Corum, 2008 The first book length biography of the Luftwaffe's top field commander Wolfram von Richthofen a master of the tactical and operational air war one of the key catalysts in the resurrection of the German air force and an ardent and unwavering follower of the Fuhrer The Record United States. Fino, 2017-11-01 How did American fighter pilots respond to the challenges posed by increasing automation Spurred by their commanders during the Korean War to be tigers aggressive and tenacious American fighter pilots charged headlong into packs of fireball spewing enemy MiGs relying on their keen eyesight piloting finesse and steady trigger fingers to achieve victory But by the 1980s American fighter pilots vanquished their foes by focusing on a four inch square cockpit display manipulating electromagnetic waves and launching rocket propelled guided missiles from miles away In this new era of automated long range air combat can fighter pilots still be considered tigers Aimed at scholars of technology and airpower aficionados alike Steven A Fino's Tiger Check offers a detailed study of air to air combat focusing on three of the US Air Force's most famed aircraft the F 86E Sabre the F 4C Phantom II and the F 15A Eagle Fino argues that increasing fire control automation altered what fighter pilots actually did during air to air combat Drawing on an array of sources as well as his own decade of experience as an F 15C fighter pilot Fino unpacks not just the technological black box of fighter fire control equipment but also fighter pilots attitudes toward their profession and their evolving aircraft He describes how pilots grappled with the new technologies acutely aware that the very systems that promised to simplify their jobs while increasing their lethality in the air also threatened to rob them of the quintessential albeit mythic fighter pilot experience Finally Fino explains that these new systems often required new unique skills that took time for the pilots to identify and then develop Eschewing the typical great machine or great pilot perspectives that dominate aviation historiography Tiger Check provides a richer perspective on humans and machines working and evolving together in the air The book illuminates the complex interactions between human and machine that accompany advancing automation in the workplace Military Review, 1994

Altered Memories of the Great War Mark David Sheftall, 2010-01-30 The experiences of World War I touched the lives of a generation but memories of this momentous experience vary enormously throughout the world In Britain there was a strong reaction against militarism but in the Dominion powers of Canada Australia and New Zealand the response was very different For these former colonial powers the experience of war was largely accepted as a national rite of passage and their pride and respect for their soldiers sacrifices found its focus in a powerful nationalist drive How did a single supposedly shared experience provoke such contrasting reactions What does it reveal about earlier pre-existing ideas of national identity And how did the memory of war influence later ideas of self-determination and nationhood Altered Memories of the Great War is the first book to compare the distinctive collective narratives that emerged within Britain and the Dominions in response to World War I It powerfully illuminates the differences as well as the similarities between different memories of war and offers fascinating insights into what this reveals about developing concepts of national identity in the aftermath of World War I

No Empty Chairs Ian Mackersey, 2012-05-10 The 1914-18 conflict narrated through the voices of the men whose combat was in the air This moving book uses letters and diaries to evoke the terrible cost of such warfare Sleepless nights separated lovers and grieving parents are recalled with painful immediacy in this meticulously researched tribute to those who died or were lucky enough to survive DAILY MAIL The empty chairs belonged all too briefly to the doomed young First World War airmen who failed to return from the terrifying daily aerial combats above the trenches of the Western Front The edict of their commander in chief
