Reconstructing Christian Theology:

Reconstructing Christian Theology Rebecca S. Chopp, Mark Lewis Taylor, Christian theology needs to be reconstructed in light of recent and momentous intellectual changes social revolutions and steep pedagogical challenges That is the conviction of many of North America s leading theologians whose close collaboration over several years bring us this exciting volume Reconstructing Christian Theology introduces theology in such a way that readers can discern the relevance of historical materials pose theological questions and begin to think theologically for themselves Further like other projects of the Workgroup on Constructive Theology this volume stems from a deep desire to model a credible creative and engaged contemporary theology So each chapter tackles major Christian teaching juxtaposes it with a significant social or cultural challenge and then reconstructs each in light of the other The result is an innovative and compelling way to learn how theology can contribute to rethinking the most pressing issues of our day Reconstructing a Christian Theology of Nature Revd Dr Anna Case-Winters, 2013-05-28 In the present ecological crisis it is imperative that human beings reconsider their place within nature and find new more responsible and sustainable ways of living Assumptions about the nature of God the world and the human being shape our thinking and consequently our acting Some have charged that the Christian tradition has been more a hindrance than a help because its theology of nature has unwittingly legitimated the exploitation of nature This book takes the current criticism of Christian tradition to heart and invites a reconsideration of the problematic elements its desacralization of nature its preoccupation with the human being to the neglect of the rest of nature its dualisms and elevation of the spiritual over material reality and its habit of ignoring or resisting scientific understandings of the natural world Anna Case Winters argues that Christian tradition has a more viable theology of nature to offer She takes a look at some particulars in Christian tradition as a way to illustrate the undeniable problems and to uncover the untapped possibilities In the process she engages conversation partners that have been sharply critical and particularly insightful feminist theology process thought and the religion and science dialogue The criticisms and insights of these partners help to shape a proposal for a reconstructed theology of nature that can more effectively fund our struggle for the fate of the earth

Reconstructing Theology Terence Bateman, 2014 Francis Schussler Fiorenza is one of the pivotal contemporary Roman Catholics working in the field of systematic theology and has made vital contributions to the discipline This book the first of its kind provides an overview of Fiorenza s theological biography from early influences and original insights to a comprehensively systematic project to reconstruct the foundations of theology and explicates the major contours of Fiorenza s vital contributions to theological method foundational systematic and constructive theology and the practical function of religion in society and politics As the author argues Fiorenza s vision is one of unrivaled clarity and coherence even more it follows a path of the shifting patterns in theology over the past half century thus shedding light upon the internal constitution of recent Catholic and Protestant theology Reconstructing a Christian Theology of Nature Anna

Case-Winters,2016-04-08 In the present ecological crisis it is imperative that human beings reconsider their place within nature and find new more responsible and sustainable ways of living Assumptions about the nature of God the world and the human being shape our thinking and consequently our acting Some have charged that the Christian tradition has been more a hindrance than a help because its theology of nature has unwittingly legitimated the exploitation of nature This book takes the current criticism of Christian tradition to heart and invites a reconsideration of the problematic elements its desacralization of nature its preoccupation with the human being to the neglect of the rest of nature its dualisms and elevation of the spiritual over material reality and its habit of ignoring or resisting scientific understandings of the natural world Anna Case Winters argues that Christian tradition has a more viable theology of nature to offer She takes a look at some particulars in Christian tradition as a way to illustrate the undeniable problems and to uncover the untapped possibilities In the process she engages conversation partners that have been sharply critical and particularly insightful feminist theology process thought and the religion and science dialogue The criticisms and insights of these partners help to shape a proposal for a reconstructed theology of nature that can more effectively fund our struggle for the fate of the earth

