Why Love Hurts Eva Illouz, 2013-05-06 Few of us have been spared the agonies of intimate relationships They come in many shapes loving a man or a woman who will not commit to us being heartbroken when we re abandoned by a lover engaging in Sisyphean internet searches coming back lonely from bars parties or blind dates feeling bored in a relationship that is so much less than we had envisaged these are only some of the ways in which the search for love is a difficult and often painful experience Despite the widespread and almost collective character of these experiences our culture insists they are the result of faulty or insufficiently mature psyches For many the Freudian idea that the family designs the pattern of an individual s erotic career has been the main explanation for why and how we fail to find or sustain love Psychoanalysis and popular psychology have succeeded spectacularly in convincing us that individuals bear responsibility for the misery of their romantic and erotic lives The purpose of this book is to change our way of thinking about what is wrong in modern relationships The problem is not dysfunctional childhoods or insufficiently self aware psyches but rather the institutional forces shaping how we love The argument of this book is that the modern romantic experience is shaped by a fundamental transformation in the ecology and architecture of romantic choice The samples from which men and women choose a partner the modes of evaluating prospective partners the very importance of choice and autonomy and what people imagine to be the spectrum of their choices all these aspects of choice have transformed the very core of the will how we want a partner the sense of worth bestowed by relationships and the organization of desire This book does to love what Marx did to commodities it shows that it is shaped by social relations and institutions and that it circulates in a marketplace of unequal actors

Sixteen Commentaries on LOVE versus HOPE Daniel Solomon, 2020 Built upon Love Alberto

Perez-Gomez,2008-02-15 A vision of architecture that transcends concerns of form and function and finds the connections between the architect's wish to design a beautiful world and architecture's imperative to provide a better place for society. The forced polarity between form and function in considerations of architecture opposing art to social interests, ethics to poetic expression obscures the deep connections between ethical and poetical values in architectural tradition. Architecture has been and must continue to be writes Alberto Perez Gomez built upon love. Modernity has rightly rejected past architectural excesses but Perez Gomez argues the materialistic and technological alternatives it proposes do not answer satisfactorily the complex desire that defines humanity. True architecture is concerned with far more than fashionable form: affordable homes and sustainable development; it responds to a desire for an eloquent place to dwell, one that lovingly provides a sense of order resonant with our dreams. In Built upon Love Perez Gomez uncovers the relationship between love and architecture in order to find the points of contact between poetics and ethics between the architect's wish to design a beautiful world and architecture's imperative to provide a better place for society. Eros as first imagined by the early lyric poets of classical Greece is the invisible force at the root of our capacity to create and comprehend the poetic image. Perez Gomez examines the nature of architectural form in the light of eros, seduction and the tradition of the poetic image in Western architecture. He charts the ethical dimension of architecture tracing the connections between philia, the love of friends that entails mutual responsibility among equals and architectural program. He explores the position of architecture at the limits of language and discusses the analogical language of philia in modernist architectural theory. Finally he uncovers connections between ethics and poetics describing a contemporary practice of architecture under the sign of love incorporating both eros and philia.
