Europe, Empire, and Spectacle in Nineteenth-Century British Music Julian Rushton,2017-07-05 This volume illuminates musical connections between Britain and the continent of Europe and Britain and its Empire The seldom recognized vitality of musical theatre and other kinds of spectacle in Britain itself and also the flourishing concert life of the period indicates a means of defining tradition and identity within nineteenth century British musical culture The objective of the volume has been to add significantly to the growing literature on these topics It benefits not only from new archival research but also from fresh musicological approaches and interdisciplinary methods that recognize the integral role of music within a wider culture including religious political and social life The essays are by scholars from the USA Britain and Europe covering a wide range of experience Topics range from the reception of Bach Mozart and Liszt in England a musical response to Shakespeare Italian opera in Dublin exoticism gender black musical identities British musicians in Canada and uses of music in various theatrical genres and state ceremony and in articulating the politics of the Union and Empire New Peterson Magazine

 Cattle Club, 1929 Music Theatre in Britain Michael Hall, 2015 The author a former BBC radio producer conducted interviews with many leading British composers of the day and his account provides for a unique insight into this often overlooked genre Based on Michael Hall's many interviews with leading British composers of the genre this book looks at the heyday of the British Music Theatre in the 1960s and 70s a period when the author as a BBC radio producer was actively involved with the contemporary music scene Music Theatre a composite of music singing dancing and speaking distinct from traditional opera and ballet has its roots in works by Monteverdi Schoenberg Satie Stravinsky Weill Hindemith and Eisler but flourished anew in the 1960s in America Britain and Europe Hall's book presents an account of the context for the activity of Birtwistle Goehr and Maxwell Davies it uncovers details of little known early works by other major figures such as Cardew and Tavener and it recognises the highly distinctive contributions of composers whose works are less well known Music Theatre in Britain also throws new light upon the reaction of British composers to the economic and social upheavals of the Sixties offering a distinct and valuable contribution to our understanding of the relationship of the post war musical avant garde to social movements and ideology Music Theatre in Britain will be of interest to all those working in the field of late twentieth century British music to students of composition and to composers performers and producers of Music Theatre
