Terror, Love and Brainwashing Alexandra Stein, 2021-03-17 This book explains how people can be radically manipulated by extreme groups and leaders to engage in incomprehensible and often dangerous acts through psychologically isolating situations of extreme social influence. These methods are used in totalitarian states, terrorist groups and cults as well as in controlling personal relationships. Illustrated with compelling stories from a range of cults and totalitarian systems, Stein's book defines and analyses the common identifiable traits that underlie these groups, emphasizing the importance of maintaining open yet supportive personal networks. Using original attachment theory based research, this book highlights the dangers of closed isolating relationships and the closed belief systems that justify them and demonstrates the psychological impact of these environments, ending with evidence based recommendations to support an educational approach to awareness and prevention. Featuring a foreword by John Horgan, the new edition has been fully updated to include recent work on political extremism and radicalization and totalitarian systems as well as the recent highly publicized NXIVM case. Terror Love and Brainwashing, second edition is essential reading for professionals, policy makers, legal professionals, educators and cult survivors and their families themselves.

More Goodnight Stories BPI, More Goodnight Stories is a selection of some of the best stories for children. These interesting stories amuse, entertain and teach important life lessons. The colourful illustrations will keep children engrossed and glued to the book for hours.

The Lost Girls of Camp Forevermore: Compelling campsite crime thriller Kim Fu, 2019-02-15. Kim Fu skillfully measures how long and loudly one formative moment can reverberate. Celeste Ng's A Group of Young Girls descends on a sleepaway camp where their days are filled with swimming lessons, friendship bracelets and songs by the fire. Filled with excitement and nervous energy, they set off on an overnight kayaking trip to a nearby island. But before the night is over, they find themselves stranded with no adults to help them survive or guide them home. The Lost Girls of Camp Forevermore traces these five girls through and beyond this fateful trip. We see them through successes and failures, loving relationships and heartbreaks; we see what it means to find and define oneself and the ways in which the same experience is refracted through different people. A portrait of friendship and of the families we build for ourselves and the pasts we can't escape. What Reviewers and Readers Say: A propulsive storyteller using clear and cutting prose. The New York Times: Fu precisely renders the banal humiliations of childhood, the chilling steps humans take to survive and the way time warps memory. Publishers Weekly: An ambitious and dynamic portrayal of the harm humans, even young girls, can do. Kirkus Review: The first truly great novel I've read in 2018. As intricately fashioned and as bold hearted as books by novelists who've been publishing for decades. Seattle Review of Books: Fu offers an unblinking view of the social and emotional survival of the fittest that all too often marks the female coming of age. Toronto Star: These portraits of sisterhood, motherhood, daughterhood, wifehood, girlfriendhood, independent womanhood and other female identified hoods sing and groan and scream with complexity and nuance and they make me want to read her next ten books. The Stranger: To say this is a story of survival is too simple. Fu avoids the obvious and tidy, allowing us to imagine what happens next. Winnipeg Free
