Revolution The Explosion Of World Cinema In The Sixties:

Revolution! Peter Cowie, 2004 A new perspective on the golden era of film history widens the lens beyond American shores to show how this new technology and culture was manifesting itself throughout the world in Sweden Poland India Japan Brazil Hungary and Czechoslovakia among other places

Transformation and Tradition in 1960s British

Cinema Farmer Richard Farmer, 2019-05-03 Over half a century on the 1960s continue to generate strong intellectual and emotional responses both positive and negative and this is no less true in the arena of film Making substantial use of new and underexplored archive resources that provide a wealth of information and insight on the period in question this book offers a fresh perspective on the major resurgence of creativity and international appeal experienced by British cinema in that dramatic decade Transformation and Tradition in 1960s British Cinema is the first scholarly volume on this period of British cinema for more than twenty five years It provides a major reconsideration of the period by focusing on the central tensions and contradiction between novelty revolution and continuity tradition during what remains a highly contentious period of cultural production and consumption

Theorizing World Cinema Lúcia Nagib, Chris Perriam, Rajinder Dudrah, 2011-11-02 This innovative book is about the place of world cinema in the cultural imaginary It also repositions world cinema in a wider discursive space than is usually the case and treats it as an object of theoretical enquiry rather than as a commercial label The editors and distinguished group of contributors offer a range of approaches and case studies whose organizing principle is the developing idea of polycentrism as applied to cinema They refine and redefine key concepts in film studies including identification and identity narrative and realism allegory and the national project auteurism and the popular art and genre They re evaluate how cinema shapes and responds to the philosophical cultural and political effects of transnationalism and cosmopolitanism in the age of the moving image and explore the interconnectedness of films produced worldwide as well as the links between cinema and other visual cultural forms The contributors include John Caughie Felicia Chan Tiago de Luca Rajinder Dudrah Song Hwee Lim Laura Mulvey Lucia Nagib Geoffrey Nowell Smith Chris Perriam Ashish Rajadhyaksha Paul Julian Smith and Ismail Xavier

1968 and Global Cinema Christina Gerhardt, Sara Saljoughi, 2018-10-17 The volume is ideal for graduate and undergraduate courses on the long sixties political cinema 1968 and new waves in art history cultural studies and film and media studies

The Public Life of Cinema Toby Lee, 2020-11-10 Is culture a luxury In this era of austerity the value of the arts has been a topic of heated debate in Greece where the country's economic troubles have led to drastic cuts in public funding and much contention over the significance of cultural institutions and government funded arts initiatives At issue in these debates are larger questions regarding the very notions of publicness hierarchies of value and functions of the state that structure collective life Beginning with the Thessaloniki International Film Festival How to Be Public tracks this turbulence as it unfolded in the Greek film world in the early years of the crisis Investigating the different forms of citizenship and collectivity being negotiated in cinema's social spaces this book considers how the arts and cultural production may illuminate the changing conditions of and possibilities for public and collective life in the neoliberal era

The Cinema of John Boorman Brian Hoyle, 2012-09-14 John Boorman has written and directed more than 25 television and feature films including such classics as Deliverance Point Blank Hope and Glory and Excalibur He has been nominated for five Academy Awards including twice for best Director Deliverance and Hope and Glory In the first full length critical study of the director in more than two decades author Brian Hoyle presents a comprehensive examination of Boorman's career to date The Cinema of John Boorman offers a film by film appraisal of the director's career including his feature films and little known works for television Drawing on unpublished archive material Hoyle provides a close reading of each of Boorman's films Organized chronologically each chapter examines two or three films and links them thematically This study also describes Boorman's interest in myths and quest narratives as well as his relationship with writers and literature Making the case that Boorman is both an auteur and a visionary The Cinema of John Boorman will be of interest not only to fans of the director's work but to film scholars in general

