Teaching Science Creatively Dan Davies, Deb McGregor, 2010-12-14 Offers ideas to involve your students and demonstrate the potential of creative teaching to develop children's knowledge, skills, understanding and attitudes. Underpinned by theory and research, it offers informed and practical support to both students in initial teacher education and practising teachers who want to develop their teaching. Illustrated by examples of children's work, this book explores the core elements of creative practice in relation to developing enthusiastic, passionate science learners. Serving Young Teens and 'Tweens Sheila B. Anderson, 2006-11-30 Notable teen experts and stellar practitioners from across the country explain why library service to adolescents in this age range is so important and how you can enhance your collection and services to accommodate and win over this important group. Topics range from understanding adolescent informational needs and building and promoting a winning collection to creating programs with tween appeal. Contributors include Sheila B. Anderson, James Rosinia, Deb Taylor, Robyn Lupa, and Kristine Mahood. Brimming with valuable insights and fresh ideas as well as nuts and bolts directions, this is a must read for all librarians who work with young adolescents. If someone is described as a young adult, what image comes to mind? In fact, a young adult can be a twelve-year-old middle schooler or a high school graduate. Libraries have traditionally offered a variety of programs and services for YAs, and although more emphasis has been given to serving teens in recent years, little has been done to distinguish between groups within the category and meet the specific developmental needs of this broad range of library users. This collection complements Anderson's previous collection Serving Older Teens by focusing on the needs of tweens and young teens, ages 11-14. This is the age range when many young people stop using the library and lose interest in reading. Notable teen experts and stellar practitioners from across the country explain why service to adolescents in this age range is so important and how you can enhance your collection and services to accommodate and win over this important group. Topics range from understanding adolescent informational needs and building and promoting a winning collection to creating programs with tween appeal. Contributors include Sheila Anderson, James Rosinia, Deb Taylor, Robyn Lupa, Brenda Hager, and Kristine Mahood. Brimming with valuable insights and fresh ideas as well as nuts and bolts directions, this is a must read for all librarians who work with young adolescents. Real-resumes for Teachers Anne McKinney, 2000 Applying for teaching and administrative positions in schools requires a specialized kind of resume. This guide offers advice along with actual examples of resumes and covering letters to help educators find the best opportunities available to them. Mindful Crafts as Therapy Cynthia Evetts, Suzanne Peloquin, 2017-04-28 Arts and crafts were one of the very first therapies employed by occupational therapists. Today, crafts are still employed as effective interventions for clients with mental health disorders, physical dysfunctions, cognitive issues, and sensory concerns in hospitals, outpatient clinics, veterans' centers, schools, skilled nursing facilities, or community settings. Step by step, the authors show you how to use a wide range of novel and highly engaging crafts. They explain how to connect the key tasks associated with an activity to functional outcomes and how to modify them to meet the specific needs of individual patients. They also address the issues of documentation and reimbursement
