Lost In The Air:

The Lost Art of Finding Our Way John Edward Huth, 2013-05-15 Long before GPS Google Earth and global transit humans traveled vast distances using only environmental clues and simple instruments John Huth asks what is lost when modern technology substitutes for our innate capacity to find our way Encyclopedic in breadth weaving together astronomy meteorology oceanography and ethnography The Lost Art of Finding Our Way puts us in the shoes ships and sleds of early navigators for whom paying close attention to the environment around them was quite literally a matter of life and death Haunted by the fate of two young kayakers lost in a fog bank off Nantucket Huth shows us how to navigate using natural phenomena the way the Vikings used the sunstone to detect polarization of sunlight and Arab traders learned to sail into the wind and Pacific Islanders used underwater lightning and read waves to guide their explorations Huth reminds us that we are all navigators capable of learning techniques ranging from the simplest to the most sophisticated skills of direction finding Even today careful observation of the sun and moon tides and ocean currents weather and atmospheric effects can be all we need to find our way Lavishly illustrated with nearly 200 specially prepared drawings Huth's compelling account of the cultures of navigation will engross readers in a narrative that is part scientific treatise part personal travelogue and part vivid re creation of navigational history Seeing through the eyes of past voyagers we bring our own world into sharper view

Bulletin , 1939 The Lost Battalion and the Meuse-Argonne, 1918 Micheal Clodfelter, 2007-01-01 This volume with exhaustive on site research details America's last major offensive of World War I the Battle of the Meuse Argonne which took place from September 26 through November 11 1918 It examines the movements and countermovements that comprised the still unequaled conflict of the Argonne Forest The main focus of the work is the five day isolation and besiegement of the so called Lost Battalion From October 2 to 5 Major Charles Whittlesey and 554 men were cut off from all other U S units and attacked by German forces in an area known as The Pocket Written with a view toward bringing this legendary tale to a more personal level the work creates a vivid picture of the men who lived fought and died in the final all consuming battle of World War I [Annual Report of the North Carolina Corporation Commission for the Year Ending North Carolina. Army Air Force renewed daylight bombing with tactics of attacking in large formations of Boeing B17 Flying Fortresses with heavy machine guns for defensive cover but against experienced Luftwaffe pilots losses again mounted to unsustainable levels The author gives a stunning picture of air crew experience in which the reader can feel personally involved Development of the P51 continued and this must be one of the success stories of the air war Rolles Royce approved the admirable air frame and substituted the RR Merlin engine for the inadequately supercharged Alison engine Merlin engines had been fitted in the Hawker Hurricane Supermarine Spitfires de Havilland Mosquito and Avro Lancaster The result was the Mustang as a virtually unbeatable high altitude dogfighter with large fuel tanks giving a huge radius of action So here was a world class strategic fighter which could protect strategic bombers to the target and home again The P51 Mustang was the single engine fighter with strategic capability that transformed strategic bombing as a war winning campaign in Europe Here is the essential difference between strategy and tactics and connection with concepts of offensive and defensive and the unique role of the P51
