Forget Them Not Joanne M. Hemenway, 2010-07-09 To witness effectively and powerfully to Christian testimonies of care and compassion of justice and mercy of healing and wholeness it is necessary to foster awareness of the realities of the present system of retributive justice if there is to be any hope of transformation to a system of justice which is restorative Forget Them Not provides a history of the prison system as a means of punishment contrasting it with the relatively recent but growing practice of restorative justice Joanne Hemenway explores the concept of disconnection as radical evil as a separation from God who is the source of our being and shows how our present approach to punishment fosters this evil The present system with its motif of retributive justice generates shame rejection and loneliness which stokes the fires of anger and rage This breeds deep disconnection which only serves to fuel further cycles of violence Hemenway presents three vignettes designed to help explore forgiveness in the context of both retributive and restorative justice To promote healing and connection Forget Them Not introduces compassionate witnessing in prison ministry as a way to develop awareness and empowerment

Restorative Justice and Street Group Violence Theo Gavrielides, 2021-04-16 The socio economic impacts of the global COVID19 pandemic the Black Lives Matter movement the abuse of police power and persistent inequalities have taken communities to the streets The implications of riots and street group violence for governments across the world spark a new debate on the appropriateness of restorative approaches in relieving the overstretched and costly criminal justice system Despite the impressive literature on restorative justice the potential and indeed viability of its paradigm with street group violence such as riots remain largely unexplored This timely ebook uses the case study method to investigate four examples in India Greece Canada and England where restorative justice is considered within the context of street group violence Key issues are identified and recommendations are posited as new policies practices and research are being proposed in this grey area of restorative justice The book is backed up with a lecture and original evidences collected by the author in four countries To watch the lecture that was held in Vancouver as part of the Simon Fraser University Bruce and Lis Welch Community Dialogue https://www.sfu.ca/dialogue/programs/welch\_dialogue/riots\_restorative\_justice.html Gavrielides research also appeared in The Guardian <https://www.theguardian.com/public-leaders-network/blog/2011/aug/12/listen-young-people-break-cycle> It is a great honour for the Centre for Restorative Justice at Simon Fraser University in Vancouver Canada to be partnering with Theo Gavrielides to better understand and respond to street group violence as characterized through riots Both Vancouver and England experienced the devastating impact of riots in the summer of 2011 Other cities and countries have also felt the heavy impact of riots while police and the justice system brace themselves for more The time is ripe to be asking different questions building new partnerships and exploring innovative solutions This book represents a first step in that direction and opens the door for further partnership and collaboration Professor Brenda Morrison Director of the Centre for Restorative Justice Simon Fraser University To cite this e book Gavrielides T 2021 Restorative Justice and Street Group Violence London RJ4All Publications ISBN 978 1 911634 39 3 DOI 10 13140 RG 2 2 30094 33608 Victim Organisations and the Politics of Reparation Heidy Rombouts,2004 Reparation for victims of gross and systematic human rights violations is a contemporary issue gaining increased attention in both national and international politics Post conflict societies have to face the legacies of the dark past and dealing with a large group of victims is one of them Transitional justice mechanisms trying to cope with the past should not overlook the issue of reparation This research demonstrates how reparation for victims of gross and systematic human rights violations differs from reparation for isolated violations The Rwandan case study unveils the role of victim organisations in and the competition and politicisation of the reparation debate Although reparation for victims is a crucial element in transitional justice it becomes clear that the way in which the reparation debate unfolds does not necessarily contribute to the peaceful future of a post conflict society This study argues that remedying the process and debate of the search for reparation will lead to an improved and more constructive reparation policy Heidy Rombouts is a legal and social scientist 1997 Master of Laws 1999 Master in Social and Political Sciences Catholic University of Leuven In 2004 she obtained a PhD degree in Social and Political Sciences at the University of Antwerp for her research on victim organisations and the politics of reparation For several years she has been conducting research on transitional justice human rights and post conflict situations including extensive field research in South Africa and Rwanda Freeing the Oppressed Ron Clark,2009-09-01 When Jesus spoke at his local synagogue he boldly proclaimed that he was the one sent to free those who were oppressed He came to provide hope peace and safety to those suffering in the world When he left this earth his followers were left with the task of continuing this ministry Statistics suggest that in America one in four women has experienced physical violence in an intimate relationship Dating violence intimate partner violence and child abuse rank as some of our nation s largest problems Men are also being abused by intimate partners parents or care providers at increasing rates The statistic is even more alarming worldwide Unfortunately these statistics represent only reported incidents The rates of verbal emotional and spiritual abuse are even higher In addition countless women are encouraged by clergy to return to their abusive spouses The faith community while called by God to free the oppressed has been slow to respond to this sin against humanity Few seminaries offer quality domestic violence prevention training for clergy However clergy still continue to be sought for help from the community and as advocates for victims of domestic violence A partnership between the church and community locally and abroad is necessary if we wish to transform humans caught in this form of oppression In Setting the Captives Free Ron Clark proposed a theology of addressing domestic violence and its application for clergy Freeing the Oppressed is a book that seeks to condense Clark s previous work into a readable form for those seeking spiritual answers concerning abuse and batterer intervention and for helpers of those caught in the cycle of family violence It is also designed as an outreach for those seeking help from the faith community
