The Pathology of Tropical Food Legumes D. J. Allen, The Pathology of Tropical Food Legumes D. J. Allen, 1984-03-22 Presents broad coverage of the use of genetics to improve disease resistance in crops Discusses host plant resistance as the most appropriate method of managing pests and disease and improving crop production Provides information on the tropical environment evolutionary diversity of the legumes crop pathogen evolution cropping systems stability germplasm exchange and crop vulnerability Focuses on the geographical distribution economic importance and ecology and interactions of legume pathogens Reviews major diseases of each crop presented and discusses the future of agricultural production Advances in Cowpea Research B. B. Singh, 1997 Cowpea taxonomy genetics and breeding physiology and agronomy diseases and parasitic weeds insect pests postharvest technology and utilization Biotechnological applications The Pathology of Food and Pasture Legumes D. J. Allen, Jillian M. Lenné, 1998 Legumes provide one quarter of the world's crop protein and the diseases which afflict them have a tremendous impact worldwide This important collection examines the diseases of the major legume crops Each chapter provides a review of a particular crop and its principal diseases The chapters include discussions of etiology biology symptoms epidemiology crop loss and control as well as extensive references The book opens with an overview of legumes and their role in agriculture and concludes with a discussion of new disease management techniques Written by leading experts from throughout the world it is an indispensable resource for plant pathologists

Bean Production Problems in the Tropics Howard F. Schwartz, Marcial A. Pastor Corrales, 1989 The first section reviews trends of bean production and constraints in Latin America and Africa The second section covers fungal diseases The third section bacterial diseases The fourth section viral and mycoplasma diseases The fifth section insect pests The last section other bean production constraints that is nutritional disorders nematodes seed pathology and additional problems

Genetic Resources, Chromosome Engineering, and Crop Improvement Ram J. Singh, Prem P. Jauhar, 2005-03-16 The first book in this new series discusses grain legumes which rank only second to cereals in supplying calories and protein to the world's population With each chapter written by an internationally renowned scientist the book reviews the role of alien germplasm for the domestication of each major legume crop Discussion for each crop covers or Advances in Plant Pathology, 1995-07-05 This volume focuses on issues of plant pathology and sustainability such as short term economic plans versus long term economic visions in farming and forestry The book also deals with the complex biological interactions governing success in minimizing pest or pathogen damage by biological or chemical strategies benefits and costs to the producer consequences for the environment of management options and the challenge of defining useful farm or forest indicators of sustainable practices World crops: Cool season food legumes R.J. Plant Defence: Biological Control Jean Michel Méridon, Kishan Gopal Ramawat, 2011-10-03 To meet the challenge of feeding ever increasing human population efficient economical and environment friendly disease control methods are required Pests are responsible for heavy crop losses and reduced food supplies poorer quality of agricultural products economic hardship for growers and processor Generally chemical control methods are neither always economical nor are they effective and may have associated unwanted health safety and environmental risks Biological control involves use of beneficial microorganism to control plant pathogens and diseases they cause and offers an environmental friendly approach to the effective management of plant diseases This book provides a comprehensive account of interaction of host and its pathogens induced host resistance development of biological control agents for practical applications the underlying mechanism and signal transduction The book is useful to all those working in academia or industry related to crop protection

Sustainable Practices For Plant Disease Management In Traditional Farming Systems H. David Thurston, 2019-06-18 Most scientists and many of the world's farmers have abandoned traditional farming practices and systems in an effort to increase production and to improve the efficiency of land and labor use The resulting modern systems largely ignore many of the sustainable pest management practices that have evolved among farmers over centuries In this book CROP DISEASES AND THEIR MANAGEMENT CHAUBE, H. S., PUNDHIR, V. S., 2005-01-01 This comprehensive and upto date text is designed to provide information to the readers on all important aspects of plant pathology in a single volume The information on modern areas like Disease diagnosis Disease forecasting Biological control Epidemiology and Biotechnology in disease resistance and safe use of pesticides have been covered giving most recent concepts The text is illustrated with flow diagrams line diagrams photographs and tables for quick and easy understanding of the subject

