This book matches the process of teaching young children to the ways in which young children develop meaning. It provides a bridge between child development and curriculum studies. The book is divided into four sections: two theoretical and two practical. The theoretical sections make concepts accessible by providing clear definitions, specific examples, and illustrating their relationship to play. The practical sections deal with how to develop environmental design, begin the year, organize a classroom, and implement numerous practical ways for teachers to use playful approaches in early childhood instruction. Equity in Data Andrew Knips, Michael Savoy, Sonya Lopez, Kendall LaParo, 2022-10-06 Building a better data culture can be the path to better results and greater equity in schools But what do we mean by data Your students are not just statistics They aren t simply a set of numbers or faceless dots on a proficiency scale They are vibrant collections of experiences thoughts perspectives emotions wants and dreams And taken collectively all of that information is data and should be valued as such Equity in Data not only unpacks the problematic nature of current approaches to data but also helps educators demystify and democratize data It shows how we can bake equity into our data work and illuminate the disparities stories and truths that make our schools safer and stronger and that help our students grow and thrive To this end the authors introduce a four part framework for how to create an equitable data culture along with a complementary set of data principles They demonstrate how we can rethink our approach to data in the interest of equity by making five shifts Expand our understanding of data Strengthen our knowledge of data principles Break through our fear of data Decolonize our data gathering processes Turn data into meaningful equitable action We have an opportunity to realign school data with what students want out of their educational experiences When we put equity first we put students first Light Up Your Child's Mind Joseph S. Texts Geraldine Balzer, Teresa Strong-Wilson, Anne Burke, 2023-07-28 This book explores how teachers can re-examine their emotional investments in enacting dominant settler values through changing their text selection and teaching practices. Based on a longitudinal qualitative research study conducted by a national team of literacy scholars in collaboration with practicing literacy teachers at eight sites across Canada, the book investigates how groups of teachers working collaboratively in inquiry groups develop and implement curriculum to promote their own and their students' understandings of social justice in postcolonial and settler spaces. In particular, the book highlights the rich and dynamic landscape of postcolonial authors, illustrators, and texts; the development of culturally sensitive curricula and critical pedagogies possible in addressing contemporary and historical issues both local and global. This book is primarily of interest to literacy scholars, literacy instructors, teacher educators in teacher education programs, educational leaders, practicing teachers from the K-12 spectrum, and school district staff and policy makers with responsibilities for or interests in the potential of literacy and literature engagement for social justice education. The book is also of interest to postsecondary educators and teacher educators wishing to use literature in social justice, anti-racist, and anti-oppressive courses. Quill & Quire, 1997 ART is More

Jan Laurens SIESLING, 2015-06-15 This book turns traditional art history inside out. Not styles or forms or movements or artists or art theories are its point of departure, but the reason for being of art in civilization. Since the very beginnings of society, art has raised and responded to the existential questions of the human kind. The history of the arts is the history of those questions, and from that angle, art should be presented here. It is. When reading this book, unfolding like a novel, we think, yes, of course, no doubt, why didn't we think of this before? And we agree that art is not a hobby or a profession or an entertainment, but the very heartbeat of the human race. New York Magazine, 1997-05-19 New York Magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country.
