Missions Living Memorials:

Living Memorials Project, 2005 Living Memorials Project Erika S. Svendsen, 2005 Reviews the public spaces that have been created used or enhanced in memory lives lost from terrorists attacks of September 11 2001 Reports the results of a national registry that serves as an online inventory of living memorial sites and social motivations Through the first year of research more than 200 living memorials were located in every state in the U S This publication includes findings associated with research conducted in the first year of the multi year study One of the findings was that after September 11 2001 communities needed space space to create space to teach space to restore space to create a locus of control These social motivations formed the basis of patterned human responses observed throughout the nation A site typology emerged adhering to specific forms and functions that often reflected a variance in attitudes beliefs and social networks Women and Missions Lucia P. Towne, 1934 Launching the Dag Hammarskjöld Living Memorial Initiative Office of the Resident Coordinator, United Nations (Zambia), 2001 The Living Church Annual, 1922 The San Antonio Missions and their System of Land Tenure Félix D. Almaráz, Jr., 2013-09-06 San Antonio Texas is unique among North American cities in having five former Spanish missions San Antonio de Valero The Alamo founded in 1718 San Jos y San Miguel de Aguayo 1720 Nuestra Señora de la Purísima Concepción de Acuña 1731 San Juan Capistrano 1731 and San Francisco de la Espada 1731 These missions attract a good deal of popular interest but until this book they had received surprisingly little scholarly study The San Antonio Missions and Their System of Land Tenure a winner in the Presidio La Bahía Award competition looks at one previously unexamined aspect of mission history the changes in landownership as the missions passed from sacred to secular owners in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries Drawing on exhaustive research in San Antonio and Bexar County archives Félix Almaráz has reconstructed the land tenure system that began with the Spaniards' jurisprudential right of discovery and progressed through colonial development culminating with ownership of the mission properties under successive civic jurisdictions independent Mexico Republic of Texas State of Texas Bexar County and City of San Antonio Several broad questions served as focus points for the research What were the legal bases for the Franciscan missions as instruments of the Spanish Empire What was the extent of the initial land grants at the time of their establishment in the eighteenth century How were the missions' agricultural and pastoral lands configured And finally what impact has urbanization had upon the former Franciscan foundations The findings in this study will be valuable for scholars of Texas borderlands and Hispanic New World history Additionally genealogists and people with roots in the San Antonio missions area may find useful clues to family history in this extensive study of landownership along the banks of the Rio San Antonio

Forgotten Veterans, Invisible Memorials Allison S. Finkelstein, 2021-08-10 Investigates the groundbreaking role American women played in commemorating those who served and sacrificed in World War I In Forgotten Veterans Invisible Memorials How American Women Commemorated the Great War 1917-1945 Allison S. Finkelstein argues that American women activists considered their own community service and veteran advocacy to be forms of commemoration just as significant and effective as other more traditional forms of commemoration such as memorials Finkelstein employs the term veteranism to describe these women s overarching philosophy that supporting aiding and caring for those who served needed to be a chief concern of American citizens civic groups and the government in the war s aftermath However these women did not express their views solely through their support for veterans of a military service narrowly defined as a group predominantly composed of men and just a few women Rather they defined anyone who served or sacrificed during the war including women like themselves as veterans These women veteranists believed that memorialization projects that centered on the people who served and sacrificed was the most appropriate type of postwar commemoration They passionately advocated for memorials that could help living veterans and the families of deceased service members at a time when postwar monument construction surged at home and abroad Finkelstein argues that by rejecting or adapting traditional monuments or by embracing aspects of the living memorial building movement female veteranists placed the plight of all veterans at the center of their commemoration efforts Their projects included diverse acts of service and advocacy on behalf of people they considered veterans and their families as they pushed to infuse American memorial traditions with their philosophy In doing so these women pioneered a relatively new form of commemoration that impacted American practices of remembrance encouraging Americans to rethink their approach and provided new definitions of what constitutes a memorial In the process they shifted the course of American practices even though their memorialization methods did not achieve the widespread acceptance they had hoped it would Meticulously researched Forgotten Veterans Invisible Memorials utilizes little studied sources and reinterprets more familiar ones In addition to the words and records of the women themselves Finkelstein analyzes cultural landscapes and ephemeral projects to reconstruct the evidence of their influence Readers will come away with a better understanding of how American women supported the military from outside its ranks before they could fully serve from within principally through action based methods of commemoration that remain all the more relevant today
