Pathways To Translation Pedagogy And Process:

Pathways to Translation Donald C. Kiraly, 1995 This work examines the state of the art of translator training in Germany and Europe It presents a survey of new approaches in translation teaching and a discussion of the contributions second language education theory and practice can make to translation education

Using CAT Tools in Freelance Translation Paulina Pietrzak, Michal Kornacki, 2020-11-30 This book explores the impact of applying computer assisted CAT tools in freelance translation toward better understanding translators strategies preferences and challenges in using new technologies and identifying areas of enhancement in translator training The volume offers a brief overview of the latest developments in technology in translation examining such issues as the effect on the translation process and the dynamics of the translator technology interaction Drawing on data from a study with active translators in Poland Pietrzak and Kornacki examine the underlying factors underpinning translators lack of engagement with these tools including such issues as prevailing pre conceptions around technology and limited knowledge hindering the most efficacious use of these resources and the subsequent impact on translator identity Taken together the book brings together these insights to help pinpoint freelance translators needs more effectively and adapt training programmes accordingly The volume will be of interest to scholars in translation studies with an interest in process and technology as well as active translators

Telecollaboration in Translator Education Mariusz Marczak, 2023-11-24 This volume provides a comprehensive treatment of telecollaboration as a learning mode in translator education surveying the state of the art exploring its distinctive challenges and affordances and outlining future directions in both theoretical and practical terms The book begins with an overview of telecollaboration and its rise in prominence in today s globalised world one in which developments in technology have significantly impacted practices in professional translation and translator education The volume highlights basic design types and assessment modes and their use in achieving competence based learning outcomes drawing on examples from seven telecollaboration projects In incorporating real life research Marczak draws readers attention to not only the practical workings of different types of projects and their attendant challenges but also the opportunities for educators to diversify and optimize their instructional practices and for budding translators to build competence and better secure their future employability in the language service provision industry This volume will be a valuable resource for students and researchers in translation studies particularly those with an interest in translator education and translation technology as well as stakeholders in the professional translation industry

Quality Assurance and Assessment Practices in Translation and Interpreting Huertas-Barros, Elsa, Vandepitte, Sonia, Iglesias-Fernández, Emilia, 2018-07-27 The development of translation memories and machine translation have led to new quality assurance practices where translators have found themselves checking not only human translation but also machine translation outputs As a result the notions of revision and interpersonal competences have gained great importance with international projects recognizing them as high priorities

Quality Assurance and Assessment Practices in Translation and Interpreting is a critical scholarly resource that serves as a guide to overcoming the challenge of how translation and interpreting results should be observed given feedback and assessed. It also informs the design of new ways of evaluating students as well as suggesting criteria for professional quality control. Featuring coverage on a broad range of topics such as quality management translation tests and competency based assessments, this book is geared towards translators, interpreters, linguists, academicians, translation and interpreting researchers, and students seeking current research on the new ways of evaluating students as well as suggesting criteria for professional quality control in translation. Translation and Interpreting as Social Interaction Claire Y. Shih, Caiwen Wang, 2024-01-11. Adopting the tripartite theory of social psychology as its theoretical framework, this book advocates that the three components of social interaction affect behaviour and cognition underpin the daily activities of translators and interpreters. In particular, it argues that the affect or emotion of translators and interpreters should not be overlooked or treated as a separate entity but as a crucial link between their mental process, cognition, and physical process behaviour. This central theme of the intertwining nature of the affect, behaviour, and cognition of translators and interpreters is examined theoretically, empirically, and methodologically, with contributions from around the world featuring literary translation, translator training, and interpreters' practice. It is a timely contribution to the field of Translation Process Research where affect is increasingly recognised as playing a key role in translation and interpreting phenomena. ICO-ASCNITY 2019 Hidayatul Ihsan, Eka Siskawati, Amy Fontanella, Afifah, Sariani, Robbi Rahim, 2020-04-08. As an annual event, 1st International Conference on Applied Science, Business, and Humanity (ICo ASCNITY 2019) brought the agenda to assembly together researchers, academics, experts, and professionals in examining selected themes by applying multidisciplinary approaches. In 2019, this event held on 1-2 November at Grand Inna Hotel and Convention Padang, Indonesia. The conference from any kind of stakeholders related with Accounting, Business, Art, and Tourism, Language, and Education was refereed before being accepted for publication. The double-blind peer-reviewed process was used in the paper selection. Translation and Web Localization Miguel A. Jimenez-Crespo, 2013-11-07. Web localization is a cognitive, textual, communicative, and technological process by which interactive web texts are modified to be used by audiences in different sociolinguistic contexts. Translation and Web Localization provides an in-depth and comprehensive overview into this emerging field of study. The book covers the key areas and main theoretical and practical approaches of the subject rather than a step-by-step practical guide. Topics covered include the often-controversial definition of localization, how the process develops, what constitutes a text in this process, digital genre theory and its implications, and how to conduct research or training in this field. The book concludes with a look into the dynamic nature of web localization and the forces such as crowdsourcing that are reshaping web localization and translation as we know it. In light of the deep changes brought by the Internet, Translation and Web Localization is an indispensable book for researchers, postgraduate, and advanced undergraduate students of translation studies as well as practitioners and researchers in related fields such as computational linguistics applied linguistics Internet linguistics digital genre theory and web development

