Sexual Murder Louis B. Schlesinger, 2021-03-22 Sexual Murder Catathymic and Compulsive Homicides is the culmination of the author's 45 years of experience with and studying sexually motivated homicide Sexual murders are generally of two types catathymic and compulsive Catathymic homicides are caused by a breakthrough of underlying sexual conflicts They can be unplanned explosive acute attacks or planned murders stemming from a chronic obsession with or disturbed attachment to the victim In compulsive homicides a fusion of sex and aggression results in a powerful internal drive which pushes the offender to seek out victims to kill and the killing itself is sexually gratifying These murders also may be planned or unplanned In compulsive homicides that are unplanned the urge breaks through and disrupts the offender's controls when a victim of opportunity crosses his path The compulsive offender who plans his crimes often eludes law enforcement and as a result he can have multiple serial victims over extended periods of time Both forms of sexual murder the catathymic and the compulsive are presented in this volume from a clinical descriptive perspective encompassing case studies with analysis Recent advances in empirical research in sexual murder including findings from the joint research project between John Jay College of Criminal Justice and the FBI Behavioral Analysis Unit in Quantico has published many important studies These include such topics as necrophilia foreign object insertions in sexual homicide ritual and signature and temporal patterns in serial sexual homicide mass murder crime scene staging in homicide and undoing symbolic reversal at homicide scenes All such research will be included and incorporated into this fully updated Second Edition including approximately fifty new clinical case studies

Murray, S. Tina Piper, Kirsty Robertson, 2014-03 Putting Intellectual Property in its Place examines the relationship between creativity and intellectual property law on the premise that despite concentrated critical attention devoted to IP law from academic policy and activist quarters its role as a determinant of creative activity is overstated The effects of IP rights or law are usually more unpredictable non linear or illusory than is often presumed Through a series of case studies focusing on nineteenth century journalism fake art plant hormone research between the wars online knitting communities creativity in small cities and legal practice the authors discuss the many ways people comprehend the law through information and opinions gathered from friends strangers coworkers and the media They also show how people choose to share create negotiate and dispute based on what seems fair just or necessary in the context of how their community functions in that moment while ignoring or reimagining legal mechanisms In this book authors Murray Piper and Robertson define the everyday life of IP law constituting an experiment in non normative legal scholarship and in building theory from material and located practice Geographic Profiling D. Kim Rossmo, 1999-12-28 As any police officer who has ever walked a beat or worked a crime scene knows the street has its hot spots patterns and rhythms drug dealers work their markets prostitutes stroll their favorite corners and burglars hit their favorite neighborhoods But putting all the geographic information together in cases of serial violent crime murder rape arson bombing and robbery is highly challenging Just ask the homicide detectives of the Los Angeles Police Department who hunted the Hillside Stranglers or law enforcement officers in Louisiana who tracked the brutal South Side rapist Geographic Profiling introduces and explains this cutting edge investigative methodology in depth Used to analyze the locations of a connected series of crimes to determine the most likely area of offender residence geographic profiling allows investigators and law enforcement officers to more effectively manage information and focus their investigations This extensive and exhaustive work explains geographic profiling theories and principles and includes an extensive review of the literature and research in the areas of criminal profiling forensic behavioral science serial violent crime environmental criminology and the geography of crime For investigators and police officers deployed in the field as well as criminal analysts Geographic Profiling is a must have reference Homicide, Gender and Responsibility Kate Fitz-Gibbon, Sandra Walklate, 2016-03-22 The crime of homicide has long animated academic debate community concern and political attention The discussion has often centered on the perceived inadequacy of legal responses to homicide questions of culpability and divergent representations of victims and offenders Within this notions of gender responsibility and justice are pivotal This edited collection builds on existing scholarship by examining these concerns not only in the context of the private world of domestic murder but also in the more public world of the state the corporation war and genocide In so doing this book draws from key frameworks of criminological thought legal analysis and empirical evidence to critically examine the relationship between homicide gender and responsibility Bringing together leading international criminology and legal scholars this collection provides a unique contribution to the academic and policy engagement with what is more often than not an ordinary and mundane crime Analysing the crime in a variety of different social contexts alongside an in depth and critical analysis of the interconnections between the ordinary act of lethal violence gender and notions of responsibility this book will be of interest to students scholars and policymakers working in criminology and socio legal studies
