Reconnecting Worship:

ReConnecting Worship Rob Weber, Stacy Hood, 2004-09 How does a congregation create a healthy balance of rich tradition and desired innovation Does rapid change make it necessary for congregations to be innovative in such things as worship and music styles Or should leaders make an effort to keep their congregation focused on the inherited traditions and practices of the church This kit is designed for pastors musicians worship teams worship committees and general church leadership all those who frequently find themselves in turmoil when caught between remaining faithful to their denominational roots for example Wesleyan Calvinist or Lutheran while engaging innovation Specific questions pertain to the use of new music and technology maintaining theological integrity as well as planning and facilitating a multifaceted approach to worship development These questions emerge from those trying to initiate change within an existing congregation as well as those starting new churches

Quicke, 2011-09-01 Much current literature on church worship rarely mentions preaching and vice versa Worship is often seen as restricted to music and liturgy while preaching is assumed to operate on different principles for different purposes But veteran preacher Michael Quicke argues that preaching should be viewed as worship as both worship and preaching belong within the same Trinitarian dynamic serving the same purpose and marked by similar characteristics Drawing on insights from wide ranging literature and practitioners on both sides of the gap this insightful book confronts and corrects ten characteristics of preaching that are disconnected from worship

Reconnect Your Church David Brown, 2023-02-16 Reconnect Your Church provides a practical road tested vision and process to equip church leaders to reinvigorate their church How can churches stay healthy and dynamic over the long term What s needed to avoid or reverse church stagnation and decline While some churches are vibrant and growing many more are struggling especially after Covid The congregation might be declining and ageing there s little success in reaching out to with the gospel and more time is spent on inward facing problems than loving God and loving others But the potential that could be released is huge David Brown draws on his experience revitalising a church in central Paris to offer a vision and a process for church revitalisation with a focus on UK and European contexts Whether you are church planting in a well established and thriving church or looking to turn around a church in decline Brown provides biblically grounded wisdom along with change management principles for long term health When we reapply God s priorities to the church we unleash new life and energy in following Christ in community
