Measuring Up Arie L. Nettles, Michael T. Nettles, 2012-12-06 Measuring Up revisits vital issues of equity and assessment through the research efforts and insights of many of the nation's most prominent educators and assessment experts As its most urgent purpose the publication aims to sensitize readers to the unfairness and inappropriate uses of testing instruments which under optimal circumstances have the potential to benefit all students With America fervently espousing both national and state testing the differential performance by race and social class raises the specter of tests as barriers to life milestones such as promotion graduation and college admissions In response to such punitive testing the papers included here explore a host of models and practices that are currently being piloted both in America and abroad as educators grapple with the effects the assessment is having on minority and disadvantaged students and school systems In the process outcomes of innovative portfolio and authentic assessments are weighed against important standards and principles of validity and consequences As the various authors probe the gap between African American and White test scores they raise important questions of resources family background and educational opportunity Beyond their value of their recommendations to educators their papers help to identify causes of pupil deficiencies in ways that can be addressed by policymakers To reinforce the emphasis on equity several authors present a definitive defense of affirmative action as a critical counter measure to the lack of fairness in school quality family and social supports and educational resources

British Education Index, 1999

Retaining African Americans in Higher Education Lee Jones, 2023-07-21 Retention of African Americans on campus is a burning issue for the black community and a moral and financial one for predominantly white institutions of higher education This book offers fresh insights and new strategies developed by fifteen scholars concerned by the new climate in which affirmative action is being challenged and eliminated This is the first book devoted specifically to retention of African Americans in higher education and is unique in addressing the distinct but inter related concerns of all three affected constituencies students faculty and administrators Each is considered in a separate section The student section shifts attention from to paraphrase McNairy fixing the student to focussing on higher education s need to examine and where appropriate revise policies curriculum support services and campus climate Responding to the new agenda shaped by the opponents of affirmative action but rejecting the defensive x percent solutions espoused by its proponents this book puts forward new solutions that will provoke debate Section II begins with a survey of the literature on African American administrators and presents a Delphi study of twelve administrators to provide an understanding of pathways and barriers to success The contributors then consider the importance of developing community support and creating alliances the role of mentoring and the setting of clear expectations between the individual and the institution Starting with the recognition that African Americans represent less than five percent of full time faculty the chapters in the final section examine the effects of the dismantling of affirmative action the consequences of faculty salaries trailing more lucrative non academic employment the declining enrollment of students of color the politics of promotion and tenure and issues of identity and culture The book concludes by stressing the roles that parents faculty and administrators must play to empower African American students to take responsibility for their own academic performance This is a compelling controversial and constructive contribution to an issue of national importance

Racial Propositions Daniel Martinez HoSang,2010-10-28 This book looks beyond the headlines to uncover the controversial history of California s ballot measures over the past fifty years As the rest of the U S watched California voters banned public services for undocumented immigrants repealed public affirmative action programs and outlawed bilingual education among other measures Why did a state with a liberal political culture an increasingly diverse populace and a well organized civil rights leadership roll back civil rights and anti discrimination gains Daniel Martinez HoSang finds that contrary to popular perception this phenomenon does not represent a new wave of color blind policies nor is a triumph of racial conservatism Instead in a book that goes beyond the conservative liberal divide HoSang uncovers surprising connections between the right and left that reveal how racial inequality has endured Arguing that each of these measures was a proposition about the meaning of race and racism his deft convincing analysis ultimately recasts our understanding of the production of racial identity inequality and power in the postwar era
