war waged by Islamist groups Bose explains the intricate mix of regional ethnic linguistic religious and caste communities that populate Kashmir and emphasizes that a viable framework for peace must take into account the sovereignty concerns of India and Pakistan and popular aspirations to self rule as well as conflicting loyalties within Kashmir He calls for the establishment of inclusive representative political structures in Indian Kashmir and cross border links between Indian and Pakistani Kashmir Bose also invokes compelling comparisons to other cases particularly the peace building framework in Northern Ireland which offers important lessons for a settlement in Kashmir The Western world has not fully appreciated the desperate tragedy of Kashmir between 1989 and 2003 violence claimed up to 80 000 lives Informative balanced and accessible Kashmir is vital reading for anyone wishing to understand one of the world s most dangerous conflicts
