Kress, Derrick Z. Jackson, 2015-01-01 The inspiring story of a young ornithologist who reintroduced puffins where none had been seen for a century Project Puffin is the inspiring story of how a beloved seabird was restored to long abandoned nesting colonies off the Maine coast As a young ornithology instructor at the Hog Island Audubon Camp Dr Stephen W Kress learned that puffins had nested on nearby islands until extirpated by hunters in the late 1800s To right this environmental wrong he resolved to bring puffins back to one such island Eastern Egg Rock Yet bringing the plan to reality meant convincing skeptics finding resources and inventing restoration methods at a time when many believed in letting nature take its course Today Project Puffin has restored more than 1 000 puffin pairs to three Maine islands But even more exciting techniques developed during the project have helped to restore rare and endangered seabirds worldwide Further reestablished puffins now serve as a window into the effects of global warming The success of Dr Kress s project offers hope that people can restore lost wildlife populations and the habitats that support them The need for such inspiration has never been greater Canon Daphne Kutzer, 2002-09-11 First Published in 2001 The Family in English Children's Literature Ann Alston, 2008-06-03 From the trials of families experiencing divorce as in Anne Fine's Madame Doubtfire to the childcare problems highlighted in Jacqueline Wilson's Tracy Beaker it might seem that the traditional family and the ideals that accompany it have long vanished. However in The Family in English Children's Literature Ann Alston argues that this is far from the case. She suggests that despite the tales of family woe portrayed in children's literature the desire for the happy contented nuclear family remains inherent within the ideological subtexts of children's literature. Using 1818 as a starting point Alston investigates families in children's literature at their most intimate focusing on how they share their spaces their ideals of home and even on what they eat for dinner. What emerges from Alston's study are not so much the contrasts that exist between periods but rather the startling similarities of the ideology of family intrinsic to children's literature. The Family in English Children's Literature sheds light on who maintains control who behaves and how significant children's literature is in shaping our ideas about what makes a family good. A Hundred Years of the Secret Garden Marion Gymnich, Imke Lichterfeld, 2012 Although Frances Hodgson Burnett published numerous works for an adult readership she is mainly remembered today for three novels written for children Little Lord Fauntleroy 1886 A Little Princess 1905 and The Secret Garden 1911. This volume is dedicated to The Secret Garden. The articles address a wide range of issues including the representation of the garden in Burnett's novel in the context of cultural history the relationship between the concept of nature and female identity the idea of therapeutic places the notion of redemptive children in The Secret Garden and Little Lord Fauntleroy the concept of male identity constructions of Otherness and the redefinition of Englishness film and anime versions of Burnett's classic Noel Streatfeild's The Painted Garden as a rewriting of The Secret Garden attitudes towards food in children's classics and Burnett's novel in the context of Edwardian girlhood fiction and the tradition of the female novel of development. Growing and Knowing: A Selection Guide for Children's Literature Mary Trim, 2005-04-25 No detailed description available for Growing and Knowing: A Selection Guide for Children's Literature. Teaching Reading Nicholas Bielby, 1999 The Teaching Primary English series is a completely new series of titles aimed at PGCE and BEd students and the practicing primary school teacher.