The Age of New Waves James Tweedie, 2013-09-02 The Age of New Waves examines the origins of the concept of the new wave in 1950s France and the proliferation of new waves in world cinema over the past three decades The book suggests that youth cities and the construction of a global market have been the catalysts for the cinematic new waves of the past half century It begins by describing the enthusiastic engagement between French nouvelle vague filmmakers and a globalizing American cinema and culture during the modernization of France after World War II It then charts the growing and ultimately explosive disenchantment with the aftermath of that massive social economic and spatial transformation in the late 1960s Subsequent chapters focus on films and visual culture from Taiwan and contemporary mainland China during the 1980s and 1990s and they link the recent propagation of new waves on the international film festival circuit to the economic miracles and consumer revolutions accompanying the process of globalization While it travels from France to East Asia the book follows the transnational movement of a particular model of cinema organized around mise en scène or the interaction of bodies objects and spaces within the frame rather than montage or narrative The master shot style of directors like Hou Hsiao Hsien Tsai Ming Liang and Jia Zhangke has reinvented a crucial but overlooked tendency in new wave film and this cinema of mise en scène has become a key aesthetic strategy for representing the changing relationships between people and the material world during the rise of a global market The final chapter considers the interaction between two of the most global phenomena in recent film history the transnational art cinema and Hollywood and it searches for traces of an American New Wave

Cesare Zavattini's Neo-realism and the Afterlife of an Idea David Brancalone, 2021-07-15 How many Zavattinis are there During a life spanning most of the twentieth century the screenwriter who wrote Sciusci Bicycle Thieves Miracle in Milan and Umberto D was also a pioneering magazine publisher in 1930s Milan a public intellectual a theorist a tireless campaigner for change within the film industry a man of letters a painter and a poet This intellectual biography is built on the premise that in order to understand Zavattini's idea of cinema and his legacy of ethical and political cinema including guerrilla cinema we must also tease out the multi-faceted strands of his interventions and their interplay over time. The book is for general readers, students and film historians and anyone with an interest in cinema and its fate.

Ancient Greek Women in Film Konstantinos P. Nikoloutsos, 2013-11-28 This volume examines cinematic representations of ancient Greek women from the realms of myth and history. It discusses how these female figures are resurrected on the big screen by different filmmakers during different historical moments and are therefore embedded within a narrative which serves various purposes depending on the director of the film, its screenwriters, the studio, the country of its origin and the sociopolitical context at the time of its production. Using a diverse array of hermeneutic approaches such as gender theory, feminist criticism, psychoanalysis, viewer response theory and personal voice criticism, the essays aim to cast light on cinema's investments in the classical past and decode the mechanisms whereby the women under examination are extracted from their original context and are brought to life to serve as vehicles for the articulation of modern ideas, concerns and cultural trends. The volume thus aims to investigate not only how antiquity on the screen depicts and in this process distorts, compresses, contests and revises antiquity on the page but also more crucially why the medium follows such eclectic representational strategies vis-à-vis the classical world.

Teaching Film Lucy Fischer, Patrice Petro, 2012-07-27 Film studies has been a part of higher education curricula in the United States almost since the development of the medium. Although the study of film is dispersed across a range of academic departments, programs and scholarly organizations, film studies has come to be recognized as a field in its own right. In an era when teaching and scholarship are increasingly interdisciplinary, film studies continues to expand and thrive, attracting new scholars and fresh ideas, direction and research. Given the dynamism of the field, experienced and beginning instructors alike need resources for bringing the study of film into the classroom. This volume will help instructors conceptualize contemporary film studies in pedagogical terms. The first part of the volume features essays on theory and on representation, including gender, race and sexuality. Contributors then examine the geographies of cinema and offer practical suggestions for structuring courses on national, regional and transnational film. Several essays focus on interdisciplinary approaches while others describe courses designed around genre, film noir, the musical, mode, animation, documentary, avant-garde film or the formal elements of film such as sound, music and mise en scène. The volume closes with a section on film and media in the digital age in which contributors discuss the opportunities and challenges presented by access to resources, media convergence and technological developments in the field.

Performing Ethics Through Film Style Edward Lamberti, 2019-11-06 Proposing a relationship between Levinasian ethics and film style and bringing it into a productive dialogue with theories of performativity, this book explores this influence through three directorial bodies of work: those of Barbet Schroeder, Paul Schrader and the Dardenne Brothers.

