Revision Alice Horning, Anne Becker, 2006-05-22 Explores the wide range of scholarship on revision while bringing new light to bear on enduring questions in composition and rhetoric

Dramatizing Writing Virginia Skinner-Linnenberg, 2020-07-24 Although speech departments have owned delivery for the last 100 years those who teach writing especially English departments can gain a great deal by reinstating delivery into their conceptions of and theories about writing Thus in the author's vision of dramatizing writing in the composition classroom delivery can have an impact on all the composing steps from invention to final draft The goals of this text are to redefine delivery for writing to reunite it with other parts of the classical rhetorical canon and to practically apply it in contemporary writing instruction This text is divided into three main sections The first provides a survey of the history of delivery in rhetorical theory A continuum is set up from a totally physical conception of delivery to a noetic one which incorporates more intellectual processes The argument is that the tension heightened by discord over its definition eventually led to the splitting of delivery from the rhetorical canon A separate discussion of the women's challenge to delivery is also included The next section contains a survey of facets of delivery that exist in current theory combined with the author's own theory of delivery It provides insight into the state of delivery in contemporary writing instruction The author argues that since the split of delivery from the rhetorical canon has caused a modern bias against delivery in writing theory many strategies that could aid in the teaching of writing have either been overlooked or undertheorized Therefore she borrows from current theoretical areas within and outside of writing in order to construct her own theory of delivery The last section provides practical applications of delivery in writing instruction Again borrowing from many sources inside and outside of composition she describes the techniques teachers may use to incorporate delivery in a writing classroom Through the use of delivery more strategies may be developed to aid in the teaching of writing Special features include the incorporation of some practices that had been in use in the composition classroom for many years but did not have any consciously theoretical grounding the discussion of women rhetoricians theories on delivery the combination of many contemporary theoretical areas including theatrical feminist rhetorical and pedagogical to form the author's redefined theory of delivery and the presentation of practical applications of this new theory of delivery for teachers to utilize in their own classrooms

Working at Writing Robert L. Root, 1991 A survey of the composing processes of seven working writers columnist essayists Jim Fitzgerald and Kathleen Stocking political columnists Tom Wicker and Richard Reeves drama critic Walter Kerr and film critics David Denby and Neal Gabler Working at Writing offers rich and unique insights into how writing is actually done The book has three interlocking elements edited transcripts of interviews with the writers about their composing processes and the composition of specific works copies of the works discussed in the transcripts and a series of chapters that analyze the interviews and articles in the context of current research into composing Through this unusual structure Root investigates both the ways in which the working practices of the seven writers relate to one another and to current models of composing and the ways in which such a discussion will be of value to others particularly to student writers and their teachers By considering the comments of practicing writers and the examples of their compositions and by comparing the evidence of research findings with those examples of practical experience Root gives student writers and their teachers as well the opportunity to better understand the paradigms that govern their own composing and to confirm modify abandon or replace them The final chapter discusses the implications of these professionals experience for those who hope to become working writers Stressing the importance of assiduous stringsaving immersion in context regular composition the rhetorical situation and the writer s understanding of his or her own process Root suggests both what separates the novice from the expert and how novices can apply the insights of this book as they work at their own writing     ERIC Clearinghouse Publications ,1983     Revision Revisited Alice S. Horning,2002 Revision is essential to writing This unique volume reviews the primary findings of key studies of revision re examines data on the relevance of personality type preferences for understanding revising explores the text features writers tend to focus on when they rework a text reviews the teaching advice given in books on revising by teachers and writers and presents detailed case studies both in academia and the workplace     Literacy David Wray,2004 This four volume collection reprints key debates about exactly what it means to be literate and how literacy can best be taught Rather than centering on the emotional reaction of mass media debates this set focuses on research findings into processes and pedagogy The themes covered include Literacy its nature and its teaching Reading processes and teaching Writing processes and teaching and New Literacies the impact of technologies     Critical Expressivism Tara Roeder,Roseanne Gatto,2015-04-15 Critical Expressivism is an ambitious attempt to re appropriate intelletual territory that has more often been charted by its detractors than by its proponents Indeed as Peter Elbow observes in his contribution to this volume As far as I can tell the term expressivist was coined and used only by people who wanted a word for people they disapproved of and wanted to discredit The editors and contributors to this collection invite readers to join them in a new conversation one informed by a belief that the term expressivism continues to have a vitally important function in our field     Concepts in Composition Irene L. Cambridge, 2023-07-03 Higher education institutions of all kinds across the United States and around the world have rapidly expanded the use of electronic portfolios in a broad range of applications including general education, the major, personal planning, freshman learning communities, advising, assessing, and career planning. Widespread use creates an urgent need to evaluate the implementation and impact of eportfolios. Using qualitative and quantitative methods, the contributors to this book, all of whom have been engaged with the Inter-National Coalition for Electronic Portfolio Research, have undertaken research on how eportfolios influence learning and the learning environment for students, faculty members, and institutions. This book features emergent results of studies from 20 institutions that have examined effects on student reflection, integrative learning, establishing identity, organizational learning, and designs for learning supported by technology. It also describes how institutions have responded to multiple challenges in eportfolio development, from engaging faculty to going to scale. These studies exemplify how eportfolios can spark disciplinary identity, increase retention, address accountability, improve writing, and contribute to accreditation. The chapters demonstrate the applications of eportfolios at community colleges, small private colleges, comprehensive universities, research universities, and a state system. Writing and

