A New Map of Wonders Caspar Henderson, 2017-11-15 Henderson teaches us how to wonder anew with a new vision of science illuminated by a rich range of literature philosophy art and music Hugh Aldersey Williams author of Dutch Light We live in a world that is known every corner thoroughly explored But has this knowledge cost us the ability to wonder Wonder Caspar Henderson argues is at its most supremely valuable in just such a world because it reaffirms our humanity and gives us hope for the future That's the power of wonder and that's what we should aim to cultivate in our lives But what are the wonders of the modern world Henderson's brilliant exploration borrows from the form of one of the oldest and most widely known sources of wonder maps Large detailed mappae mundi invited people in medieval Europe to vividly imagine places and possibilities they had never seen before manticores with the head of a man the body of a lion and the stinging tail of a scorpion tribes of one-eyed men who fought griffins for diamonds and fearsome Scythian warriors who drank the blood of their enemies from their skulls A New Map of Wonders explores these and other realms of the wonderful in different times and cultures and in the present day taking readers from Aboriginal Australian landscapes to sacred sites in Great Britain all the while keeping sight questions such as the cognitive basis of wonder and the relationship between wonder and science Beautifully illustrated and written with wit and moral complexity this sequel to The Book of Barely Imagined Beings is a fascinating account of the power of wonder and an unforgettable meditation on its importance to our future

Representing the Exotic and the Familiar Meenakshi Bharat, Madhu Grover, 2019-11-28 The multicultural world of today is often said to be marked by a certain kind of exoticization a fetishizing process as Graham Huggan has called it which separates a first world from a third world the Occident from the Orient The essays collected here reassess this tendency not least by focusing on the kinds of intellectual tourism and dilettantism to which it has given rise The wider context of these analyses is a postcolonial scenario where literatures and languages can move from the exotic to the comparatively familiar space of contemporary writings where an exotic mythos can live on into the familiar present and where certain perceptions and representations of peoples of literatures and of languages have turned exoticization and familiarization into global modes of mass cultural consumption Especially by exploring the liminalities between different cultures this collection manages to trace both the history and the politics of exoticist representation and in so doing to make a significant critical intervention
