Urban Design Ecologies Brian McGrath, 2013-01-14 The discipline of urban design is undergoing a rapid expansion and realignment It is experiencing a shift from a profession dominated by architects and planners directed at urban development to a more expansive set of practices engaging new forms of social and environmental ecologies as cities worldwide adapt to economic restructuring mass migrations and climate change Bringing together classic and new texts from the last 40 years this AD Reader focuses attention on the critical tools needed to understand how cities have been designed and constructed and then changed over time This enables new ways of envisioning how cities must be conceived and adapted in the future to the dual conditions of rapid urbanisation and economic restructuring coupled with unpredictable environmental conditions due to climate change With its emphasis on both urban design and the ecological this book brings together key articles that point the way forward for reconciling the often conflicting concerns of urbanism and environmentalism Twenty three texts are organised into four distinct sections covering metropolitan architecture the sprawling megalopolis the megacity and the recently emerging metacity These are broadly chronological and highlight the recent thinking behind some of the key urban developments ranging from the art of traditional city making covered by European architects and historians in the late 20th century to contemporary Tokyo described by Atelier Bow Wow Features original texts from Reyner Banham Rem Koolhaas Aldo Rossi Colin Rowe David Grahame Shane Bernard Tschumi Oswald Mathias Ungers and Robert Venturi Denise Scott Brown and Steven Izenour Contains newly commissioned texts from Mary Cadenasso Sharon Haar and Victoria Marshall Carlos Leite Steward TA Pickett and Albert Pope Includes new translations of important essays by Vittorio Gregotti and Paola Vigan Topics range from the European historic city to the Las Vegas Strip and the megacity of S o Paulo taking in the global sustainable city City, Climate, and Architecture Sascha Roesler, 2022-06-21 The publication rethinks climate control a key concern of the discipline of architecture through the lens of city climate phenomena over the course of the 20th century Based on a history of climate control on urban scales it promotes the integration of indoors and outdoors in order to reduce environmental and thermal loads in cities Just as heating and cooling practices inside the buildings are affecting the urban climate outdoors urban heat islands are influencing the energy requirements and thermal conditions inside the buildings While the first part of the book focuses on the interwar period in Europe the publication s second part considers examples from all over the globe tracing the growing significance of ecological thinking for the design of urban environments Urban Ecology and Intervention in the 21st Century Americas Allison M. Schifani, 2020-12-28 This book takes a hemispheric approach to contemporary urban intervention examining urban ecologies communication technologies and cultural practices in the twenty first century It argues that governmental and social regimes of control and forms of political resistance converge in speculation on disaster and that this convergence has formed a vision of urban environments in the Americas in which forms of play and imaginations of catastrophe intersect in the vertical field Schifani explores a diverse range of resistant urban interventions imagining the city as on the verge of or enmeshed in catastrophe She also presents a model of ecocriticism that addresses aesthetic practices and forms of play in the urban environment Tracing the historical roots of such tactics as well as mapping their hopes for the future will help the reader to locate the impacts of climate change not only on the physical space of the city but also on the epistemological and aesthetic strategies that cities can help to engender This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of Urban Studies Media Studies American Studies Global Studies and the broad and interdisciplinary field of Environmental Humanities Formulations Andrew Witt, 2022-01-11 An investigation of mathematics as it was drawn encoded imagined and interpreted by architects on the eve of digitization in the mid twentieth century In Formulations Andrew Witt examines the visual methodological and cultural intersections between architecture and mathematics The linkages Witt explores involve not the mystic transcendence of numbers invoked throughout architectural history but rather architecture s encounters with a range of calculational systems techniques that architects inventively retooled for design Witt offers a catalog of mid twentieth century practices of mathematical drawing and calculation in design that preceded and anticipated digitization as well as an account of the formal compendia that became a cultural currency shared between modern mathematicians and modern architects Witt presents a series of extensively illustrated biographies of method episodes that chart the myriad ways in which mathematics particularly the mathematical notion of modeling and drawing was spliced into the creative practice of design These include early drawing machines that mechanized curvature the incorporation of geometric maquettes theorems made flesh into the toolbox of design the virtualization of buildings and landscapes through surveyed triangulation and photogrammetry formal and functional topology stereoscopic drawing the economic implications of cubic matrices and a strange synthesis of the technological mineral and biological crystallographic design Trained in both architecture and mathematics Witt uses mathematics as a lens through which to understand the relationship between architecture and a much broader set of sciences and visual techniques Through an intercultural exchange with other disciplines he argues architecture adapted not only the shapes and surfaces of mathematics but also its values and epistemic ideals

