Gibbon,1893 The Death Penalty's Denial of Fundamental Human Rights John Bessler,2022-12-15 The Death Penalty's Denial of Fundamental Human Rights details how capital punishment violates universal human rights to life to be free from torture and other forms of cruelty to be treated in a non arbitrary non discriminatory manner and to dignity In tracing the evolution of the world's understanding of torture which now absolutely prohibits physical and psychological torture the book argues that an immutable characteristic of capital punishment already outlawed in many countries and American states is that it makes use of death threats Mock executions and other credible death threats in fact have long been treated as torturous acts When crime victims are threatened with death and are helpless to prevent their deaths for example courts routinely find such threats inflict psychological torture With simulated executions and non lethal corporal punishments already prohibited as torturous acts death sentences and real executions the book contends must be classified as torturous acts too Nasty, Brutish, and Short Scott Hershovitz,2023-05-02 Named a Best Book of 2022 by NPR This amazing new book takes us on a journey through classic and contemporary philosophy powered by questions like What do we have the right to do When is it okay to do this or that They explore punishment and authority and sex and gender and race and the nature of truth and knowledge and the existence of God and the meaning of life and Scott just does an incredible job Ryan Holiday The Daily Stoic Some of the best philosophers in the world gather in surprising places preschools and playgrounds They debate questions about metaphysics and morality even though they've never heard those words and can't tie their shoes They're kids And as University of Michigan professor of philosophy and law Scott Hershovitz shows they can help grown ups solve some of life's greatest mysteries Hershovitz has two young sons Rex and Hank From the time they could talk he noticed that they raised philosophical questions and tried to answer them They're created ancient arguments and advanced entirely new ones That's not unusual Hershovitz says Every kid is a philosopher Powered by questions like Does Hank have the right to drink soda Is it ever okay to swear and Does the number six exist the Hershovitzes take us on a fun romp through classic and contemporary philosophy If we join kids on philosophical adventures Hershovitz argues we can become sharper thinkers and recapture their wonder at the world Valerie, Or The Treasured Tokens James Remington Fairlamb,1879 Bound Together Hugh Conway,1884 Unconditional? Brian Zahnd,2011-01-04 If Christianity is to be a compelling and relevant voice in the 21st century Zahnd asserts it needs a fresh message not a new innovation or novel interpretation but a return to its roots The Punishment Response Graeme Newman,2017-07-28 Punishment occupies a central place in our lives and attitudes We suffer a profound ambivalence about its moral consequences Persons who have been punished or are liable to be punished have long objected to the legitimacy of punishment We are all objects of punishment yet we are also its users Our ambivalence is so profound that not only do we punish others but we punish ourselves as well We view those who submit too willingly to punishment as obedient verging on the groveling coward and we view those who resist punishment as disobedient rebels In The Punishment Response Graeme Newman describes the uses of punishment and how these uses change over time Some argue that punishment promotes discrimination and divisiveness in society Others claim that it is through punishment that order and legitimacy are upheld It is important that punishment is understood as neither one nor the other it is both This point simple though it seems has never really been addressed This is why Newman claims we wax and wane in our uses of punishment why punishing institutions are clogged by bureaucracy why the death penalty comes and goes like the tide Graeme Newman emphasizes that punishment is a cultural process and also a mechanism of particular institutions of which criminal law is but one Because academic discussions of punishment have been confined to legalistic preoccupations much of the policy and justification of punishment have been based on discussions of extreme cases The use of punishment in the sphere of crime is an extreme unto itself since crime is a minor aspect of daily life The uses of punishment and the moral justifications for punishment within the family and school have rarely been considered certainly not to the exhaustive extent that criminal law has been in this outstanding work