Constructing Constructive Theology Jason A. Wyman Jr. ,2017-07-15 To date constructive theology hasn't been viewed or conceptualized as a movement or trend in theology on its own as a whole Questions arise as to what constructive theology is where it came from why it considers itself constructive and why constructive is something different from the ways in which theology has been done in the past This book traces the overall historical arc of constructive theology from proto movement through the present Inklings of constructive theology emerged well before it began to take any formalized shape At the same time an important shift occurred when a group of theologians decided to create the Workgroup on Constructive Theology Further even as the workgroup continues to work collectively producing textbooks statements and methodologies concerning theology many theologians who are not part of the workgroup or may not even know it exists have adopted the moniker of constructive theologian The book also considers the term constructive itself offering possible reasons and historical contexts that led to this distinction being made in contrast to systematic theology and its subcategories Constructive theology speaks to a very specific historically situated emergence in the academy generally and in theology's attempts to engage those shifts specifically Reconstruction in Theology Henry Churchill King,1899 Reconstructing Christianity in China Philip L.

Wickeri,2015-03-04 Reconstructing Old Testament Theology Leo G. Perdue, In this informative and keen look at contemporary trends in Old Testament theology Perdue builds on his earlier volume The Collapse of History 1994 He investigates how a variety of perspectives and methodologies have impacted how the Old Testament is read in the twenty first century including literary criticism rhetorical criticism feminist womanist and mujerista theologies liberation theology Jewish theology postmodernism and postcolonialism Perdue provides a sensitive reading of the aims of these approaches as well as providing critique and setting them in their various cultural contexts In his conclusion the author provides a look at the future and how these various voices and approaches will continue to impact how we carry out Old Testament theology

Reconstructing Theology Tony Gray, Christopher Sinkinson, 2000 This book examines the past and present of the English parish system and proposes a new way of structuring the church in England rooted in the Anglo Saxon world The English parish is in a state of crisis Ideally suited to the static agricultural hierarchical society in which it developed it has become a severe impediment to the Church's work today It needs to change In this fascinating and insightful book Nick Spencer explores the parish's past present and future He shows that rather than being synonymous with English Christianity the parish was a comparatively late arrival on the scene and one whose main roots were economic and social rather than ecclesiastical He goes on to explain why the parish is now singularly inappropriate for modern ministry before proposing a genuine alternative based on the system of Anglo Saxon minster churches out of which parishes grew Mapping

Systematic Theology in Africa Ernst M Conradie, Charl E Fredericks, 2004-08-01 The emergence of an indigenous African theology especially since the 1960s is well documented A wealth of literature has been published in the context of African theology especially over the last two or three decades This indexed bibliography contains a number of publications in and for the African context specifically relevant to the fields of systematic theology and ethics Feminist Theologies Kerrie

Handasyde, Katharine Massam, Stephen Burns, 2024-09-30 Feminist Theologies A Companion explores the contemporary contours of the field With contributors from a diverse range of settings the volume captures the current diversity and richness of feminist theologies both in and beyond the academy Focusing both on theory and praxis chapters move from considering the outlines of the feminist agenda to exploring the relationship between academic feminist theology and ecclesial or personal spiritual and finally articulating how feminist theological outlooks manifest themselves in a variety of settings With contributions from Gina Zurlo Nancy Bedford Agnes Brazil Cathryn McKinney Rebekah Pryor Gale Yee Heather Eaton Al Barrett Simon Sutcliffe Hannah Bacon Lisa Isherwood Karen O Donnell Jane Chevous Alana Harris Antonia Sobocki Tina Beattie Janice McRandal Stephen Burns Cristina Lledo Gomez Michael W Brierley Claire Renkin HyeRan Kim Cragg Kerrie Handasyde Gail Ramshaw and Anne Elvey Chinese Public Theology Alexander Chow, 2018-01-26 It has been widely recognized that Christianity is the fastest growing religion in one of the last communist run countries of the world the People's Republic of China Yet it would be a mistake to describe Chinese Christianity as merely a clandestine faith or as hoped by the Communist Party of China a privatized religion Alexander Chow argues that Christians in mainland China have been constructing a more intentional public theology to engage the Chinese state and society since the end of the Cultural Revolution 1966-76 Chinese Public Theology recalls the events which have led to this transformation and examines the developments of Christianity across three generations of Chinese intellectuals from the state sanctioned Protestant church the secular academy and the growing urban renaissance in Calvinism Moreover Chow shows how each of these generations have provided different theological responses to the same sociopolitical moments of the last three decades This study illustrates how a growing understanding of Chinese public theology has been developed through a subconscious intermingling of Christian and Confucian understandings of public intellectualism. These factors result in a contextually unique understanding of public theology but also one which is faced by contextual limitations as well. With this in mind, Chow draws from the Eastern Orthodox doctrine of theosis and the Chinese traditional teaching of the unity of Heaven and humanity (Tian ren heyi) to offer a way forward in the construction of a Chinese public theology.

