Markovic,2025-01-09 This book studies the historiography of smoking in modern Britain with a focus on the social cultural and emotional aspects of the practice Centring on four specific moments in modern British history the turn of the 20th century the Second World War the 1980s and the mid 2000s An Atmospheric History of Smoking not only traces the history of tobacco use but explores the cultural significance of and attitudes toward smoking Markovic combines oral histories with archival research and artefact analysis in order to evoke the unique social atmospheres surrounding smoking at each of these key periods within British history By analysing factors such as the encouragement of the practice as part of Home Front mood management during the Second World War or the impact of smoking on 1980s workplace relations this book highlights how the role of smoking in public spheres has undergone significant change throughout the 20th century Constructing the 2007 UK ban on smoking in public places as a turning point for the practice in the British cultural imagination Markovic examines how smoking has both been deemed out of place and yet still persists today The Cretaceous Rocks of Britain of Iron Age and Roman coins found in England and Wales with a detailed analysis and discussion Theories of hoarding and deposition and examined national and regional patterns in the landscape settings of coin hoards presented together with an analysis of those hoards whose findspots were surveyed and of those hoards found in archaeological excavations It also includes an unprecedented examination of the containers in which coin hoards were buried and the objects found with them. The patterns of hoarding in Britain from the late 2nd century BC to the 5th century AD are discussed. The volume also provides a survey of Britain in the 3rd century AD as a peak of over 700 hoards are known from the period from AD 253-296. This has been a particular focus of the project which has been a collaborative research venture between the University of Leicester and the British Museum funded by the AHRC. The aim has been to understand the reasons behind the burial and non-recovery of these finds. A comprehensive online database <https://finds.org.uk/database/> underpins the project which also undertook a comprehensive GIS analysis of all the hoards and field surveys of a sample of them. Recording Britain