Principal diseases of beans in Africa, Diseases of Horticultural Crops, 1999 The book covers around 700 species covering Latin family common and local names distribution market rate chemical constituents Sketches facilitates identity and comprehension by the reader Virus and Virus-like Diseases of Major Crops in Developing Countries Gad Loebenstein, George Thottappilly, 2013-12-18 It appears that a comprehensive and up to date book on the impact of virus diseases on the major crops in developing countries is now much needed especially as there have been rapid advances in the biological and molecular characterization and detection of the pathogens and possible approaches for their control. On the other hand, the economic losses caused by many of these diseases are tremendous and much of the accumulated knowledge to diminish the crop losses has not filtered through or cannot be applied. This book is focused on the important crops. Each chapter on a specific crop will include inter alia geographical distribution, the viruses, symptoms, damage, detection, a brief description of the viruses concerned and present and future ways for their control. Experts from India, Nigeria, UK, USA, France, Germany, Peru, Japan, Australia, Netherlands, Venezuela, Kazakhstan, and Israel, many of them from the International Research Institutions, have contributed chapters to this book.

Pulse Improvement Shabir Hussain Wani, Mukesh Jain, 2018-11-23. Advances in molecular biology and genome research in the form of molecular breeding and genetic engineering put forward innovative prospects for improving productivity of many pulse crops. Pathways have been discovered which include regulatory elements that modulate stress responses e.g. transcription factors and protein kinases and functional genes which guard the cells e.g. enzymes for generating protective metabolites and proteins. In addition, numerous quantitative trait loci (QTLs) associated with elevated stress tolerance have been cloned, resulting in the detection of critical genes for stress tolerance. Together, these networks can be used to enhance stress tolerance in pulses. This book summarizes recent advances in pulse research for increasing productivity, improving biotic and abiotic stress tolerance, and enhancing nutritional quality.

Microbial Plant Pathogens-Detection and Disease Diagnosis: P.

Narayanasamy, 2010-10-26. The need for the development of techniques based on the characteristics of the viral proteins and genomic nucleic acids was realized in order to detect, identify, differentiate, and quantify viruses in the infected plants, planting materials, with or without symptoms of infection. Immunoassays have been successfully applied for the detection of viruses in crop and weed host plant species as well as in the vectors. Nucleic acid based techniques have been demonstrated to be the most reliable and sensitive tests for detection, identification, and differentiation of viruses and viroids present in plants and planting materials. Inclusion of numerous protocols in appropriate chapters as appendix is a unique feature of this volume.

Legumes under Environmental Stress Parvaiz Ahmad, 2015-02-16. Legumes under Environmental Stress. Legumes under Environmental Stress: Yield Improvement and Adaptations. Leguminous crops have been found to contribute almost 27% of the world's primary crop production. However, due to environmental fluctuations, legumes are often exposed to different environmental stresses leading to problems with growth and development and ultimately decreased yield. This timely review explains the transcriptomics, proteomics, genomics, metabolomics, transgenomics, functional genomics, and phenomics of a wide range of different leguminous crops under biotic and abiotic stresses and their genetic and molecular responses. Amongst others, the text describes the effect of nutrient deficiency, pesticides, salt, and temperature stress on legumes. Importantly, the book explores the physiobiochemical, molecular, and omics approaches that are used to overcome biotic and abiotic constraints in legumes It looks at the exogenous application of phytoprotectants the role of nutrients in the alleviation of abiotic stress and the microbial strategy for the improvement of legume production under hostile environments Key features demonstrates how to mitigate the negative effect of stress on leguminous crops and how to improve the yield under stress the most up to date research in the field written by an international team of active researchers and practitioners across academia industry and non profit organisations This volume is a valuable and much needed resource for scientists professionals and researchers working in plant science breeding food security crop improvement and agriculture worldwide In universities it will educate postgraduate and graduate students in plant science and agriculture it will also benefit those in scientific institutions and in biotech and agribusiness companies who deal with agronomy and environment
