W. Kent, 2007-02-01 In the past half century scholars have downplayed the significance of Lorenzo de Medici 1449-1492 called the Magnificent as a patron of the arts Less wealthy than his grandfather Cosimo the argument goes Lorenzo was far more interested in collecting ancient objects of art than in commissioning contemporary art or architecture His earlier reputation as a patron was said to be largely a construct of humanist exaggeration and partisan deference Although some recent studies have taken issue with this view no synthesis of Lorenzo as art patron and art lover has yet emerged In Lorenzo de Medici and the Art of Magnificence historian F W Kent offers a new look at Lorenzo's relationship to the arts aesthetics collecting and building especially in the context of his role as the political boss maestro della bottega of republican Florence and a leading player in Renaissance Italian diplomacy As a result of this approach which pays careful attention to the events of his short but dramatic life a radically new chronology of Lorenzo's activities as an art patron emerges revealing them to have been more extensive and creative than previously thought Kent's Lorenzo was broadly interested in the arts and supported efforts to beautify Florence and the many Medici lands and palaces His expertise was well regarded by guildsmen and artists who often turned to him for advice as well as for patronage Lorenzo himself was educated in the arts by such men and Kent explores his aesthetic education and taste taking into account what is known of Lorenzo's patronage of music and manuscripts and of his own creative work as a major Quattrocento poet Richly illustrated with photographs of Medici landmarks by Ralph Lieberman Lorenzo de Medici and the Art of Magnificence offers a masterful portrait of Lorenzo as a man whose achievements might have rivaled his grandfather's had he not died so young [Lorenzo il Magnifico e il Rinascimento fiorentino. In the twenty odd years of his rule, this banker, politician, international diplomat, free-wheeling poet and songwriter and energetic revolutionary helped to give shape, tone and tempo to that truly dazzling time of Western history, the Renaissance. This lovely book provides an introduction to the activities of the leading artists active in Florence during one decade of the quattrocento. It illustrates their special contributions and highlights their differences, common sources and ambitions, and responses to each other. It also explains how their art was made within the framework established by the religious, political and social needs of powerful Florentine families. This was an era when Lorenzo de Medici and his allies were working to consolidate their dominance in Florence, and cultivation of the visual arts was an essential part of the way in which they asserted their influence. Competition and collaboration were encouraged between artists, as was innovation in subject and technique. The book concentrates on the art of Andrea Verrocchio, Antonio and Piero Pollaiuolo, Sandro Botticelli and Filippino Lippi. Their paintings are presented within the context of the other arts practiced in the same or in neighboring workshops, and a number of works in other media are included: sculpture and objects in marble, bronze and clay; manuscript illumination; medals; engravings and drawings. Among the drawings discussed are some by the young Leonardo who worked with Verrocchio and was responsive to the art of the Pollaiuolo brothers during this period.
