On The Arm Of Time:

Ibogaine Geoffrey A. Cordell, 2001-09-28 This book presents the Proceedings from the First International Conference on Ibogaines held in November of 1999 at New York University's School of Medicine. In essence it presents significant new data on neurobiological, clinical, sociocultural, and policy aspects of ibogaine. Ibogaine is a natural product derived from the bark of the root of the African shrub Tabernaemontana. It has a history of use as a medicinal and ceremonial agent in West Central Africa and has been alleged to be effective as a treatment for substance dependence. The study of Ibogaine may shed light on the neurobiology of addiction and lead to the development of new medication for the treatment of addiction. Currently there is lack of formal approval for the use of ibogaine and the demand of the addicts themselves has led to a distinctive unofficial network which has provided ibogaine treatment in non medical settings. If critical safety concerns can be adequately addressed, ibogaine may provide an inexpensive and practical treatment approach well adapted to environments where resources are severely limited and there is pressing need for clinical services for heroin addicts such as Eastern Europe. This is a paperback edition of Volume 56 of The Alkaloids, ISBN 0 12 469556 6, edited by Geoffrey A. Cordell, University of Illinois at Chicago, U.S.A.

Disconnected Kids Robert Melillo, 2009 Offering a bold new understanding of the causes of such disorders as autism, ADHD, Asperger's, dyslexia, and OCD, an effective drug-free program addresses both the symptoms and causes of conditions involving a disconnection between the left and right sides of the developing brain, with customizable exercises, behavior modification advice, nutritional guidelines, and more.

Pharmacological Actions of Drugs in the Brain: Exploring the Intricacies and Potential Therapeutic Applications Christina Dalla, Giuseppe Di Giovanni, Tanya Calvey, Nouria Lakhdar-Ghazal, 2024-09-25 The study of pharmacological actions of drugs in the brain is a field that constantly uncovers new insights into the mechanisms of action behind various substances. This proposal aims to explore into the intriguing topics of psychedelics, cannabinoids, classical and novel antidepressants, anxiolytic treatments, and substances commonly associated with neuropsychiatric disorders such as alcohol, ketamine, and opiates. The ultimate goal is to unravel their neurological impacts, shed light on potential therapeutic applications, and explore their relationship with brain disorders while also investigating the influence of sex/gender on drug response. Biological differences between sexes can influence how medications are metabolized and processed in the body. Understanding these relationships and considering hormonal factors is crucial for optimizing treatment outcomes and tailoring medication regimens to individual needs.
