Aboriginal Justice and the Charter David Milward, 2012-11-22 Aboriginal Justice and the Charter explores the tension between Aboriginal justice methods and the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms seeking practical ways to implement Aboriginal justice David Milward examines nine legal rights guaranteed by the Charter and undertakes a thorough search for interpretations sensitive to Aboriginal culture Much of the previous literature in this area has dealt with idealized notions of what Aboriginal justice might be Here David Milward strikes out into new territory to examine why Indigenous communities seek to explore different paths in this area and to identify some of the applicable constitutional constraints This book considers a number of specific areas of the criminal justice process in which Indigenous communities may wish to adopt different approaches tests these approaches against constitutional imperatives and offers practical proposals for reconciling the various matters at stake Milward grapples with the difficult questions of how Aboriginal justice systems can be fair to its constituents while complying with the protections guaranteed all Canadians by the Charter healing centres clinical services and policy initiatives      Criminal Punishment and Restorative Justice David J. Cornwell, F. W. M. McElrea, John R. Blad, Robert B. Cormier, 2006 Criminal Punishment and Restorative Justice is an appraisal of the divide that exists between punitive and restorative methods The book looks at events that serve to restrict a greater and more emphatic adoption of restorative justice and its huge potential in contemporary criminal justice developments In an era of increasing and worldwide reliance on imprisonment and other punitive methods the author argues that justice and communities would be far better served by a more enthusiastic and early shift to restorative methods Criminal Punishment and Restorative Justice provides an international perspective on how restorative justice can bring about an altogether more enlightened approach to dealing with offenders and victims alike against a backdrop of often spurious traditional justifications for punishment While acknowledging the need for a constructive use of custody and other corrections in response to serious crime the author points out that the present over reliance on custody can be reduced by challenging offenders to take responsibility for their offenses and to make practical reparation for their wrong doing and repairing the harm that they have caused The book also assesses the potential of restorative justice to make corrections more effective civilized humane and pragmatic in terms of finding solutions to crime on the basis of sound principles and information not political expediency      Setting Relations Right in Restorative Practice David B. Moore, Alikki Vernon, 2023-12-01 1 Combining theory with case studies and practical advice based on decades of experience this book offers an authoritative guide to developing your skillset in restorative practice 2 It draws from a wide range of successful programmes with topical case studies on restorative engagement in response to institutional abuse interventions to deal with family violence and sexual harm trauma informed restorative approaches restorative approaches in problem solving courts and efforts to foster restorative ways of working across a whole city or region      Ambassadors of Reconciliation: Diverse Christian practices of restorative justice and peacemaking Ched Myers, Elaine Enns, 2009 Restorative justice refers to a social movement that seeks to repair interpersonal communal and social injustices without recourse to violence or retribution Volume two analyzes the contemporary terrain of restorative justice and peacemaking in North America and profiles the exemplary work of nine practitioners who incarnate the scriptural vision in real life contexts of profound violence and injustice      Truth and Conviction L. Jane McMillan, 2019-01-08 The name Donald Marshall Jr is synonymous with wrongful conviction and the fight for Indigenous rights in Canada In Truth and Conviction Jane McMillan Marshall s former partner an acclaimed anthropologist and an original defendant in the Supreme Court s Marshall decision on Indigenous fishing rights tells the story of how Marshall s fight against injustice permeated Canadian legal consciousness and revitalized Indigenous law Marshall was destined to assume the role of hereditary chief of the Mi kmaw Nation when in 1971 he was wrongly convicted of murder He spent more than eleven years in jail before a royal commission exonerated him and exposed the entrenched racism underlying the terrible miscarriage of justice Four years later in 1993 he was charged with fishing eels without a licence With the backing of Mi kmaq chiefs he took the case all the way to the Supreme Court to vindicate Indigenous treaty rights in the landmark Marshall decision Marshall was only fifty five when he died in 2009 His legacy lives on as Mi kmaq continue to assert their rights and build justice programs grounded in customary laws and practices key steps in the path to self determination and reconciliation

Justpeace Ethics Jarem Sawatsky, 2009-03-26 Too often when people enter into conflict with an eye on how to resolve it manage it or transform it they lose sight of the people involved and the desired end Too often justice and peace serve as an ideal or some distant shore We have not yet learned enough about how these ends can also be the means of restorative justice and peacebuilding Drawing on the imaginations of some leading peace and restorative justice practitioners this book identifies components of a justpeace imagination This imagination is the basis of justpeace ethics where the end goal is touched with each step This simple little book is designed to help those struggling with how to respond to conflict and violence in an ethical and transformative way It offers practical examples of how analysis intervention and evaluation of peacebuilding and restorative justice can be rooted in imagination of justpeace ethics

Therapeutic Nations Dian Million, 2013-09-26 Self determination is on the agenda of Indigenous peoples all over the world This analysis by an Indigenous feminist scholar challenges the United Nations based human rights agendas and colonial theory that until now have shaped Indigenous models of self determination Gender inequality and gender violence Dian Million argues are critically important elements in the process of self determination Million contends that nation state relations are influenced by a theory of trauma ascendant with the rise of neoliberalism Such use of trauma theory regarding human rights corresponds to a therapeutic narrative by Western governments negotiating with Indigenous nations as they seek self determination Focusing on Canada and drawing comparisons with the United States and Australia Million brings a genealogical understanding of trauma against a historical filter Illustrating how Indigenous people are positioned differently in Canada Australia and the United States in their articulation of trauma the author particularly addresses the violence against women as a language within a greater politic The book introduces an Indigenous feminist critique of this violence against the medicalized framework of addressing trauma and looks to the larger goals of decolonization Noting the influence of humanitarian psychiatry Million goes on to confront the implications of simply dismissing Indigenous healing and storytelling traditions Therapeutic Nations is the first book to demonstrate affect and trauma s wide ranging historical origins in an Indigenous setting offering insights into community healing programs The author s theoretical sophistication and original research make the book relevant across a range of disciplines as it challenges key concepts of American Indian and Indigenous studies

