Pavlov's Typology J. A. Gray, H. J. Eysenck, 2017-01-31 International Series of Monographs on Experimental Psychology Volume 1 Pavlov's Typology presents problems of personality and the theoretical framework done in the U S S R Part 1 of this book deals with the development of Pavlov's theory of personality on experiments conducted on dogs and the problems encountered in studies of higher nervous activity in man and animals These tests include investigation into the capacity of cortical cells of the test subject the speed of movement and termination of the nervous process and the speed of formation of positive and negative conditioned connections Part 2 is the application of Pavlov's theory of types to individual differences in human beings This part emphasizes that when using data from Pavlov's studies of animals typological differences are considered when applied in man that experimental methods are to be improved and that operations definitions and concepts can change Part 3 concerns experiments from Pavlov's laboratory on the dimension of strength of the nervous systems in human beings This strength is shown from the working capacity of nerve cells as 1 the strength of excitation the nerve cell can endure when a stimulus acts on it in a single time and 2 the time that the nerve cell can endure prolonged stimulus or at shorter but frequent intervals The conclusions observed in strong subjects and weak subjects are then analyzed This book can be appreciated by psychiatrists psychologists behavioral scientists and students and professors in psychology Ivan Pavlov Daniel Philip Todes, 2014 This is a definitive deeply researched biography of Russian physiologist Ivan Pavlov 1849 1936 and is the first scholarly biography to be published in any language The book is Todes's magnum opus which he has been working on for some twenty years Todes makes use of a wealth of archival material to portray Pavlov's personality life times and scientific work Combining personal documents with a close reading of scientific texts Todes fundamentally reinterprets Pavlov's famous research on conditional reflexes Contrary to legend Pavlov was not a behaviorist a misimpression captured in the false iconic image of his training a dog to salivate to the sound of a bell rather he sought to explain not simply external behaviors but the emotional and intellectual life of animals and humans This iconic objectivist was actually a profoundly anthropomorphic thinker whose science was suffused with his own experiences values and subjective interpretations This book is also a traditional life and times biography that weaves Pavlov into some 100 years of Russian history particularly that of its intelligentsia from the emancipation of the serfs to Stalin's time Pavlov was born to a family of priests in provincial Ryazan before the serfs were emancipated made his home and professional success in the glittering capital of St Petersburg in late imperial Russia suffered the cataclysmic destruction of his world during the Bolshevik seizure of power and civil war of 1917 1921 rebuilt his life in his 70s as a prosperous dissident during the Leninist 1920s and flourished professionally as never before in 1929 1936 during the industrialization revolution and terror of Stalin Todes's story of this powerful personality and extraordinary man is based upon interviews with surviving coworkers and family members along with never before analyzed taped interviews from the 1960s and 1970s examination of hundreds of scientific
