

The book cover features a scenic photograph of a mountainous landscape. In the foreground, a small village with blue-roofed houses is nestled in a valley. A prominent church with a tall, dark steeple stands on a hill to the right. The background is dominated by steep, green mountains under a blue sky with scattered white clouds. A red diagonal banner in the top right corner contains the text 'Now with DVD-ROM' and a small DVD icon.

For Creative Geographies Harriet Hawkins, 2013-10-08. This book provides the first sustained critical exploration and celebration of the relationship between Geography and the contemporary Visual Arts. With the growth of research in the Geohumanities and the Spatial Humanities, there is an imperative to extend and deepen considerations of the form and import of geography-art relations. Such reflections are increasingly important as geography-art intersections come to encompass not only relationships built through interpretation but also those built through shared practices wherein geographers work as and with artists, curators, and other creative practitioners. For Creative Geographies features seven diverse case studies of artists' works and exhibitions made towards the end of the twentieth and the beginning of the twenty-first century. Organized into three analytic sections, the volume explores the role of art in the making of geographical knowledge, the growth of geographical perspectives as art-world analytics, and shared explorations of the territory of the body. In doing so, Hawkins proposes an analytic framework for exploring questions of the geographical work art does, the value of geographical analytics in exploring the production and consumption of art, and the different forms of encounter that artworks develop, whether this be with their audiences or their makers.

The Knowledge Web Marc Eisenstadt, Tom Vincent, 2000. First Published in 2000, Routledge is an imprint of Taylor & Francis, an information company. The Knowledge Web Eisenstadt, Marc, Vincent, Tom, 2012-10-12. Featuring contributions from staff and associates of the Knowledge Media Institute at the UK Open University, this text provides a glimpse into the wide variety of projects undertaken in the development and assessment of distance learning technologies.

The Software Encyclopedia 2001, 2001. Elemental Geosystems Robert W. Christopherson, 2007. Spatial Multimedia and Virtual Reality Antonio S. Camara, Jonathan Raper, 2021-04-29. The intersection of two disciplines and technologies which have become mature academic research topics in the 1990s was destined to be a dynamic area for collaboration and publication. However, until now, no significant book-length treatment of the meeting of GIS and Virtual Reality has been available. This volume puts that situation to rights by bringing these together to cement some common understanding and principles in a potentially highly promising area for technological collaboration and cross-fertilisation. The result is a volume which ranges in subject matter from studies of a Virtual GIS Room to Spatial Agents and from an Environmental Multimedia System to Computer-Assisted 3D Geographic Education. All the contributors are well-known international scientists, principally from the computational side of GIS. It will be a valuable resource for any GIS researcher or professional looking to understand the leading edge of this fertile field.