Towards a Christian Theology of African Ancestors Thomas Ochieng Otanga, 2023-04-21. This book examines the similarities and relationship between Christian saints and African ancestors. Further, it analyzes the deep cultural roots of African peoples and the ancestral frame as a point of departure for developing an indigenous African theology. Questions dealt with include: Does the conversion of Africans to Christianity require a break with their African cultural heritage? Who is an African ancestor? Is syncretism a good thing for an African Christian? What contribution can the African church make to the universal church? The author argues that rather than being antithetical to formal Christianity, an African Christian theology of ancestors is an example of how an indigenous African tradition can best express Christianity as well as make considerable impact on world Christianity.

Reconstructing the Common Good Gary J. Dorrien, 2008-05-01. This landmark study in the history and theory of modern Christian socialism examines the work of such major figures as Rauschenbusch, Tillich, Moltmann, Gutierrez, and Miguez Bonino. Dorrien argues that these theologians provide a singular context for addressing questions of freedom and totalitarianism, sacralization and democratization, individual autonomy and the common good. He focuses on the differing conceptions of the common good that these major theorists have propounded and explicates as well their theological arguments on the relationship between the Kingdom of God and projects of historical praxis. With a new Preface addressing the tumultuous events in Eastern Europe, Reconstructing the Common Good develops and sustains a forceful argument for the continuing relevance of a decentralized, pluralistic, democratic form of socialism.

Introduction to Christian Theology Roger A. Badham, 1998-01-01. This book covers a broad spectrum of current perspectives in theology, including evangelical, liberal, liberationist, feminist, and postmodern approaches. A textbook for introductory theology classes in seminaries and colleges, this wide-ranging collection of essays also represents the best available resource for any reader seeking to explore and understand the diversity of current trends in theology and ethics.

Christianity and Ecological Theology E. M. Conradie, 2006-10-01. There has been a proliferation of publications in the field of Christian ecological theology over the last three decades or so. These include a number of recent edited volumes, each covering a range of topics and consolidating many of the emerging insights in ecological theology. The call for Christian churches to respond to the environmental crisis has been reiterated numerous times in this vast corpus of literature, also in South Africa.

Christian Theologies of Scripture Justin S. Holcomb, 2006-04. All religious traditions that ground themselves in texts must grapple with certain questions concerning the texts' authority. Yet there has been much debate within Christianity concerning the nature of scripture and how it should be understood a debate that has gone on for centuries Christian Theologies of Scripture traces what the theological giants have said about scripture from the early days of Christianity until today It incorporates diverse discussions about the nature of scripture its authority and its interpretation providing a guide to the variety of views about the Bible throughout the Christian tradition Preeminent scholars including Michael S Horton Graham Ward and Pamela Bright offer chapters on major figures in the pre modern reformation and early modern eras from Origen and Aquinas to Luther and Calvin to Barth and Balthasar They illuminate each thinker s understanding of the Christian scriptures and their views on interpreting the Bible The book also includes overview chapters to orient readers to the key questions regarding scripture in each era as well as chapters on scripture and feminism scripture in the African American Christian tradition and scripture and postmodernism This volume will be indispensable reading for students and all those interested in the nature and authority of Christian scripture
