Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1972 Site Matters Carol Burns, Andrea Kahn, 2005 This volume through theoretical essays and empirically grounded pieces on Le Corbusier's designs contemporary suburbs and the planning agendas of the World Trade Center site provides theory on the appreciation of site and context in architecture Modern Buildings in Britain Owen Hatherley, 2022-04-07 The definitive illustrated guide to modern British architecture from one of the most acclaimed critics at work today Modernism is now a century old and its consequences are all around us built into our everyday lived environments Its place in Britain's history is fiercely contested and its role in our future is the subject of ongoing controversy but modernist buildings have undoubtedly changed our cities politics and identity forever In Modern Buildings in Britain Owen Hatherley applauds the ambition and explores the significance of this most divisive of architectures travelling from Aberystwyth to Aberdeen from St Ives to Shetland in search of our most important and distinctive modern buildings Drawing on hundreds of examples we learn how the concrete of Brutalism embodies post war civic principles how corporate values were expressed in the glass facades of the International Style and why Ecomodernist experimentation is often consigned to the geographic fringes As Hatherley considers the social political and cultural value of these structures a number of which are threatened by demolition two linked questions emerge what happens to a building after it has been lived in and what becomes of an idea when its time has passed With more than six hundred pages of trenchantly opinionated often witty analysis and with three hundred photographs in duotone and colour Modern Buildings in Britain is a landmark contribution to the history of British architecture Special Relations Howard Malchow, 2011-02-18 A study of Anglo American cultural and countercultural exchange from the mid Fifties to the mid Seventies Special Relations explores aspects of London modernism the anti war movement student rebellion black power the second wave feminist and gay liberation movements and transatlantic nostalgia Demolishing Whitehall Adam Sharr, Stephen Thornton, 2013 This book is about a lost world albeit one less than 50 years old In the era of Harold Wilson's white heat architect Sir Leslie Martin proposed a grand plan to demolish and rebuild a swathe of historic Whitehall London's government district At once optimistic and paternalistic it simultaneously reinforced and challenged a rigidly hierarchical social order at the scales of building city and nation This project was never realized but nevertheless the plans and the political history surrounding them offer unique insights into Wilson's government Wilson's Britain and Martin's distinctive scientific model of architecture and more broadly into the connections between architecture politics and society Designing the British Post-War Home Fiona Fisher, 2015-04-10 In Designing the British Post War Home Fiona Fisher explores the development of modern domestic architecture in Britain through a detailed study of the work of the successful Surrey based architectural practice of Kenneth Wood Wood's firm is representative of a geographically distinct category of post war architectural and design practice that of the small private practice that flourished in Britain's expanding suburbs after the removal of wartime building restrictions Such firms which played an important role in the development of British domestic design are currently under represented within architectural histories of the period The private house represents an important site in which new spatial material and aesthetic parameters for modern living were defined after the Second World War Within a British context the architect designed private house remained an important vehicle for the investigation of architectural ideas by second generation modernist architects and designers Through a series of case study houses designed by Wood's firm the book reconsiders the progress of modern domestic architecture in Britain and demonstrates the ways in which architectural discourse and practice intersected with the experience performance and representation of domestic modernity in post war Britain
