Guidelines for the Treatment of Alcohol Problems Paul S. Haber, Benjamin C. Riordan, 2021-04-01 The Australian Guidelines for the Treatment of Alcohol Problems have been periodically developed over the past 25 years. In 1993 the first version of these guidelines titled An outline for the management of alcohol problems Quality assurance in the treatment of drug dependence project was published. Mattick Haber et al 2009 The present version of the Guidelines was also commissioned by the Commonwealth of Australia to remain current and integrated with the updated NHMRC consumption guidelines 2020. In order to ensure that guidelines remain relevant the next set of guidelines should be updated in 2025 consistent with NHMRC recommendation that guidelines be updated every five years. These guidelines aim to provide up to date evidence based information to clinicians on available treatments for people with alcohol problems and are largely directed towards individual clinicians in practice such as primary care physicians, general practitioners, nursing staff, specialist medical practitioners, psychologists and other counsellors and other health professionals. Some chapters highlight service or system level issues that impact on clinicians and their patients. These include recommendations concerning Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, culturally and linguistically diverse groups, stigma and discrimination. Elsewhere, organisation capacity is implied such as medical resources for withdrawal management where recommendations indicate use of medications. As all forms of treatment will not be readily available or suitable for all populations or settings, these guidelines may require interpretation and adaptation.

Addressing Unhealthy Alcohol Use in Primary Care Richard Saitz, 2012-12-21 While there is a wealth of published information on addiction medicine, the psychological aspects of alcohol abuse and behavioral medicine with regard to addiction, virtually none of these resources were written with the primary care provider in mind. Addressing Unhealthy Alcohol Use in Primary Care is a resource for primary care clinicians who are confronted by patients with these problems daily and who wish to successfully address these issues in their practice. It would focus on the literature and science relevant to primary care practice and cover the range of interventions appropriate for this setting. Topics include assessment, brief counseling, interventions, pharmacotherapy, referrals to both specialty care and Alcoholics Anonymous and other self-help programs, psychiatric comorbidity and other drug use and other information specific to the needs of the primary care provider.
