Food on Film Tom Hertweck, 2014-10-30 From early cinematic depictions of food as a symbol of ethnic and cultural identity to more complex contemporary portrayals movies have demonstrated how our ideas about food are always changing On the big and small screens representations of addiction starvation and even food as fetish reinforce how important food is in our lives and in our culture In Food on Film Bringing Something New to the Table Tom Hertweck brings together innovative viewpoints about a popular yet understudied subject in cinema This collection explores the pervasiveness of food in film from movies in which meals play a starring role to those that feature food and eating in supporting or cameo appearances The volume asks provocative questions about food and its relationship with work urban life sexual orientation the family race morality and a wide range of appetites The fourteen essays by international interdisciplinary scholars offer a wide range of perspectives on such films and television shows as The Color Purple Do the Right Thing Ratatouille The Road Sex and the City Twin Peaks and even Jaws From first course to last Food on Film will be of interest to scholars of film and television sociology anthropology and cultural history Reel Food Michael Ludera, 2021-08-29 Approached by a waitress after Ryan finishes Reiner deadpans I ll have what she s having The line was ranked 33rd on the American Film Institute s list of the Top 100 movie quotations just behind Casablanca s Round up the usual suspects The fake orgasm scene that follows the heated debate between Meg Ryan s and Billy Crystal s movie characters ends with the historical and funny line I ll have what she s having from another diner customer evoking the interest and curiosity in the audience to also have a taste from that Pastrami Sandwich which Meg Ryan was eating before giving her friend a lecture Culinary Cinema Deborah R. Geis, 2024-12-15 In this book Deborah Geis offers a new approach to the evolving genre of culinary films that center on the acts of eating and cooking through close analyses of ten different films These films range from the classics like Big Night 1996 and Babette s Feast 1987 to later box office hits like Chef 2014 and to films that deserve a second look like East Side Sushi 2014 Burnt 2015 and Mid August Lunch 2008 Throughout these analyses the book focuses on tropes including the big dinner as it connects to intercultural and transcultural communities the self destructive perfectionism of the obsessive chef and the craft of cooking in relation to aging and mortality Geis invites readers and viewers to experience food driven narrative films with an appetite for appreciating the visual ingredients and the ways in which they construct pleasure through the act of looking as a vicarious approach to consuming the actual food Drawing on the work of film theorist Christian Metz Geis ultimately poses a new paradigm for watching and understanding culinary cinema as a significant and constantly evolving genre that comes with its own conventions and contemporary filmmakers who seek to expand and transform those conventions in surprising ways Communicating in Canada's Past Gene Allen, Daniel Robinson, 2009-11-14 Communicating in Canada s Past evolved out of essays presented at the inaugural Conference on Media

History in Canada of 2006 which brought together media historians from across the disciplines and from both French and English Canada The first collection of its kind this volume assembles both well established and up and coming scholars to address sizable gaps in the literature on media history in Canada Communicating in Canada s Past includes a substantial introduction to media history as a field of study historiographical essays by senior scholars Mary Vipond Paul Rutherford and Fernande Roy and original research essays on a range of subjects including print journalism radio television and advertising Editors Gene Allen and Daniel J Robinson have provided a sophisticated wide ranging introduction for those who are new to media history while also assembling a valuable collection of new research and theory for those already familiar with the field

(In)digestion in Literature and Film Serena J. Rivera, Niki Kiviat, 2020-04-21 In digestion in Literature and Film A Transcultural Approach is a collection of essays spanning diverse geographic areas such as Brazil Eastern Europe France Ireland Italy Japan Mexico South Korea Taiwan and the United States Despite this geographic variance they all question disordered eating practices represented in literary and filmic works The collection ultimately redefines disorder removing the pathology and stigma assigned to acts of non normative eating In so doing the essays deem taboo practices of food consumption rejection and avoidance as expressions of resistance and defiance in the face of restrictive sociocultural political and economic normativities As a result disorder no longer equates to out of order implying a sense of brokenness but is instead envisioned as an act against the dominant of order of operations The collection therefore shifts critical focus from the eater as the embodiment of disorder to the problematic norms that defines behaviors as such

Marrying Out Keren R. McGinity, 2014-09-01 Captures the telling details and the idiosyncratic trajectory of interfaith relationships and marriages in America The Forward When American Jewish men intermarry goes the common assumption they and their families are lost to the Jewish religion In this provocative book Keren R McGinity shows that it is not necessarily so She looks at intermarriage and parenthood through the eyes of a post World War II cohort of Jewish men and discovers what intermarriage has meant to them and their families She finds that these husbands strive to bring up their children as Jewish without losing their heritage Marrying Out argues that the gendered ethnicity of intermarried Jewish men growing out of their religious and cultural background enables them to raise Jewish children McGinity s book is a major breakthrough in understanding Jewish men s experiences as husbands and fathers how Christian women navigate their roles and identities while married to them and what needs to change for American Jewry to flourish Marrying Out is a must read for Jewish men and all the women who love them An important analysis of this thorny issue filled with vivid vignettes about intermarried couples Jewish Book World Gastronomy, Tourism and the Media Warwick Frost, Jennifer Laing, Gary Best, Kim Williams, Paul C. Strickland, Clare Lade, 2016-07-27 This book examines and analyses the connections between gastronomy tourism and the media It argues that in the modern world gastronomy is increasingly a major component and driver of tourism and that destinations are using their cuisines and food cultures in marketing to increase their competitive advantage It proposes that these processes are interconnected with film television print and social media The book emphasises the notion of gastronomy as a dynamic concept in particular how it has recently become more widely used and understood throughout the world The volume introduces core concepts and delves more deeply into current trends in gastronomy the forces which shape them and their implications for tourism The book is multidisciplinary and will appeal to researchers in the fields of gastronomy hospitality tourism and media studies
