Patricia Letters:

The Three Lovers Frank Swinnerton, 2022-07-21 Monty Rosenberg was a sublimely and ruthlessly selfish man who gave joy to others by accident pursuing all the while his own luxurious aims From the day of his birth until this lamentable evening in September he had never wished to benefit anybody but himself He lived to and for himself and this beautiful home had been made for his own delight and yet the inscrutable ways of life had performed a seeming miracle and Monty was tonight a mere voiceless child obeying the decrees of circumstance He was preparing to entertain his guests in a mood of solemn and magistral calm He thought nothing at all of their pleasure or their envy He was as much above snobbery as he was below compassion But he had created an atmosphere of gorgeous appropriateness to the marvels of the human heart and the gloomy night furnished a contrast as violent as the most emotional person in the world could have desired He had prepared a stir of color which must affect all those who were to be present upon this occasion The Boys of '67 Andrew

Wiest, 2012-09-20 In the spring of 1966 while the war in Vietnam was still popular the US military decided to reactivate the 9th Infantry Division as part of the military build up Across the nation farm boys from the Midwest surfers from California and city slickers from Cleveland opened their mail to find greetings from Uncle Sam Most American soldiers of the Vietnam era trickled into the war zone as individual replacements for men who had become casualties or had rotated home Charlie Company was different as part of the only division raised drafted and trained for service From draft to the battlefields of South Vietnam this is the unvarnished truth from the fear of death to the chaos of battle told almost entirely through the recollections of the men themselves This is their story the story of young draftees who had done everything that their nation had asked of them and had received so little in return lost faces of a distant war Register of the University of

With the help of a local historian Jamie she uncovers a long buried secret about her grandmother and Lillian's story which was suppressed by a difficult past. As she pieces together the truth Eliza learns to confront her own grief and the bittersweet nature of loss and discovery. The novel is a reminder that even in silence a story is waiting to be heard.

In this book of essays over 40 successful writers in varied fields: poetry, science, the performing and visual arts, psychoanalysis, journalism, literature and more explore what drives them to write and to work at their craft. Life-writing in the History of Archaeology Gabriel Moshenska, Clare Lewis, 2023-07-10. Life writing is a vital part of the history of archaeology and a growing field of scholarship within the discipline. The lives of archaeologists are entangled with histories of museums and collections, developments in science and scholarship, and narratives of nationalism and colonialism into the present. In recent years life writing has played an important role in the surge of new research in the history of archaeology, including ground-breaking studies of discipline formation, institutionalisation and social and intellectual networks. Sources such as diaries, wills, film and the growing body of digital records are powerful tools for highlighting the contributions of hitherto marginalised archaeological lives, including many pioneering women, hired labourers and other hidden hands. This book brings together critical perspectives on life writing in the history of archaeology from leading figures in the field. These include studies of archive formation and use, the concept of dig writing as a distinctive genre of archaeological creativity, and reviews of new sources for already well-known lives. Several chapters reflect on the experience of life writing, review the historiography of the field and assess the intellectual value and significance of life writing as a genre. Together they work to problematise underlying assumptions about this genre, foregrounding methodology, social theory, ethics and other practice-focused frameworks in conscious tension with previous practices.
