Los Angeles In Fiction:

Los Angeles in Fiction David M. Fine, 1984      Imagining Los Angeles David Fine, 2016-06-01 The literary image of Los Angeles has evolved since the 1880s from promotional literature that hyped the region as a New Eden to contemporary visions of the city as a perplexing sometimes corrupt even apocalyptic place that reflects all that is wrong with America In Imagining Los Angeles the first literary history of the city in more than fifty years critic David Fine traces the history and mood of the place through the work of writers as diverse as Helen Hunt Jackson Mary Austin Norman Mailer Raymond Chandler Joan Didion Carolyn See and many others His lively and engaging text focuses on the way these writers saw Los Angeles and used the image of the city as an element in their work and on how that image has changed as the city itself became ever larger more complex and more socially and ethnically diverse This is essential reading for anyone interested in the literature and changing image of Southern California      Los Angeles Peter Moore Smith, 2005 A beautiful neighbor's arrival and her eerie disappearance knocks Angel Veronchek's solitary reclusive life off balance and plunges him into the sinister world of Los Angeles nights a world of secrets that aren't meant to be told and people who aren't meant to be found

Los Angeles Stories Robert Noyola, 2002-05-24 Los Angeles is a city of losers Robert Mitchum Fourteen million inhabitants in Los Angeles county in a battle for survival Three million people within the city limits of Los Angeles compete for jobs space food water air and are seduced and overwhelmed by exiting living in Los Angeles with too much luxury that exhausts the human spirit This is a collection of short stories about the characters that Robert Noyola knew and lived among during his years in Los Angeles The final story The Golden Triangle is an accurate fictionalization of the history of his hometown of Port Arthur Texas Where he finally returned after retiring in Los Angeles California then moving to El Paso Texas      The Road to Los Angeles John Fante, 2010-05-18 I had a lot of jobs in Los Angeles Harbor because our family was poor and my father was dead My first job was ditchdigging a short time after I graduated from high school Every night I couldn't sleep from the pain in my back We were digging an excavation in an empty lot there wasn't any shade the sun came straight from a cloudless sky and I was down in that hole digging with two huskies who dug with a love for it always laughing and telling jokes laughing and smoking bitter tobacco

Crime Fiction John Scaggs, 2005 Provides a lively introduction to what is both a wide ranging and hugely popular literary genre Accessible and clear this comprehensive overview is the essential guide for all those studying crime fiction      Los Angeles stories Ry Cooder, 2012

American Women Writing Fiction Mickey Pearlman, 2014-10-17 American literature is no longer the refuge of the solitary hero Like the society it mirrors it is now a far richer many faceted explication of a complicated and diverse society racially culturally and ethnically interwoven and at the same time fractured and fractious Ten women writing fiction in America today Toni Cade Bambara Joan Didion Louise Erdrich Gail Godwin Mary Gordon Alison Lurie Joyce Carol Oates Jayne Anne Phillips Susan Fromberg Schaeffer and Mary Lee Settle represent that geographic ethnic and racial diversity that is distinctively American Their differing perspectives on literature and the American experience have produced Erdrich's stolid North Dakota plainswomen Didion's sun-baked dreamers and screamers the urban ethnics Irish Jewish and black of Gordon Schaeffer and Barbara Oates's small town often violent neurotics Lurie's intellectual sophisticates and the southern survivors and victims male and female of Phillips Settle and Godwin The ten original essays in this collection focus on the traditional themes of identity memory family and enclosure that pervade the fiction of these writers The fictional women who emerge here as these critics show are often caught in the interwoven strands of memory perceive literal and emotional space as entrapping find identity elusive and frustrating and experience the interweaving of silence solitude and family in complex patterns Each essay in this collection is followed by bibliographies of works by and about the writer in question that will be invaluable resources for scholars and general readers alike Here is a readable critical discussion of ten important contemporary novelists who have broadened the pages of American literature to reflect more clearly the people we are Southland Nina Revoyr, 2003-04-01

Nina Revoyr brings us a compelling story of race love murder and history against the backdrop of Los Angeles Winner of a 2004 American Library Association Stonewall Honor Award in Literature Winner of the 2003 Lambda Literary Award Nominated for an Edgar Award The plot line of Southland is the stuff of a James Ellroy or a Walter Mosley novel But the climax fairly glows with the good-heartedness that Revoyr displays from the very first page Los Angeles Times Jackie Ishida's grandfather had a store in Watts where four boys were killed during the riots in 1965 a mystery she attempts to solve New York Times Book Review included in Where Noir Lives in the City of Angels Nina Revoyr brings us a compelling story of race love murder and history against the backdrop of Los Angeles A young Japanese American woman Jackie Ishida is in her last semester of law school when her grandfather Frank Sakai dies unexpectedly While trying to fulfill a request from his will Jackie discovers that four black teenagers were killed in the store he ran during the Watts Riots of 1965 and that the murders were never solved or reported Along with James Lanier a cousin of one of the victims she tries to piece together the story of the boys' deaths In the process Jackie unearths the long held secrets of her family's history and her own Moving in and out of the past from the shipping yards and internment camps of World War II to the barley fields of the Crenshaw District in the 1930s to the mean streets of Watts in the 1960s to the night spots and garment factories of the 1990s Southland weaves a tale of Los Angeles in all of its faces and forms Animals in Detective Fiction Ruth Hawthorn, John Miller, 2022-12-06

This book explores the vast array of animals that populate detective fiction If the genre begins as is widely supposed with Edgar Allan Poe's Murders in the Rue Morgue 1841 then detective fiction's very first culprit is an animal Animals moreover consistently appear as victims clues and companions while the abstract conception of animality is closely tied to the idea of criminality Although it is often described as an essentially conservative form detective fiction can unsettle the binary of human and animal to intersect with developing concerns in animal studies animal agency the ethical complexities of human animal interaction the politics and literary aesthetics of violence and animal metaphor Gathering its 14 essays into sections on ontologies ethics politics and forms Animals in Detective Fiction provides a compelling and nuanced analysis of the central role creatures play in this enduringly popular and continually morphing literary form

The Columbia History of the American Novel Emory Elliott, 1991 Designed as a companion to The Columbia Literary History of the United States this compilation of 31 major essays covers the American novel from the 1700s to the present although the majority deal with the 20th century Within each era themes genres and topics such as realism gender romance and technology are discussed in depth as well as modern Canadian Caribbean and Latin American fiction Each essayist selects only the authors who best illustrate the topic thus subtly skewing the view of the literary scene at that time The volume also covers women minorities popular fiction and the book marketplace ISBN 0 231 07360 7 59 95
