Revolution and Chinese Foreign Policy Peter Van Ness,1973 Revolution and Chinese Foreign Policy Peter Van Ness,1970 Revolution and War Stephen M. Walt,2013-08-09 Revolution within a state almost invariably leads to intense security competition between states and often to war In Revolution and War Stephen M Walt explains why this is so and suggests how the risk of conflicts brought on by domestic upheaval might be reduced in the future In doing so he explores one of the basic questions of international relations What are the connections between domestic politics and foreign policy Walt begins by exposing the flaws in existing theories about the relationship between revolution and war Drawing on the theoretical literature about revolution and the realist perspective on international politics he argues that revolutions cause wars by altering the balance of threats between a revolutionary state and its rivals Each state sees the other as both a looming danger and a vulnerable adversary making war seem both necessary and attractive Walt traces the dynamics of this argument through detailed studies of the French Russian and Iranian revolutions and through briefer treatment of the American Mexican Turkish and Chinese cases He also considers the experience of the Soviet Union whose revolutionary transformation led to conflict within the former Soviet empire but not with the outside world An important refinement of realist approaches to international politics this book unites the study of revolution with scholarship on the causes of war

Revolution and World Politics Fred Halliday,1999-08-23 The relation of revolutions to international relations is central to modern history Revolutions have as much as war or nationalism shaped the development of world politics Equally revolutions have been in cause ideology and consequence international events By putting the international politics of revolution centre stage Fred Halliday s book makes a major contribution to the understanding of both revolution and world politics China, East Asia and the European Union ,2016-11-21 In China East Asia and the European Union specialist authors from both Europe and Asia reflect on the dynamic relationship between the three actors from an International Relations perspective The book is a testimony to China s seemingly unstoppable rise both in the East Asian region and in the relationship with the EU and its member states The authors investigate why the economic links between the European Union and East Asia have become so firmly established while in comparison the political bond has remained underdeveloped They conclude that the crises the EU is currently facing seriously affect its manoeuvring space vis a vis China and its neighbours both economically and politically Contributors are Ding Chun Neil Duggan Enrico Fardella Frank Gaenssmantel Tjalling Halbertsma Daniel R Hammond Jan van der Harst Elisa H rhager Jing Jing Werner Pascha Sanne Kamerling David Kerr Silja Keva Christopher K Lamont Li Junyang Feng Liu Maaïke Okano Heijmans Nadya Stoyanova and

Herman Voogsgeerd Communications and National Integration in Communist China Alan P. L. Liu, 1971 China and the First Vietnam War, 1947-54 Laura M. Calkins, 2013-04-12 This book charts the development of the First Vietnam War the war between the Vietnamese Communists the Viet Minh and the French colonial power considering especially how relations between the Viet Minh and the Chinese Communists had a profound impact on the course of the war It shows how the Chinese provided finance training and weapons to the Viet Minh but how differences about strategy emerged particularly when China became involved in the Korean War and the subsequent peace negotiations when the need to placate the United States and to prevent US military involvement in Southeast Asia became a key concern for the Chinese The book shows how the Viet Minh strategy of all out war in the north and limited guerrilla warfare in the south developed from this situation and how the war then unfolded China's Role in World Affairs Michael B. Yahuda, 2025-03-03 First published in 1978 China's Role in World Affairs analyses China's foreign policy within a framework suggested by the conceptualisation of the outside world and China's place within it as articulated and acted upon by China's leaders Divided into two parts the book discusses China's role as an ally of the Soviet Union and as an independent socialist system following the Sino Soviet rupture The main operational concepts and themes of China's foreign policy are also traced Of particular interest is the conflict between those leaders in the early 1960s who still believed that China should be linked with the Soviet Union and those who like Mao thought of China's role as an independent socialist country leading an internationalist united front against the superpowers Examination is made of the origin and place of the Third World states in China's global perspectives This is the first book to trace the development of the Chinese theory of the three worlds and to show its importance for the Chinese conception of a new world order China's Foreign Aid and Investment Diplomacy, Volume I John F. Copper, 2016-04-29 Today by many accounts China is the world's foremost purveyor of foreign aid and foreign investment to developing countries This is the product of China's miracle economic growth over a period of more than three decades together with China's drive to become a major player in world affairs and accomplish this through economic rather than military means This three volume work is the first comprehensive study of China's aid and investment strategy to trace how it has evolved since Beijing launched its foreign aid diplomacy at the time of the founding of the People's Republic of China in 1949 Volume I examines the definitions origins nature and scope of foreign aid and investment by other countries Using that background John F. Copper then traces China's financial assistance to developing countries from the Mao period when China gave meaningful foreign aid despite its own economic struggles through the beginning of China's post 1978 economic boom and during subsequent decades of rapid economic growth Copper shows that China has a more salient history in giving foreign assistance than any other country in the world while China's objectives in giving foreign assistance have changed markedly over time China has always been driven by efforts to realize its foreign policy objectives and expand China's external influence The Everyday Cold War Chi-kwan Mark, 2017-10-05 In 1950 the British government accorded diplomatic recognition to the newly founded People's Republic of China. But it took 22 years for Britain to establish full diplomatic relations with China. How far was Britain's China policy a failure until 1972? This book argues that Britain and China were involved in the everyday Cold War or a continuous process of contestation and cooperation that allowed them to normalize their confrontation in the absence of full diplomatic relations. From Vietnam and Taiwan to the mainland and Hong Kong, China's everyday Cold War against Britain was marked by diplomatic ritual, propaganda rhetoric and symbolic gestures. Rather than pursuing a failed policy of appeasement, British decision makers and diplomats regarded engagement or negotiation with China as the best way of fighting the everyday Cold War. Based on extensive British and Chinese archival sources, this book examines not only the high politics of Anglo-Chinese relations but also how the British diplomats experienced the Cold War at the local level.