Trauma-Informed Juvenile Justice in the United States Judah Oudshoorn, 2016-08-23 Most youth who come in conflict with the law have experienced some form of trauma yet many justice professionals are ill equipped to deal with the effects trauma has on youth and instead reinforce a system that further traumatizes young offenders while ignoring the needs of victims By taking a trauma informed perspective this text provides a much needed alternative one that allows for interventions based on principles of healing and restorative justice rather than on punishment and risk assessment In addition to providing a comprehensive historical overview of youth justice in Canada Judah Oudshoorn addresses the context of youth offending by examining both individual trauma including its emotional cognitive and behavioural effects and collective trauma The author tackles some of the most difficult problems facing youth justice today especially the ongoing cycles of intergenerational trauma caused by the colonization of Indigenous peoples and patriarchal violence and demonstrates how a trauma informed approach to youth justice can work toward preventing crime and healing offenders victims and communities Featuring a foreword written by Howard Zehr case stories from the author s own work with victims and offenders questions for reflection and annotated lists of recommended readings this engaging text is the perfect resource for college and university students in the field of youth justice

Applying Restorative Justice to Campus Sexual Misconduct Kaaren M. Williamsen, Erik S. Wessel, 2023-07-03 While sexual misconduct on our college and university campuses both public and private is dismayingly widespread it continues to be significantly underreported because most victims perceive that judicial recourse with its legalistic adversarial approach fails to address in a healing way the harms done to them Fewer still file formal complaints many for fear that they may lose agency and that the process may rekindle the trauma of their experience Recognizing the reality that supermajority of sexual harms in higher education are rarely addressed through established legalistic practices this book offers a range of alternative approaches based on restorative justice Starting from the premise What if we started with the goal of healing in mind this book opens with an overview of common restorative practices and accounts of application and lessons learned by practitioners who have implemented a range of restorative justice and alternative based approaches Subsequent chapters cover procedural elements recommendations around documentation and interventions for individuals who have caused harm through sexual and gender based misconduct The book addresses facilitation the need to pay attention to self people and systems identities and power dynamics the considerations for working restoratively with both complainants and respondents offers cases and adaptable examples of resolution and concludes with reflections on institutional implementation from the perspectives of administrators facilitators and a student survivor Recognizing there will always be a need for a formal investigatory approach to cases of sexual misconduct the book offers a wide range of alternative options that empower those who are most directly affected to make the call for themselves In doing so it may increase reporting and furthermore in offering a healing justice that addresses individual and community needs may work to reduce sexual misconduct on campus

Restorative Justice Holly Ventura Miller, 2008-05-19 Covers scholarly work in criminology and criminal justice studies sociology of law and the sociology of deviance      Cis dideen kat - When the Plumes Rise Jo-Anne Fiske, Betty Patrick, 2011-01-01 The heart of the traditional legal order of the Lake Babine Nation of north central British Columbia is the grand ceremonial feast known as the balhats or potlatch Misunderstood and widely condemned as a wasteful display of pride the balhats ceremonies were outlawed by the Canadian government in the late nineteenth century Throughout the years that followed the Lake Babine Nation struggled to adapt their laws to a changing society while maintaining their cultural identity Although the widespread feasting and exchange practices of the balhats have attracted continuous academic and political interest since the nineteenth century little consideration has been given to understanding the legal practices embedded within the ceremonies Cis dideen kat the only book ever written about the Lake Babine Nation describes the customary legal practices that constitute the way Authors Jo Anne Fiske and Betty Patrick use historical and contemporary data to create a background against which the changing relations between the Lake Babine Nation and the Canadian state are displayed and defined leading to the current era of treaty negotiations and Aboriginal self government Through interviews with community chiefs and elders oral histories focus groups and archival research Fiske and Patrick have documented and defined a traditional legal system still very much misunderstood Their findings include material not previously published making this book essential reading for those involved in treaty negotiations as well as for those with an interest in Aboriginal and state relations generally      Cis Dideen Kat Jo-Anne Fiske, Betty Patrick, 2000 Winner of the 2013 Washington State Book Award in Poetry This book examines the Lake Babine Nation in north central British Columbia considering its traditional legal order and the way that order determines the people s identity and the nature of their involvement in current treaty negotiations Changing relations between the Natives and the Canadian state have resulted in a new awareness of customary legal orders While such orders are often seen as a process by which the state can accommodate diverse approaches to judicial fairness and social justice they also offer the means by which aboriginal nations can maintain their identity by sustaining a moral order in a viable self defined and self governed community For the Lake Babine Nation this moral order is defined by and lived through the feasting complex known as the bahlats or potlatch system      Restorative Justice Marian Liebmann,2007-04-15 Drawing on many years experience of working in victim support probation mediation and restorative practices Marian Liebmann uses pertinent case examples to illustrate how restorative justice can be used effectively to work with crime and its effects Liebmann also examines how restorative justice is practised around the world
