The Visual Language of Wabanaki Art Jeanne Morningstar Kent, 2014-07-29 For centuries the people of the Wabanaki Nations of the northeastern United States and eastern Canada used signs symbols and designs to communicate with one another As Native Peoples became victims of European expansion the Wabanaki were separated by war the search for work and intermarriage as well as by hiding their identities to avoid persecution In this diaspora their visual language helped them keep their teachings and culture alive Their designs have evolved over time and taken on different meanings and they are now used on objects that are considered art While their beauty is undeniable these pieces cannot be fully appreciated without understanding their context Tribal member Jeanne Morningstar Kent sheds light on this language from the work of ancient Wabanaki to today s artists like David Moses Bridges Donna Sanipass and Jennifer Neptune once again using their medium to connect with their fellow Wabanaki

Genealogical Patterns Carl Schuster, Edmund Carpenter, 2015-09 1 Vol 1 Book 1 Genealogical Patterns Form Meaning

The first book of this three volume twelve book series Genealogical Patterns Form Meaning introduces the work of anthropologist Carl Schuster and his comparative method as edited and written by Edmund Carpenter This first book looks into the arts of women primarily weaving as passed down from mother to daughter from the Paleolithic period to modern times and examines the embedded iconographies of pattern making through Schuster s comparative method The book outlines the premise of seeing decorative patterns in their multiple forms as descriptions of tribal genealogy Includes a preface general introduction and biographies of Schuster by Carpenter and by art historian Schuyler Camman The Explorations of Edmund Snow Carpenter Richard Cavell,2024-10-15 Edmund Snow Carpenter 1922 2011 shaped by an early encounter with Marshall McLuhan was a renegade anthropologist who would plumb the connection between anthropology and media studies over a thoroughly unconventional career As co conspirators in the founding of the legendary journal Explorations 1953 59 Carpenter and McLuhan established the groundwork for media studies After ten years teaching anthropology at the University of Toronto hosting radio and television shows on the CBC and doing major research in the Arctic Carpenter left Toronto and became an itinerant anthropologist He took up a position in Papua New Guinea where he countered anthropological practice by handing his camera to the Papuans Carpenter s marriage to the artist and heiress Adelaide de Menil made him a truly independent scholar With the support of the Rock Foundation founded by de Menil he collected ethnographical art curated exhibitions and edited the materials for a twelve volume study of social symbolism based on the massive archives created by Carl Schuster Richard Cavell shows Carpenter austere generous and unpredictable to also be unwavering in working throughout his career within the framework established by Explorations The anthropological impetus for media studies has largely been forgotten This study restores that memory tracing Carpenter s work in media and in anthropology over a lifetime of cultural achievements and intellectual convolutions Exploring the Legacy of the 1948 Arnhem Land Expedition Martin Thomas,Margo Neale,2011-06-01 In 1948 a collection of scientists anthropologists and photographers journeyed to northern Australia for a seven month tour of research and discovery now regarded as the last of the big expeditions The American Australian Scientific Expedition to Arnhem Land was front page news at the time but 60 years later it is virtually unknown This lapse into obscurity was due partly to the fraught politics of Australian anthropology and animus towards its leader the Adelaide based writer photographer Charles Mountford Promoted as a friendly mission that would foster good relations between Australia and its most powerful wartime ally the Expedition was sponsored by National Geographic the Smithsonian Institution and the Australian Government An unlikely cocktail of science diplomacy and popular geography the Arnhem Land Expedition put the Aboriginal cultures of the vast Arnhem Land reserve on an international stage Publisher s website Continuum Encyclopedia of Native Art Hope B. Werness,2003-01-01 This lavishly produced voulume is the first reference work to focus on the symbols meaning and significance of art in native or indigenous cultures Lines That Connect Graeme Were,2010-08-31 Building on historical and contemporary literature in anthropology and art theory Lines That Connect treats pattern as a material form of thought that provokes connections between disparate things through processes of resemblance memory and transformation Pattern is constantly in a state of motion as it traverses spatial and temporal divides and acts as an endless source for innovation through its inherent transformability Graeme Were argues that it is the ideas carried by pattern's relational capacity that allows Pacific islanders to express their links to land genealogy and resources in the most economic ways In doing so his book is a timely and unique contribution to the analysis of pattern and decorative art in the Pacific amid growing debates in anthropology and art history This striking and original study brings together objects and photographs historical literature and contemporary ethnographic case studies to explore pattern in its logical workings It presents the first ever analysis of the well known patterned shell valuable called kapkap as revealed in New Ireland mortuary feasts Innovative research in the study of Christianity and the Baha'i faithful in the region shows how pattern has been appropriated in new religious communities Were argues that pattern is used in various guises in performances church architecture and funerary images to contrasting effect He explores the conditions under which pattern facilitates a connecting of old and new ideas and how missionary processes are implicated in this flow He then considers the mechanisms under which pattern is internalized paying particular attention to its embeddedness in spatial and numerical thinking Finally he examines how pattern carries new materials and technologies which in turn provide new resources for sustaining old beliefs Drawing on a multitude of fields anthropology art history Pacific museum and religious studies education ethnomathematics Lines That Connect raises key questions about the capacity of pattern across the Pacific to bind and sustain ideas about place body and genealogy in the most logical of ways