Point Blank Eric G. Wilson, 2023-09-07 John Boorman's Point Blank (1967) has long been recognised as one of the seminal films of the sixties with its revisionary mix of genres including neo noir New Wave and spaghetti western Its lasting influence can be traced throughout the decades in films like Mean Streets 1973 Reservoir Dogs 1992 Heat 1995 The Limey 1999 and Memento 2000 Eric Wilson s compelling study of the film examines its significance to New Hollywood cinema He argues that Boorman revises traditional Hollywood crime films by probing a second connotation of point blank On the one hand it is a neo noir that aptly depicts close range violence but it also points toward blankness a nothingness that is the consequence of corporate America unchecked where humans are reduced to commodities and stripped of agency and playfulness He goes on to reimagine the film s experimental style as a representation of and possible remedy for trauma Examining Boorman s formal innovations including his favouring of gesture over language and blurring of boundaries between dream and reality he also positions the film as a grimly comical exploration of toxic masculinity and gender fluidity Wilson s close reading of Point Blank reveals it to be a film that innovatively inflects its own generation and speaks powerfully to our own arguing that it is this amplitude which encompasses the many major films it has influenced that qualifies the film as a classic

Realism in Greek Cinema Vrasidas Karalis, 2016-12-18 The history of Greek cinema post 1945 is best understood through the stories of its most internationally celebrated and influential directors Focusing on the works of six major filmmakers active from just after WWII to the present day with added consideration of many others this book examines the development of cinema as an art form in the social and political contexts of Greece Insights on gender in film minority cinemas stylistic richness and the representation of historical trauma are afforded by close readings of the work and life of such luminaries as Michael Cacoyannis Nikos Koundouros Yannis Dalianidis Theo Angelopoulos Antouanetta Angelidi Yorgos Lanthimos Athena Rachel Tsangari and Costas Zapas Throughout the book examines how directors visually transmute reality to represent unstable societies disrupted collective memories and national identity The Cause of Cosmopolitanism Patrick

O'Donovan, Laura Rascaroli, 2011 This work in assessing cosmopolitanism as a cause argues that justifications and critiques of the cosmopolitan are shaped as much by political and cultural forces as by the distinctive philosophical tradition in which it is situated Chronicle of a Camera Norris Pope, 2013-03-06 This volume provides a history of the most consequential

35mm motion picture camera introduced in North America in the quarter century following the Second World War the

Arriflex 35 It traces the North American history of this camera from 1945 through 1972 when the first lightweight self blimped 35mm cameras became available Chronicle of a Camera emphasizes theatrical film production documenting the Arriflex's increasingly important role in expanding the range of production choices styles and even content of American motion pictures in this period The book's exploration culminates most strikingly in examples found in feature films dating from the 1960s and early 1970s including a number of films associated with what came to be known as the Hollywood New Wave The author shows that the Arriflex prompted important innovation in three key areas it greatly facilitated and encouraged location shooting it gave cinematographers new options for intensifying visual style and content and it stimulated low budget and independent production Films in which the Arriflex played an absolutely central role include Bullitt The French Connection and most significantly Easy Rider Using an Arriflex for car mounted shots hand held shots and zoom lens shots led to greater cinematic realism and personal expression

Alienation and Resistance Laura Findlay, Gordon Spark, 2020-05-22 This collection draws together recent work by new and emerging scholars which examines the representation of alienation and resistance in texts and images both modern and traditional The essays collected here incorporate both high and low culture covering a wide range of disciplines from traditional literary sources to the more modern mediums of film and comic Informing each of the contributions is one overriding question what are the roles forms and conditions of alienation and resistance in our culture and its diverse media The contributors to this collection find examples of both alienation and resistance everywhere from sixteenth century drama to contemporary fiction from American comics to Eastern European cinema from representations of the body to the site of the body itself In seeking out these representations of alienation and resistance the essays begin also to probe the limits and limitations of such terms As such the collection as a whole offers both a broad overview of the field of play as it stands today and makes tentative suggestions as to potential paths of future inquiry
