Lost Treasures of the Mediterranean World Robert Payne,1962      Re-storying Mediterranean Worlds Angela Biancofiore,Clément Barniaudy,2021-09-09 This book invites readers to think of Mediterranean cultures as interconnected worlds seen in light of how they evolve disappear are reborn and perpetually transform This perspective intends to build bridges between the Northern and Southern coasts of the sea in order to broaden and deepen our understanding of current evolutions in Mediterranean worlds at the cultural literary artistic and geopolitical levels As Paul Val ry suggested we can consider this plural space from the perspective of the intense cultural economic and human exchanges which have always characterized the Mare Nostrum We can also consider Mediterranean worlds within an open enactive process deeply exploring their evolution between nature and culture examining the natural environment and the transforming relationships between humans and non humans The writers and researchers in Re storying Mediterranean Worlds call for a dialog between the two coasts in order to connect what has been broken In this volume they highlight an intercultural and creolized conscience traversing the Mediterranean worlds including Italian French and Tunisian cultures but also migrations from to and within the region and transcending any idea of communitarian withdrawal These essays express the urgent need to shift from an understanding of migration as suffering to the notion that mobility is an unalienable right building foundations for a new idea of global citizenship      *Library Catalog of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York. Shifting Worlds, Shaping Fieldwork Susan

Ossman, 2021-04-19 Reflecting on fieldwork for the twenty-first century anthropologist and artist Susan Ossman invites readers on a journey across North Africa, Europe, the Middle East, and North America. She reveals that fieldwork today is not only about being immersed in a place or culture; instead, it is an active way of focusing attention and engendering encounters and experiences. She conceives a new kind of autoethnography, making art and ethnography equal partners. To follow three waves of her research on media, globalization, and migration, Ossman guides the reader through diverse settings, including a colonial villa in Casablanca, a Cairo beauty salon, a California mall turned gallery, the Berlin Wall, and Amsterdam's Hermitage museum. She delves into the entanglements of solitary research and collective action. This book is a primer for current anthropology and an invitation to artists and scholars to work across boundaries. It vividly shows how fieldwork can shape scenes for experiments with multiple outcomes, from conceptual advances to artworks, performances to dialogue and community making.

Discusses legendary and historical discoveries of treasure on land and under water.

The Mediterranean Muse Pasquale De Marco, 2025-07-25 The Mediterranean Sea has captivated hearts and minds for centuries with its beauty, culture, and history. It is a region where different worlds meet and mingle, where the past and present coexist, and where nature's bounty is celebrated. In this book, we will explore the many facets of the Mediterranean, from its stunning landscapes to its vibrant cities, from its rich history to its contemporary challenges. We will meet the people who live here and learn about their customs, traditions, and aspirations. We will also delve into the region's art, music, and cuisine, which have been shaped by centuries of cultural exchange. This book is a journey through the Mediterranean, a region that has always been a crossroads of civilizations. It is a place where different cultures have met and mingled, leaving behind a rich legacy of art, architecture, and cuisine. From the sun-drenched beaches of the Côte d'Azur to the snow-capped peaks of the Alps, from the bustling cities of Barcelona and Istanbul to the ancient ruins of Rome and Athens, the Mediterranean offers a wealth of experiences for visitors. In this book, we will take you on a journey through the Mediterranean, exploring its diverse landscapes, cultures, and histories. We will meet the people who live here and learn about their customs, traditions, and aspirations. We will also delve into the region's art, music, and cuisine, which have been shaped by centuries of cultural exchange. We hope that by doing so, we can help readers to gain a deeper understanding of the Mediterranean and its people. If you like this book, write a review.
