Red Lodge And The Mythic West Coal Miners To Cowboys Hardcover:

Red Lodge and the Mythic West Bonnie Christensen, 2002 Tracing the story of Red Lodge from the 1880s to the present Christensen tells how a mining town managed to endure the vagaries of the West's unpredictable extractive industries economy She connects Red Lodge to a myriad of larger events and historical forces to show how national and regional influences have contributed to the development of local identities exploring how and why westerners first rejected and then embraced western images and how ethnicity wilderness and historic preservation became part of the identity that defined one town BOOK JACKET Nebraska History Addison Erwin Sheldon, James Lee Sellers, James C. Olson, 2019

Regionalism and the Humanities Timothy R. Mahoney, Wendy Jean Katz, 2008 Although the framework of regionalist studies may seem to be crumbling under the weight of increasing globalization this collection of seventeen essays makes clear that cultivating regionalism lies at the center of the humanist endeavor With interdisciplinary contributions from poets and fiction writers literary historians musicologists and historians of architecture agriculture and women this volume implements some of the most innovative and intriguing approaches to the history and value of regionalism as a category for investigation in the humanities In the volume's inaugural essay Annie Proulx discusses landscapes in American fiction comments on how she constructs characters and interprets current literary trends Edward Watts offers a theory of region that argues for comparisons of the United States to other former colonies of Great Britain including New Zealand Australia and Canada Whether considering a writer's connection to region or the idea of place in exploring what is meant by regionalism these essays uncover an enduring and evolving concept Although the approaches and disciplines vary all are framed within the fundamental premise of the humanities the search to understand what it means to be human

Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2002 Red Lodge Shirley Zupan, Harry J. Owens, 2000 Miners and Cowboys Ted Cogut, Bill Conger, 2004-01-01 This book is a collection of stories dating from the time of the Apache wars up to the present The authors write about Greenlee County Arizona and the surrounding Southwest a place steeped in history where the romanticized stories of a Wild Old West were very real Whether a history buff or not the reader will find this book of 204 pages and 118 photos or drawings 6x9 perfect bound is a great read Price 24.95 add 4.50 for shipping No shipping charge for 10 or more books The Red Lodge Ernest Thompson Seton, 19?? Redskin and Cow-Boy: A Tale of the Western Plains George Alfred Henty, 2020-09-28 Cedar Gulch was in 1851 a flourishing camp There had been some good finds by the first prospectors and a rush had of course followed In many cases first discoveries proved illusive but it was not so at Cedar Gulch The ground turned out well and although no extraordinary finds were made the average was good all over the bottom and there were few who were not doing fairly well The scene was a busy one Several hundreds of men were hard at work on the flat which in winter was the bed of a wide stream but which in summer was a mere thread of water among the rocks scarce enough for washing purposes Everywhere were piles of stones and rubbish that had been brought up from the shafts men toiled at windlasses others emptied the buckets as they came up into swinging troughs or cradles others again kept these supplied with water and swung or rocked them taking off the large stones that the motion brought to the surface while the slush and mud ran out at the lower end New comers moved about watching the work with eager eyes wishing that they had had the luck to get there among the early arrivals and to take up a claim for every foot of ground far down the valley had already been occupied and there was now no getting into a claim except by purchasing a share or altogether buying out the present holders One of the claims that was doing best was held by three men who had worked in partnership for the last two years and who had been among the first to arrive at Cedar Gulch They were known among the others as English Bill Sim Howlett and Limping Frank Sim Howlett was perhaps the leader of the party He had been one of the earliest gold diggers and was a square powerfully built man He was a man of few words but the words when spoken were forcible He was by no means quarrelsome but was one whom few cared to quarrel with even in a place where serious quarrels were of constant occurrence and where revolvers cracked so often that the sound of a fray excited but little attention English Bill was a tall wiry man hot of temper but a general favourite Generous with his money always ready to lend a helping hand to anyone who was down on his luck he also was a capital worker and had in spite of his rough clothes and the use of language as rough as that of his companions a certain air which told that like many others in the diggings he was a gentleman by birth Why these two men should have taken up with Limping Frank as a comrade was a matter of surprise to those who knew them They were both men in the prime of life while he was at least ten years their senior His hair was already white his face was that of a student rather than a miner with a gentle and almost womanly expression His frame was slight and looked altogether incapable of hard work and he walked with a distinct limp the result of a bullet wound in the hip And yet there were men in the gulch who having known the trio at other diggings declared that they would rather quarrel either with English Bill or Sim Howlett than with Limping Frank and as some of them were desperate fellows and noted pistol shots their report was quite sufficient to secure respect for a man who otherwise would have been regarded with pity or contempt Very little of the hard work of the partnership fell upon Frank He cooked looked after the shanty did what washing and mending to the clothes was necessary and occasionally came down and assisted to work the cradle and sort the stuff They generally addressed him as doctor Not that he made any profession of medical knowledge but he was always ready to give his services in case of sickness and many a miner had he pulled through fevers which had it not been for his nursing and care would have proved fatal I can t make out what yer mean by saying I had best not quarrel with that little old atomy you call Limping Frank a big powerful fellow who had recently arrived at the camp said to one who had been talking over with him the characteristics of several of the miners I ain t very pertiklar who I quarrels with but what on arth there can be in that little chap to make one keep clear of him beats me Can he shoot You bet the other replied He could put a bullet plumb between your eyes ten times following the length of the long saloon up there There ain t no better shot nor quicker anywhere on the slopes Redskin and
