condition      Lymph Node Pathology for Clinicians Michel R. Nasr, Anamarija M. Perry, Pamela Skrabek, 2019-03-23

Lymph node pathology is a complex and rapidly evolving field that requires integration of morphologic findings with a number of ancillary studies as well as clinical information to diagnose neoplastic and non neoplastic hematopoietic disorders. Lymphomas are currently classified according to the 2016 Revision of the World Health Organization WHO Classification which emphasizes and for some diagnoses mandates the integration of clinical information in diagnostic decision making. Successful collaboration and teamwork between pathology and clinical specialties especially hematology oncology are paramount for excellent patient care. In addition to diagnosis pathology plays a significant role in lymphoma prognostication and therefore contributes to patient's management and follow up. Lymph Node Pathology for Clinicians provides a concise overview of different entities in lymph node pathology with the primary audience being clinicians. Not all entities are covered but rather the most common and/or clinically most relevant ones were included. This text is intended as a quick reference for a clinician to become familiar with pathologic aspects of lymphomas and the thought process of a pathologist. Particular consideration is given to relevant diagnostic and prognostic ancillary studies. Organized with an interdisciplinary approach for effective management of lymph node disorders, this text aims to educate our clinical colleagues on the most important aspects of lymph node pathology.

Management of Hematologic Malignancies Susan O'Brien, Julie M. Vose, Hagop M. Kantarjian, 2010-11-18 Hematologic malignancies were the first human cancers to be studied in depth at the molecular level and recent years have seen important advances in treatment. This comprehensive reference book covers the full range of hematologic malignancies including all subtypes of leukemias, lymphomas and plasma cell dyscrasias. Authored by internationally known experts, each chapter emphasizes diagnostic work up, staging and therapeutic approaches. Up to date hematopathology treatment and outcomes data are presented in a way which is directly applicable to patient care. Highly illustrated with color images, graphs, flowcharts and treatment algorithms, the book is perfect for quick clinical reference as well as providing detailed reference lists for further study. With its authoritative and practical focus and visually stimulating presentation, this is a key text for hematology and oncology fellows, physicians, oncology nurses, physician assistants and other healthcare workers in the field of oncology.

Non-Hodgkin Lymphoma Andrew M. Evens, Kristie A. Blum, 2015-02-06 This book provides clinical practitioners and the research community with detailed information on the diagnosis, prognosis and treatment of non-Hodgkin lymphoma, taking into account the significant growth in knowledge including multiple therapeutic advances that have been achieved over the past 5-10 years. The work is subdivided into epidemiology, pathogenesis, pathology, imaging and therapy of the non-Hodgkin lymphomas. The full range of therapeutic options are examined according to the major subtypes of non-Hodgkin lymphoma and the most up to date information is provided on current standard treatment options including stem cell transplantation as well as new cutting edge therapeutics.

Orbital Tumors Zeynel A. Karcioglu, 2006-01-16. From the Preface: About every ten years a new book appears on any given medical specialty subject. Naturally, this is not because the entire body of knowledge on that specialty is overhauled every ten years, but because the progress made over a decade usually warrants expressing new perspectives on quite a few diseases. Orbital oncology certainly qualifies as a subspecialty that merits an update every decade. At least two or three excellent textbooks on orbital tumors have been written since the mid 1980s. This book reports advances in knowledge about orbital diseases and their treatment and offers an up to date single volume reference for orbital tumors with particular emphasis on new improvements in diagnostic and therapeutic measures. Part I comprises advances in oncogenesis and its relationship to orbital tumors. Changes in the biological behavior of diseases in the general patient population are much slower than technological advances; nevertheless, those alterations take place as well. One of the major medical issues of our time, for example, is the changes in the immunological status of individuals. This issue influences the entire field of medicine, particularly oncology, including the treatment of orbital tumors. Chapters 2 to 5 summarize these influences. Medical genetics gained momentum during the past two decades and now affects the clinical practice of almost every discipline of medicine including ophthalmology and orbitology Chapters on principles of molecular genetics and immunosurveillance mechanisms of neoplasia and on the occurrence of multiple malignant neoplasms in retinoblastoma have been included to apply molecular concepts to clinical practice related to orbital tumors Advances in one discipline often directly benefit practice in another field In orbitology no development has been more influential than the revolution in imaging techniques including ultrasonography computerized tomography and magnetic resonance methods Four chapters in Part II are devoted to the role of imaging in diagnosis of orbital tumors Other diagnostic advances entailing immunohistochemistry flow cytometry gene microarray and the polymerase chain reaction are summarized in a separate chapter on orbital biopsy
