Public Sector Management in Australia Patrick Weller, Glyn Davis, John Wanna, 1992

Public sector management in Australia, 1996

Australian Handbook of Public Sector Management Sandra Nutley, John Halligan, 2020-07-25 This is an excellent do it yourself introductory study to public sector management covering a wide range of issues including recent public service reforms I recommend it to anyone interested in the practice and study of public sector management Tony Ayers National President Institute of Public Administration Australia The traditional view of public sector management is under challenge The shifting boundaries of the public private sector are transforming the nature of the public sector in the 21st century and placing increasing demands on managers This user friendly handbook examines the changes that have taken place over the last twenty years and addresses the practical issues faced by public servants today It makes abundant use of exhibits case studies and real world examples to illustrate key concepts in public sector management By including many points for reference the authors challenge readers to apply both theory and practice to those public services situations with which they are familiar Australian Handbook of Public Sector Management is a unique blend of academic and practical approaches to current management practices in the public sector It has been designed to assist students and those new to the public sector to develop the knowledge and skills they require to provide high quality public services

Public Sector Accounting and Accountability in Australia Warwick Funnell, Kathie Cooper, 1998

Accountability as it concerns the Commonwealth Government the obligation of governments to be financially accountable ways in which governments answer for the use of resources taken from the public to implement social and economic policies defining the public sector the significance of government the cycle of accountability in government the structure of Australian government

Competing for Influence Barry Ferguson, 2019-07-12 Amidst growing dissatisfaction with the state of government performance and an erosion of trust in our political class Competing for Influence asks what sort of public service do we want in Australia Drawing on his experience in both the public and private sectors and citing academic research across the fields of public sector management industrial organisation and corporate strategy Barry Ferguson argues the case for the careful selection and application of private sector management concepts to the public service both for their ability to strengthen the public service and inform public policy These include competitive advantage competitive positioning horizontal strategy and organisational design and innovation as an all encompassing organisational adjustment mechanism to a changeable environment But these are not presented as a silver bullet and Ferguson addresses other approaches to reform including the need to rebuild the Public Sector Act the need to reconsider the interface between political and administrative arms of government and determine what is in the public interest and the need for greater independence for the public service within a clarified role This approach and its implications for public sector reform is contrasted with the straitjacket of path dependency that presently constricts the field

Australian Public Sector Management David Charles Corbett,1996-01-01 Australian Public Sector Management is a primary textbook on public administration and management yet its style and appreciation of the practical issue make it a standard for the public sector manager Blending theory and practice David Corbett covers the critical problems facing the public sector at the federal state and local levels After introducing the framework of government and its stakeholders he explores strategic planning and budgeting guiding and managing people accountability and ethics funds management performance evaluation and uniquely decision making theory This second edition offers new chapters on privatisation regulation and the increasingly important issue of international public sector cooperation and structures