The Search for Modern China Jonathan D. Spence, 1990. This work chronicles the history of China for over four hundred years through the spring of 1989.

China's Security Interests in the Post-Cold War Era Dr Russell Ong, Russell Ong, 2013-12-19. Concentrates on the economic and political aspects of China's security agenda which have to a certain extent been given less prominence in most security studies on China.

China's Global Role: An Analysis of Peking's National Power Capabilities in the Context of an Evolving International System John Franklin Copper, 1980.

China and the Major Powers in East Asia A. Doak Barnett, 2001-09-19. The foreign policy of the People's Republic of China has been dominated in recent decades by the problems of dealing with the other major powers in East Asia. Although many ideological, political and economic aims have shaped particular Chinese policies, Peking's dominant concern has been national security. Since the late 1960s its leaders have viewed the Soviet Union as the primary threat to China and have pursued a distinctive Maoist balance of power strategy against it. China's post-Mao leaders continue to give priority to strategic considerations and the problems of relations with the other major powers. It cannot be assumed, however, that they will simply continue past policies. The recent changes both within China and in the broad pattern of international relations in East Asia have created a new situation. In this study, A. Doak Barnett analyzes in detail China's bilateral relations with the Soviet Union, Japan and the United States. He also examines the changing nature of the four power relationship in East Asia. On this basis, he discusses possible future trends in Chinese policy and the prospects for achieving a more stable regional equilibrium.

Problems of Communism, 1978.

China-Japan Relations after World War Two Amy King, 2016-06-06. A rich empirical account of China's foreign economic policy towards Japan after World War Two, drawing on hundreds of recently declassified Chinese sources. Amy King offers an innovative conceptual framework for the role of ideas in shaping foreign policy and examines how China's Communist leaders conceived of Japan after the war. The book shows how Japan became China's most important economic partner in 1971 despite the recent history of war and the ongoing Cold War divide between the two countries. It explains that China's Communist leaders saw Japan as a symbol of a modern industrialised nation and Japanese goods, technology and expertise as crucial in strengthening China's economy and military For China and Japan the years between 1949 and 1971 were not simply a moment disrupted by the Cold War but rather an important moment of non Western modernisation stemming from the legacy of Japanese empire industry and war in China

Contending with Contradictions Mercy Kuo, 2001-01-01 A long overdue contribution to the study of Cold War history and Chinese foreign policy Contending with Contradictions provides an incisive interpretation of China's relations with Poland and its irreversible impact on the communist world Mercy A Kuo provides a unique contribution to the miniscule corpus of literature on the subject Her approach is threefold Kuo offers a comprehensive interpretation of the historical relevance of the PRC's policy towards Soviet Eastern Europe during this era she sheds new light on the intentions of the Chinese Communist Party and finally her research for the book was based on an archival approach utilizing post 1989 declassified sources Because this area of Cold War history has long been understudied and certainly without the benefit of newly available archival materials Kuo's study is the first of its kind