Ecology of Fear Mike Davis, 2014-01-14 Rich with detail bold and original Mike Davis's Ecology of Fear is a gripping reconnaissance into the urban future an essential portrait of America at the millennium Los Angeles has become a magnet for the American apocalyptic imagination Riot fire flood earthquake only locusts are missing from the almost biblical list of disasters that have struck the city in the 1990s From Ventura to Laguna more than one million Southern Californians have been directly touched by disaster related death injury or damage to their homes and businesses Middle class apprehensions about angry underclasses are exceeded only by anxieties about blind thrust faults underlying downtown L A or about the firestorms that periodically incinerate Malibu And the force of real catastrophe has been redoubled by the obsessive fictional destruction of Los Angeles by aliens comets and twisters in scores of novels and films The former Land of Sunshine is now seen by much of the world including many of L A's increasingly nervous residents as a veritable Book of the Apocalypse theme park In this extraordinary book Mike Davis the author of City of Quartz and our most fascinating interpreter of the American metropolis unravels the secret political history of disaster real and imaginary in Southern California As he surveys the earthquakes of Santa Monica the burning of Koreatown the invasion of man eating mountain lions the movie Volcano and even Los Angeles's underrated tornado problem he exposes the deep complicity between social injustice and perceptions of natural disorder Arguing that paranoia about nature obscures the fact that Los Angeles has deliberately put itself in harm's way Davis reveals how market driven urbanization has for generations transgressed against environmental common sense And he shows that the floods fires and earthquakes reaped by the city were tragedies as avoidable and unnatural as the beating of Rodney King and the ensuing explosion in the streets

Revealing the Natural Processes of the Los Angeles River Through Its Connections to the Surrounding Urban Environment Ying-Ling Sun, 2000 LA Forum Reader The Los Angeles Forum for Architecture and Urban Design, 2018-04-01 The LA Forum Reader brings together three decades of discursive writings and publications on architecture urbanism and Los Angeles culled from the archives of the Los Angeles Forum for Architecture and Urban Design Published under thematic sections Experiments Detours Hunches and Santa Anas with interludes dedicated to Art and

Architecture Downtown and the long running LA Forum Newsletter the collected essays and interviews track an uneven and lesser known history of experimental architecture postmodern geographies and alternative urbanism in L A as told by the city's key designers and thinkers Today Los Angeles is a major architectural and urban player but for decades the city was dismissed suburban and centerless In republishing three decades of material on architecture and design in Los Angeles the LA Forum Reader reclaims and reconsiders the city's architectural and discursive histories It establishes or reestablishes a textual context for critical experimentation and urban investigation This anthological volume includes essays interviews and reproductions of publications that have long been out of print including pamphlets by Craig Hodgetts and Margaret Crawford as well as early writings by Aaron Betsky and John Chase

Ecological Urbanism: The Nature of the City Susannah Hagan, 2014-09-15 Ecological Urbanism The Nature of the City asks the questions that are important inside and outside the built environment professions what are climate change urbanisation and ecology doing to the theory and practice of urban design How does Ecological Urbanism figure in this change What is Ecological Urbanism In answer this book is neither definitive impossible when a subject is still in motion nor encyclopaedic equally impossible when so much has been written on almost every aspect of these essays Instead it seeks to rebalance the ecological narrative and its embryonic modes of practice with the narratives of urbanism and its older deeply embedded modes of practice It examines the implications for cities and the designers of cities now we are required to again address their metabolic as well as social and formal dimensions and it explores the extent to which environmental engineering and natural systems design can and should become drivers for the remaking of cities in the 21st century Above all it argues that sooner rather than later urbanism needs to become environmentally literate and environmental design needs to become culturally literate