Revising in Second Language Classrooms Jing Chen, 2025-02-05 This book contributes to the field of L2 writing with a focus on instruction in revision. Theoretically, this research provides a better understanding of students' metacognitive knowledge about revision and their self-efficacy for text revision in EFL writing; such understanding is vital to make pedagogical connections between cognitive research, self-efficacy theory, and instructional research in writing. Moreover, the designed questionnaire for data collection and analysis in this study can be employed as a diagnostic or consciousness-raising tool in the L2 writing classrooms or be used as a research tool to chart the development of students' metacognitive knowledge about revision and self-efficacy for text revision over time to contribute to this line of research. Pedagogically, this study examined the effects of the SRSD model, an approach that has shown its effectiveness in improving learners' metacognition and impacting their self-efficacy in both L1 and L2 writing in the context of revision in an EFL context. Hence, it broadens the understanding of the feasibility and effectiveness of the SRSD model      Teaching and Evaluating Student Writing Mary Ann Trost,1985      Towards Knowledge in Writing Jill Fitzgerald,2012-12-06 This book reviews the shifting conceptions of writing and revision noting the ways in which views of knowledge and knowing shape teaching and research Fitzgerald as a reading and writing researcher recognizes that how we revise is shaped by how we read and respond to our unfolding texts She argues that how we write and read is ultimately shaped by how we know that is how we seek to make sense of the world How and why do we revise when we write How do we differ in the extent or level of revisions due to differences in our purpose mode of writing perceptions of audience or phase of development of our writing What motivates us to revise a need to clarify our expression to rethink or alter our ideas to influence our reader in certain ways or to fulfill our own purposes These questions have always intrigued composition theorists and researchers however it is only in the past 15 years that researchers have seriously and systematically sought answers to these questions      Research in the Teaching of English,1983      Hearing Ourselves Think Ann M. Penrose,Barbara M. Sitko,1993-07-01 In Hearing Ourselves Think cognitive process research moves from the laboratory to the college classroom where its rich research tradition continues and an important new set of instructional approaches emerges Each chapter moves from research results to classroom action providing a direct and important link between research theory and practice The book develops the concept of the research based classroom in which students actively examine the processes and contexts of reading and writing and then turn their observations into principles for practice Hearing Ourselves Think contributes to a lively new tradition of socio cognitive research in writing and reading exploring the dynamics of cognitive processes as they interact with dimensions of the academic context      Revising Ronald A. Sudol,1982 Intended to help writing teachers better understand how to help students effectively revise their written work this book contains essays that as a group focus on the problem of the definition of revision The first half of the book discusses the background of revision while the second half discusses contexts and techniques for application The 16 essays cover the following topics 1 revision as discovery and the reduction of entropy 2 intentions and conventions of revising 3 revision theory versus practice 4 H G Wells The Outline of History 5 composing without revision 6 the pragmatics of self assessment 7 a holistic pedagogy for freshman composition 8 teaching teachers to teach revision 9 psycholinguistic perspectives on revision 10 the cloze test as a diagnostic tool for revision 11 parapraxes Freudian slips on paper and revision 12 revision and improvement 13 the Delphi technique 14 revision and risk 15 understanding conflict with students about the expression of opinion and 16 empathy and revision An annotated bibliography on revision concludes the book HTH      Saudi Students' Revising Strategies in Arabic and English Essays Othman R.
