Retrieving The Human A Christian Anthropology Theology And Liberation Ser:

Retrieving the Human Joseph Comblin,1990-01-01 Retrieving the Human Jose Comblin,2003-08-26 All roads in the church lead to humankind Pope John Paul II wrote in his first encyclical But what is it to be a human being And what vision does Christian theology offer for being and becoming human In the past theology has taken the role of the dominant ideology in a society claiming to present a complete vision of humankind and its place in creation Now Comblin argues we need to reestablish the primacy of the biblical message and tradition being lived today The Bible espouses a non idealized non individualized but realistic and communitarian view of what it means to be human This can be called the humanity of the two thirds world those whose humanity does not figure in the ideology of the privileged few As Comblin writes The privileged forget their bodies Those who have never been truly hungry do not understand that a human being is first and foremost a being who needs to eat Today it is the poor who live through their bodies and theology makes an option for the poor A new model of theology is emerging from Christian communities growing up all over the globe And yet it is an old model too that finds and takes much from the communities of the first Christians Retrieving the Human explores this new yet old vision examining questions of the new person and personhood soul and body humankind in relation to space and time the person in relation to science technology and work humanity before God It is among the poor particularly in the base communities that Comblin looks for models of being truly human today Subject Guide to Books in Print ,2001 Forthcoming Books Rose Army,2003 Religious Books and Serials in Print 1978-1979 R.R. International Books in Print ,1986 Limping But Blessed Ton van Prooijen,2004 For Jurgen Moltmann theological anthropology must be liberating It should take a stand against dehumanizing images and concepts of human life and point out ways to true humanity In his view a theologian can develop such a liberating anthropology only if he speaks explicitly from the perspective of God s kingdom as conceived in the Bible and the Christian tradition and if he speaks to and in his context as one who experiences contemporary sufferings and hopes But how This book analyzes the development of Moltmann s theology in the light of this quest for a liberating view on human life It examines the anthropological concerns in the different stages of his theological enterprise his post war Trummertheologie the loose theological threads of the 1950s his theology of hope and promise in the 1960s his theology of the cross human rights and play in the 1970s and his ecological and charismatic theology of the 1980s and 1990s Moltmann's theological thinking has taken place consciously at the intersection of personal experiences historical challenges biblical testimony and the fundamentals of the Christian tradition Analyzing his quest for a liberating anthropology in a chronological way this study therefore gives an impression of the frictions and fault lines of Christian anthropology in the context of the societal changes during the second half of the twentieth century A concluding chapter discusses some of the problems accentuated in the course of this analysis and evaluates some valuable leads for a Christian anthropology today TON VAN PROOIJEN submitted this study as his doctoral dissertation at the Free University of Amsterdam His current research interests include anthropology and politics particularly the concept of humankind in Christian Democratic political thought The Free Man: Studies in Christian Anthropology Ronald Gregor Smith, 1969 The author describes his theme as the clash between traditional Christian ways of thinking and understanding faith and modern secular styles His aim is to understand the reality of our secular world His general approach as the sub title indicates is anthropological that is by way of phenomena of man's own experience And the general intention of the work is to analyse the way in which the life of Christian faith is truly free Within this framework the author has provided a series of studies with particular attention such themes as post Renaissance Man Humanism and the Church in Deadlock Transcendence and the Crisis about God The main argument of an earlier book The New Man long out of print has been presented in three chapters of this work and other more recent essays and papers have been drawn upon In this way both the background to the author's well known book Secular Christianity and his developing ideas on the same themes have been provided This book should be a help in clarifying some of the exciting issues raised by the new theology of which Professor Gregor Smith is one of the leading exponents in Britain Publisher A Christian Understanding of Human Nature Michael B. Raschko, 2010 This is a fascinating study of Christian Anthropology grace and sin and is intended for the educated lay person This is a challenging and engaging study for all who want to explore these themes more deeply

Christological Anthropology in Historical Perspective Marc Cortez, 2016-02-02 What does it mean to be truly human In Christological Anthropology in Historical Perspective Marc Cortez looks at the ways several key theologians Gregory of Nyssa Julian of Norwich Martin Luther Friedrich Schleiermacher Karl Barth John Zizioulas and James Cone have used Christology to inform their understanding of the human person Based on this historical study he concludes with a constructive proposal for how Christology and anthropology should work together to inform our view of what it means to be human Many theologians begin their discussion of the human person by claiming that in some way Jesus Christ reveals what it means to be truly human but this often has little impact in the material presentation of their anthropology Although modern theologians often fail to reflect robustly on the relationship between Christology and anthropology this was not the case throughout church history In this book examine seven key theologians and discover their important contributions to theological anthropology Rediscovering the Human Andrea M. Ng'weshemi, 2002 By assuming that the data for understanding the human being and human nature is given and therefore remains the same at all times and in all places Christian theological anthropology has barely quenched the quests for meaning and fulfillment that have constantly emerged in every age Modern western theologians such as Barth and Rahner have sought to tie theological anthropology with Christology with the conviction that Jesus Christ is paradigmatic of what humanity should be
