Patterns Rod Serling, 1957 Rod Serling was the television industry's original show runner His screenplay Patterns aired on January 12 1955 launched his career Within hours Jack Gould of the New York Times wrote Nothing in months has excited the television industry as much as the Kraft Television Theatre's production of Patterns an original play by Rod Serling The enthusiasm is justified In writing acting and direction Patterns will stand as one of the high points in the TV medium's evolution An overnight success Serling immediately found himself in the company of the Golden Age of Television's elite writers including Paddy Chayefsky Reginald Rose and Gore Vidal and the recipient of his first of six Emmy awards Serling would later write a semi autobiographical screenplay The Velvet Alley describing such a meteoric rise to fame and success Patterns the book was Serling's first foray into the world of publishing What is invaluable is not merely the actual screenplays but Serling's comments on each and his twenty five plus page dissertation on writing for television during its Golden Age What is different about this new edition is Mark Dawidziak's insightful forward explaining the relevance of Patterns to Serling's prolific body of work Given Serling's dissertation and Dawidziak's analysis it is worth repeating that this is without question REQUIRED READING for anyone involved in the creation of intelligent television Patterns Rod Serling, 1958

American Literature in Transition, 1950-1960 Steven Belletto, 2017-12-28 American Literature in Transition 1950-1960 explores the under recognized complexity and variety of 1950s American literature by focalizing discussions through a series of keywords and formats that encourage readers to draw fresh connections among literary form and concepts institutions cultures and social phenomena important to the decade The first section draws attention to the relationship between literature and cultural phenomena that were new to the 1950s The second section demonstrates the range of subject positions important in the 1950s but still not visible in many accounts of the era The third section explores key literary schools or movements associated with the decade and explains how and why they developed at this particular cultural moment The final section focuses on specific forms or genres that grew to special prominence during the 1950s Taken together the chapters in the four sections not only encourage us to rethink familiar texts and figures in new lights but they also propose new archives for future study of the decade The Warsaw Ghetto in American Art and Culture

Enemies as well as accounts in the American Jewish Yearbook and the New York Times the art of Samuel Bak and Arthur Szyk and the poetry of Yala Korwin and Charles Reznikoff In probing these works Baskind pursues key questions of Jewish identity What links artistic representations of the ghetto to the Jewish diaspora How is art politicized or depoliticized Why have Americans made such a strong cultural claim on the uprising Vibrantly illustrated and vividly told The Warsaw Ghetto in American Art and Culture shows the importance of the ghetto as a site of memory and creative struggle and reveals how this seminal event and locale served as a staging ground for the forging of Jewish American identity Television and Social

Electronic Drama David Manning White, 1971 Filmed Television Drama, 1952-1958 William Hawes, 2002-01-09 This work examines the change from live to filmed television dramas during the period 1952-1958 and the characteristics and programs that are most associated with filmed television drama. Along with many technical changes that had to be made in the industry in order to convert live television to filmed television came an interesting social one. The American society in general was developing a growing interest in the lives of ordinary people and television moved with them offering more programs that concentrated on the middle and lower classes. Because of the inherent qualities of filming television began to feature more documentary-like realism began to broaden its interpretation of traditional romantic escapism to include more outer space and supernatural science fiction began to better fulfill materialistic desires through well designed enjoyable commercials and began to offer the best dramas and most popular personalities often leading viewers to greater self appreciation and richer lives. This work focuses on the important anthology programs and specials that were on the air from 1952 to 1958 such as Kraft Television Theatre, Philco Television Playhouse and The Hallmark Hall of Fame filmed serials like Colgate Theatre, Amos n Andy and I Love Lucy and the challenges of converting from live to filmed television drama Gold

Dust on the Air Molly A. Schneider, 2024-07-16 How mid century television anthologies reflected and shaped US values and identities One Nation Under Television J. Fred MacDonald, 1994 Since commercial television emerged in the late 1940s it has been on the cutting edge of social political economic and cultural developments in the United States and the world. This book is a provocative history of how the major networks schemed to gain ratings and power and to keep the FCC at bay. The result was the creation of limited and rigidly standardized television offerings. Professor MacDonald examines how the introduction of cable TV in the 1980s has weakened the power of the networks and reshaped the industry A Critical History of Television's The Twilight Zone, 1959-1964 Don Presnell, Marty McGee, 2015-07-11 Rod Serling's anthology series The Twilight Zone is recognized as one of the greatest television shows of all time. Always intelligent and thought provoking the show used the conventions of several genres to explore such universal qualities as violence, fear, prejudice, love, death and individual identity. This comprehensive reference work gives a complete history of the show from its beginning in 1959 to its final 1964 season with critical commentaries, incisive analyses and the most complete listing of casts and credits ever published. Biographical profiles of writers and contributors are included followed by detailed appendices, bibliography and index Catalog of the Theatre and Drama Collections: Theatre Collection: books on the theatre. 9 v New York Public Library. Baughman, 2007-03-26 Outstanding Academic Title for 2007 Choice Magazine. Ever wonder how American television came to be the much derided advertising heavy home to reality programming formulaic situation comedies, hapless men and buxom scantily clad women? Could it have been something different focusing instead on culture, theater and performing arts? In Same Time Same Station historian James L. Baughman