Professional Interpreting Programmes in China Yinying Wang, 2023-07-07 Wang presents the status quo of curriculum development in professional interpreting programmes in China and points to the urgency to devise a curriculum improvement model to ensure the relevance of such programmes against a changing reality She covers the European experience in interpreter education that China can learn from and discusses opportunities arising from previous examples for China to iterate upon in the context of the broader and more diverse professional reality The book puts the nature of professional interpreters and in turn interpreting programmes under the concurring lens of curriculum studies and the sociology of professions Wang identifies eight stakeholders which call for changes in interpreting programmes and six categories of competence or sub competence which see a progression from undergraduate to graduate and lifelong learning stage These serve as curriculum goals and encapsulate the recommended changes in institutional curricula The conceptualised model is then described with a case study on Chinese English return training to show its applicability and relevance in interpreting programmes on the ground Offering insight for academics practitioners and trainee interpreting students and of relevance to a broader interpreting community looking to set up or reform interpreting curricula Wang's book will help ensure curriculum improvement that is theoretically sound and practically viable

Restructuring Translation Education Feng Yue, Youlan Tao, Huashu Wang, Qiliang Cui, Bin Xu, 2019-01-14 This book offers data based insights into the problems of translation education and their causes in the context of localization and globalization in the era of big data By examining language services around the globe illustrating applications of big data technology and their future development and describing crowdsourcing and online collaborative translations speech to speech translation and cloud based translation it makes readers aware of the important changes taking place in the professional translation market and consequently recognize the insufficiency of translation education and the need for it to be restructured accordingly Furthermore the book includes data based analyses of translation education problems such as teaching philosophy curriculum design and faculty development of both undergraduate and postgraduate education in China More importantly it proposes solutions that have already been successful in experiments in a number of universities in China for other institutions of higher education to imitate in restructuring translation education The discussion is of interest for current and future translation policy makers translation educators translators and learners

Non-professional

Interpreting and Translation Rachele Antonini, Letizia Cirillo, Linda Rossato, Ira Torresi, 2017-06-15 In the light of recent waves of mass immigration non professional interpreting and translation NPIT is spreading at an unprecedented pace While as recently as the late 20th century much of the field was a largely uncharted territory the current proportions of NPIT suggest that the phenomenon is here to stay and needs to be studied with all due academic rigour This collection of essays is the first systematic attempt at looking at NPIT in a scholarly and at the same time pragmatic way Offering multiple methods and perspectives and covering the diverse contexts in which NPIT takes place the volume is a welcome turn in an all too often polarized debate in both academic and practitioner circles Education, Translation and Global Market Pressures Wan Hu, 2018-03-07 This book investigates the market driven transformation of the higher education sector and the response given by the translation programmes in the UK and China two vastly different social and economic contexts It provides an in depth look at six selected case studies critically analysing how social economic and political factors have affect curriculum designs in different translation programmes This innovative volume contributes to the development of knowledge in an important area of translation studies and opens a new way for providing both cross national and cross disciplinary perspectives in analysing the curricula of translation programmes Translation Competence Carla Quinci, 2023-02-23 This book offers a systematic and comprehensive account of translation competence TC reflecting on its different models and conceptualisations throughout its development and outlining future directions for both theory and practice The volume charts the evolution of TC in line with related findings in empirical product and process oriented research In critically examining the different models of translation competence Quinci explores a wide range of connected issues of ongoing debate within Translation Studies including translation quality the revision process and translator self assessment The second section of the book investigates these themes at work in the design conduct and results of an award winning longitudinal research project which analysed the acquisition and development of TC in a sample group of translation trainees and professional translators The volume builds on the outcomes of this project to offer practical activities for translator education informed by theory and empirical research toward encouraging continued reflection and new directions for translation competence research and practice This book will be of interest to scholars in Translation Studies as well as translation trainees and active translation professionals A History of Modern Translation Knowledge Lieven D'hulst, Yves Gambier, 2018-06-28 A History of Modern Translation Knowledge is the first attempt to map the coming into being of modern thinking about translation It breaks with the well established tradition of viewing history through the reductive lens of schools theories turns or interdisciplinary exchanges It also challenges the artificial distinction between past and present and it sustains that the latter s historical roots go back far beyond the 1970s Translation Studies is but part of a broader set of discourses on translation we propose to label translation knowledge This book concentrates on seven processes that make up the history of modern translation knowledge generating mapping internationalising historicising analysing disseminating and applying knowledge All processes are covered by 58 domain experts and allocated over 55 chapters with cross references This book is indispensable reading for advanced Master and PhD students in Translation Studies who need background information on the history of their field with relevance for Europe the Americas and large parts of Asia It will also interest students and scholars working in cultural and social history Doing Applied Linguistics Daniel Perrin, Ulla Kleinberger, 2017-06-12 How can students be empowered to communicate professionally as translators journalists and CCOs How can professionals engaged in crucial language interactions do the same pilots nurses lawyers and many others This volume gives answers to these questions providing insights into critical situations and good practices from many years of research and teaching in a practice oriented research driven School of Applied Linguistics A Project-Based Approach to Translation