Heraldry for the Dead Katina T. Lillios, 2008-09-01 In the late 1800s archaeologists began discovering engraved stone plaques in Neolithic 3500-2500 BC graves in southern Portugal and Spain About the size of one's palm usually made of slate and incised with geometric or more rarely zoomorphic and anthropomorphic designs these plaques have mystified generations of researchers What do their symbols signify How were the plaques produced Were they worn during an individual's lifetime or only made at the time of their death Why indeed were the plaques made at all Employing an eclectic range of theoretical and methodological lenses Katina Lillios surveys all that is currently known about the Iberian engraved stone plaques and advances her own carefully considered hypotheses about their manufacture and meanings After analyzing data on the plaques workmanship and distribution she builds a convincing case that the majority of the Iberian plaques were genealogical records of the dead that served as durable markers of regional and local group identities Such records she argues would have contributed toward legitimating and perpetuating an ideology of inherited social difference in the Iberian Late Neolithic

Etruria and Anatolia Elizabeth P. Baughan, Lisa C. Pieraccini, 2023-03-09 Striking similarities in Etruscan and Anatolian material culture reveal various forms of contact and exchange between these regions on opposite sides of the Mediterranean This is the first comprehensive investigation of these connections approaching both cultures as agents of artistic exchange rather than as side characters in a Greek focused narrative It synthesizes a wide range of material evidence from c 800 300 BCE from tomb architecture and furniture to painted vases terracotta reliefs and magic amulets By identifying shared practices common visual language and movements of objects and artisans from both east to west and west to east it illuminates many varied threads of the interconnected ancient Mediterranean fabric Rather than trying to account for the similarities with any one overarching theory this volume presents multiple simultaneous modes and implications of connectivity while also recognizing the distinct local identities expressed through shared artistic and cultural traditions

Cunliffe, Wendy Davies, Colin Renfrew, 2002 Twenty six leading scholars from around the world have come together to celebrate the strengths the energies and the sheer intellectual excitement of their discipline They unashamedly proclaim that over the last hundred years archaeology has transformed itself from a genteel antiquarian pursuit

Hilton, Benjamin M. Auerbach, Libby W. Cowgill, 2014-07-24 Sixty years after their discovery this is the first anthropological synthesis of the ancient Arctic foragers of Point Hope Alaska Focality and Extension in Kinship Warren Shapiro, 2018-04-20 When we think of kinship we usually think of ties between people based upon blood or marriage But we also have other ways nowadays called performative of establishing kinship or hinting at kinship many Christians have in addition to parents godparents members of a trade union may refer to each other as brother or sister Similar performative ties are even more common among the so called tribal peoples that anthropologists have studied and especially in recent years they have received considerable attention from scholars in this field However these scholars tend to argue that performative kinship in the Tribal World is semantically on a par with kinship established through procreation and marriage Harold Scheffler long time Professor of Anthropology at Yale University has argued by contrast that procreative ties are everywhere semantically central i e focal that they provide bases from which other kinship ties are extended Most of the essays in this volume illustrate the validity of Scheffler's position though two contest it and one exemplifies the soundness of a similarly universalistic stance in gender behaviour. This book will be of interest to everyone concerned with current controversy in kinship and gender studies as well as those who would know what anthropologists have to say about human nature. The study of kinship once ruled the discipline of anthropology and Hal Scheffler was one of its magisterial figures. This volume reminds us why Scheffler's powerful analyses of kinship systems often conflicted with the views of his more relativist contemporaries. He cut through the fog of theory to emphasise the human essentials namely the importance of the social bonds rooted in motherhood and fatherhood. Anthropology in its decades long retreat from the serious study of kinship has lost a great deal. This volume points the way to a restoration. Peter Wood National Association of Scholars

She provides practical and simple instructions for developing and experimenting with pattern using grids, symmetry, rotation and repeats. Jean draws inspiration from patterns around the world from West African Kente Cloth to the Gee's Bend quilts of Alabama. There are instructions on creating bands and borders, strip patchwork and strip piecing plus an extended study of Banjara stitched textiles. Natural patterns from plants and flowers also offer exciting opportunities for stitch and Jean explores important design emblems such as the Tree of Life alongside other stitched flower forms. Finally the ornamentation of the body provides many unique and striking ways to interpret the human form in stitch. Pattern is everywhere and can be used to stunning effect taking your textile art to the next level. This fascinating and exciting guide brings together inspiration, design methods and stitching techniques to help you develop truly great textile art.