Feminist Political Ecology Dianne Rocheleau, Barbara Thomas-Slayter, Esther Wangari, 2013-04-15 Feminist Political Ecology explores the gendered relations of ecologies economies and politics in communities as diverse as the rubber tappers in the rainforests of Brazil to activist groups fighting racism in New York City Women are often at the centre of these struggles struggles which concern local knowledge everyday practice rights to resources sustainable development environmental quality and social justice The book bridges the gap between the academic and rural orientation of political ecology and the largely activist and urban focus of environmental justice movements

Urban Ecology Pedro Barbose, 2020-11-04 Today 55% of the world s human population lives in urban areas By 2030 up to 90% of the global human population will live in cities and the global population is expected to increase by 68% by 2050 Although land cover categorized as urban is a relatively small fraction of the total surface of the Earth urban areas are major driving forces in global environmental change habitat loss threats to biodiversity and the loss of terrestrial carbon stored in vegetation biomass These and many other factors highlight the need to understand the broad scale impacts of urban expansion as it effects the ecological interactions between humans wildlife and plant communities The book stresses the importance of understanding ecological forces and ecosystem services in urban areas and the integration of ecological concepts in urban planning and design The creation of urban green spaces is critical to the future of urban areas enhancing human social organization human health and quality of life Resilience in Ecology and Urban Design S.T.A. Pickett, M.L.

Cadenasso, Brian McGrath, 2013-01-13 The contributors to this volume propose strategies of urgent and vital importance that aim to make today's urban environments more resilient Resilience the ability of complex systems to adapt to changing conditions is a key frontier in ecological research and is especially relevant in creative urban design as urban areas exemplify complex systems With something approaching half of the world's population now residing in coastal urban zones many of which are vulnerable both to floods originating inland and rising sea levels making urban areas more robust in the face of environmental threats must be a policy ambition of the highest priority The complexity of urban areas results from their spatial heterogeneity their intertwined material and energy fluxes and the integration of social and natural processes All of these features can be altered by intentional planning and design The complex integrated suite of urban structures and processes together affect the adaptive resilience of urban systems but also presupposes that planners can intervene in positive ways As examples accumulate of linkage between sustainability and building landscape design such as the Shanghai Chemical Industrial Park and Toronto's Lower Don River area this book unites the ideas data and insights of ecologists and related scientists with those of urban designers It aims to integrate a formerly atomized dialog to help both disciplines promote urban resilience The Ecology of Plant Chemistry and How It Drives Multi-Species Interactions Massuo J.

Kato, Tara J. Massad, Mariana A. Stanton, Daniel G. Vassão, Lydia F. Yamaguchi, 2019-11-28 Classic Maya Political Ecology Jon C. Lohse, 2013-12-31 Data spanning the Archaic to Early Postclassic are presented with particular analytical focus given to the end of the Early Classic through the Late and Terminal Classic and the geopolitical tumult that defined this period Cast in the framework of political ecology together these studies not only shed light on specific class histories of the region They also advance a theory for understanding the contributions of non elites to political growth and change over time Classic Maya Political Ecology opens a window into pre Columbian political processes grounded in environmental productivity and a mutual interdependence that defined class relations in northwestern Belize This volume also outlines a theoretical approach that defines commoners and elites alike as political actors people who contributed to the long term success and adaptability of local and regional political communities and the networks that sustained them Ecology and the Architectural Imagination Brook Muller, 2014-02-24 By including ecological concerns in the design process from the outset architecture can enhance life Author Brook Muller understands how a designer's predispositions and poetic judgement in dealing with complex and dynamic ecological systems impact the greenness of built outcomes Ecology and the Architectural Imagination offers a series of speculations on architectural possibility when ecology is embedded from conceptual phases onward how notions of function and structure of ecosystems can inspire ideas of architectural space making and order and how the architect's role and contribution can shift through this engagement As an ecological architect
